ALICE'S HUSBAND SPEAKS ON TARIFF

Washington, March 27.—The house went it alone again today, the tariff coming up for further consideration. It is probable that some action will be taken to lengthen the sessions, beginning next week, on account of a great number of speakers who will appear.

In order to expedite the passage of the tariff bill in the house, unanimous consent was given today for sessions hereafter to begin at 10 o'clock, instead of 11 o'clock. Recess will be taken at 6 o'clock, and resuming at 8 o'clock the sessions will continue until 10:30 p. m. each day.

Congressman Longworth today declared the Payne bill a practical fulfillment of the pledge of the republican party. He said the bill could not be claimed to be perfect, but "we do claim that it represents a bona fide revision of the tariff from top to bottom."

Longworth defended the expenditures of the government and said he believed the time is at hand when the government must spend more money for improvement of inland waterways. He said coal and iron should be put on the free list and the lumber tariff cut in half, in order to conform with the proposed conservation of natural resources.

Discussing the tariff bill Representative Harrison declared that under republican management the nation was fast approaching bankruptcy. He said the Payne bill is a heavy tax on women, and in fact they seem to be singled out for attack. He said the bill presented a more serious aspect, because the duties fall more heavily upon the poor than the rich, and that the lowering of tariff rates is to be used as a pretext for the lowering of wages.

For Free Hides Gardner, of Massachusetts, spoke on the duty on hides, and said hides were on the free list as the bill passed the house, but that a duty of 15 per cent was fixed at the conference. "Whether this duty was imposed at the instigation of the great Chicago packers I don't know," he said, and then went on to say that the duty on hides does not encourage the breeding of a single additional animal, and does not furnish a market for a single American hide. He said the makers of cheap shoes must be protected or go to the wall.

Mr. Longworth declared the Republicans don't claim that the Payne bill is in all respects perfect. "No one of us believes that there is anything in it which ought to be in it and nothing in it which ought not to be," he said. "We do claim for it, however, that it represents a bona fide revision of the tariff from top to bottom."

The republican party always has favored and always will favor the policy of protection, but we don't favor rates so high as to shelter monopolies and which amount in effect to prohibition. Mr. Longworth defended the expenditures of the government and said that he believed that the time is at hand when the government must spend more for the improvement of inland waterways. He said coal and iron have need to be placed on the free list and the lumber tariff cut in half in order to conform with the proposed conservation of the natural resources.

BARN BURNS AT SPRINGFIELD

The fire alarm sounded Wednesday night about 10:30 o'clock, scaring the entire population almost into insensibility, but it was soon learned that the danger was confined only to a burning barn that was so far removed from other property that there was no possibility of the flames spreading. The fire was discovered about 10:30, and indications point strongly toward parties who live not far from that neighborhood, as it is known to have been of incendiary origin. It seems that the barn was set a few feet over the property line, and the owner, Mr. Pettyjohn, found a note the other day saying that if the barn was not moved soon he would be saved the trouble of moving it. It was completely destroyed, but the loss will not exceed $200.—Springfield News.

WHEEZER OR SNEEZER?

Have You Heard of Hyomel for Croup, Asthma or Hay Fever.

If you wheeze or sneeze, hawk or spit, snuffle or blow, something is the matter with the membrane of your respiratory tract, and you need Hyomel.

And you need Hyomel because it will cure you of any catarrhal or inflammatory condition that exists. It isn't a stomach medicine or spray or douche, but a very pleasant healing, antiseptic balsam, from the eucalyptus forests of Australia. You breathe this balsamic air through a small, hard rubber inhaler, and it reaches every nook, corner and crevice of the membrane, and promptly kills the catarrh germs.

The use of Hyomel cured Mr. Cutler of catarrh in 1904. He has strongly endorsed the use of Hyomel in many instances, and we are glad to go on record regarding this marvelous catarrh cure, and endorsing its use.—Mrs. A. Cutler, 201 Post aven., Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 12, 1908.

FACULTY PASSES A DRASTIC RULE AGAINST VOTING

The University of Oregon faculty has passed a drastic rule against students voting in the city election. It follows: Resolved, that it is the sense of the faculty that any student of the University of Oregon who votes in Eugene on local issues, in violation of the plain meaning of a provision in the constitution of the state, merits expulsion from the University.

HELEN G. EMERY MARRIED TO SUBJECT OF MIKADO

Seattle, March 27.—Gunjiro Aoki was granted a license to wed Helen Gladys Emery in this city this morning. The party disappeared, and are supposed to be at some minister's house for the ceremony. The Emery family registered at one of the leading hotels.

The license was secured by Archdeacon Emery, father of Miss Helen. A local Japanese accompanied him as a witness. While the license was being obtained all parties interested separated, going in different directions in cabs to elude the reporters and the curious crowd, which was constantly increasing in size. The entire Japanese colony of Seattle, numbering seven or eight thousand people, are keenly alive to the situation, and the public is generally good-naturedly interested.

The ceremony was performed at 11:45 a. m. by Rev. H. H. Gower, rector of the Trinity parish Episcopal church, in the presence of the parents of the bride and J. W. Sunada, proprietor of the Great Northern Hotel.

CONGRESSMAN M'CALL SAYS PHILIPPINES SHOULD BE FREE

Washington, March 29.—Representative McCall, of Massachusetts, believes that the Philippine islands should have their independence, and should be as neutral territory, so as not to become a theatre for wars among foreign powers. Accordingly he has introduced a resolution requesting the president to open negotiations with the various nations of the globe, looking to an agreement on the neutralization of the islands and the recognition of their independence whenever it is granted by the United States.

