PORTLAND MARKET REJPORT

Portland, Or., Dec. 30.—Sales of hops are again showing an increase. Quite a number of transactions were reported today at Willamette Valley points at the prices quoted of late.. Most of the goods moved were of the cheaper quality with low prices in effect. It is stated that Messrs. Isaac Pincus & Sons of Tacoma are covering on this movement. Growers are still inclined to let go of supplies whenever approached by a buyer so despite the liberal demand the market is far from showing a steady tone.

Potatoes and Onions Firm.

Potato market is firm locally but trade is not inclined to ask over 1c a pound in a jobbing way along Front street. Some off-grade stock is going at less than this. There is some business still offering from Southern California and Arizona at prices that will net the grower here above 75@80c per 100 pounds.

Onions are weak today. The market is full of frozen stock and until this is worked off there will be little demand and but poor prices are likely until this surplus of poor quality is out of the way. The action of the Confederated Onion Growers' association in putting its business in one or two hands does not meet with favor from the trade in general although most interests agree that the plan may prove successful. It is understood, however, that some of the members of the association will market their own product in the way they deem best instead of allowing others to handle it. In any event the onion situation is firmer and most of the credit for this condition belongs to the work of the association. There are but scant supplies of first-class onions remaining and for these the trade expects to secure sufficient money to pay a profit on the entire crop, most of which was damaged from frost.

Eggs Are Higher.

The egg market is breaking. There was a drop of 2c a dozen today. Best eggs are moving at 38c a dozen although some dealers are asking as high as 40c. This, however, they are not able to receive, except in a limited way. The bulk of the supplies cannot be moved unless the price is cut and with milder weather the wise ones along Front street are preparing to get from under and put the market at whatever figure their daily arrivals can be sold at with the least possible delay.

This is the time of year when egg values usually show at a break and it is annually the occasion when the quotations drop faster than they can be reported.

With big supplies of eastern eggs still available here the holders thereof are driving them out of storage as fast as possible and unless stocks move faster a cut in prices is likely.

Buyers All After Chickens.

There were liberal receipts of poultry yesterday, but the demand was strong enough to clean up all the offerings. Buyers were especially keen after chickens and ducks. Hens sold higher at 12 1-2 cents and ducks brought as high as 18 cents. Geese did not move so well.

Eggs were weak and dragging with most of the business done under 40 cents.

There was an active market for creamery butter, which cleaned up well at firm prices. Cheese was quiet.

Portland Livestock Market.

Portland Union Stockyards, Dec. 29.—The livestock market is quiet, but when anything showing select quality arrives there is always a number of buyers to pick it up without delay. Today a bunch of southern steers came in and sold at $4.75 or 25c above all previous quotations. This price is exceptional and is due entirely to the lack of first class stock. Ordinary steers, commonly called top stuff on the market, will not sell beyond $4.50, but the market is good at that figure. The market at this time is entirely a question of quality and the best stuff brings a much better price in proportion than ordinary grade.

Sheep market is rather quiet and the same is true as regards hogs for no arrivals were shown in either line during the past 48 hours.

The following is the general range of values on stock running in the yards for late shipment.