Hamer on the Tariff

Devoting his remarks largely to a discussion of the lead and wool schedules, Representative Hamer, of Idaho, in the house, discussed the tariff from a western standpoint today. He declared the proposed provision to permit the entry from the Philippines, free of duty, of 300,000 tons of sugar, established a bad precedent, and declared that the proposed tariff reform may mean free lumber, which, he said, would be a concession to a cult of so-called political philosophers, but would not mean a dollar reduction to the consumer. In advocacy of continued protection for lead, Mr. Hamer said: "The most formidable competitor we have in the production of lead, because of accessibility, including cheapness of transportation to our markets, the abundance and low cost of labor, and the unusually large value of silver contents in the ore is Mexico. I do not think it exaggeration to say that Mexico has within her borders the richest lead mines now operating in the world. At the present time the lead mines of that country, owned and controlled by a single American corporation, are producing 3000 tons of ore a month per annum in excess of our own."

That the cost of production in the West is steadily increasing each year and that it would seem absurd to contend that lead mining can be profitable prosecuted in this country without the aid of a protective tariff was contended by Mr. Hamer.

OREGON DEFEATED BY UTAH IN JOINT DEBATE

The collegiate debate between the University of Utah and the University of Oregon was won by the former at Salt Lake City last night on points. The question debated was, "Resolved, That a Municipal Government by Commission is Preferable to the Prevailing Form of American City Government." The judges, ex-Governor Wells, Superintendent D. H. Christman of the city schools and George P. Holman, decided the contest by a vote of two to one. The Oregon debaters were Earl Kilpatrick and Thomas Townsend, Richard W. Young, Jr., and E. H. Burgess, of Utah, represented the negative.

The Pendleton banks are so full of money that no one wants to borrow, the farmers are riding in automobiles—and the banks may be forced out of business because nobody will pay them interest, says an exchange. Pendleton, by the way, is a supposed dry town.

POTATOES IN ATHLETICS

Jack Hickson Wins a Bushel by Being Fastest Canvas Digger

Burbank and Early Rose potatoes held the eyes of the University athletic world in the indoor meet at the Armory last night. The Potato Marathon put the lowly spud on a higher plane than it had ever heretofore attained in the state of Oregon.

Jack Hickson succeeded in capturing the bushel or more of Irish potatoes that were scattered over the floor, by beating eight or nine other competitors in digging them out of the canvas and running 365 yards as he dug.

The other events were: 50 yard dash finals—Bristow, '10; McEwen, '09. Time—5 3-5 seconds. Shot put—Kellogg, '12; Means, '12; McIntyre, '09. Distance, 41 feet 6 1-2 inches. Broad jump—Bristow, '10; Hawkins, '12. Distance—19 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault—Williams, '10; Watson, '12. Height 9 feet 8 inches. High jump—Newman, '12; Johnson, '11; Hawkins. Height 5 feet 9 inches. Potato Marathon—Hickson, '12. Wrestling—125 pound class, Morgan, '12.

JEM MACE, FAMOUS PUGILIST, IS EIGHTY

London, March 27.—Jem Mace, the famous old-time pugilist, kept open house today for the scores of friends and admirers who called to congratulate him upon the beginning of his eightieth year. The former champion is hale and hearty and even now he occasionally puts on the gloves for a friendly set.

Mace was born March 27, 1839, and first attained wide fame in 1861, when he defeated Sam Hurst in a fight for the championship and a $2000 purse. It took only eight rounds for Mace to put away the powerful Hurst, who but a few months previously had won the championship title from Tom Padlock. Mace's next fight was November 26, 1862, when he lost the title to Tom King in 21 rounds. Mace fought Joe Goss three times. He was victorious in two of the bouts and the third was a draw. Mace visited America early in 1870 and in May of that year defeated Tom Allen at New Orleans in a fight for the championship of America. He was to have fought Joe Coburn for the championship, but the authorities interfered and prevented the bout. After meeting several pugilists of minor reputation Mace returned to England and a few years later retired from the ring with a sufficiency of this world's goods to keep him in comfort for the rest of his life.

KETCHEL DEFEATS O'BRIEN

Furious Go in New York Results in Clear Decision

New York, March 26.—Not since the repeal of the Horton law, which stopped the big fistie bouts in this city, has such a fast and furious contest been seen here in the squared circle as that tonight in which Stanley Ketchel, the middleweight champion, defeated Jack O'Brien, of Philadelphia, at the National Athletic club. Many thought O'Brien would do some stalling in this fight, but it was a hot bout from start to finish.

In the final round O'Brien was knocked down three times, and the last time it was virtually a clean knockout, for the timely clang of the gong found the Philadelphia man in a hopeless state. It was Ketchel's fight the greater part of the contest, and O'Brien has no excuse to make over the outcome.

Baseball Rule Changes.

A substituted pitcher must pitch until the man at bat, when the pitcher takes his position, has either been put out or reaches first base. In case of interference with a fielder or batsman, the ball is not in play until the pitcher, standing in his position holds it, and the umpire calls "play." A batted ball that touches the person of the umpire or a player "while on or over fair ground" is a fair hit; and a batted ball that touches the person of the umpire or a player "while on or over foul ground" is a foul hit. Any ground rule must be acceptable to the captain of the visiting team; and if objectionable to said visiting captain the umpire has the power to adopt or reject said ground rule or rules.

Cottage Grove's Prospects.

The Cottage Grove baseball aggregation, the Nesmith Boomers, are getting into harness, and take much interest in their work and the prospects for a successful campaign. An effort is being made by Manager Knapp to get up a league in the county and vicinity to play a series of games. This will keep up the interest at fever heat during the summer, and we may expect to witness some mighty classy games.—Western Oregon. Mrs. Hward Woods and daughter went to Cottage Grove this afternoon on a short visit.
