Unless It's a GOOD Store It Will NOT Pay To Advertise It!

Unless you know a person—unless that person comes into your life in some way—you are not greatly concerned about whether he is good or bad, desirable or objectionable.

It's so with a store. The people who never visit it care nothing about it one way or the other. It doesn't exist—for them. But when they are persuaded to patronize it—when they come to turn the spotlight of their attention on it—when it comes to have a part in their lives, as some stores must have in all lives—then it's different; then it does matter whether it strives to win confidence; if it does matter whether or not its price concessions are genuine, dependable.

If it meets all tests that a good store must stand when it is advertised—when it thus invites the critical attention of the people—then advertising will "make" the store. If it fails in most of the vital things—if it proves, under the light of publicity not to be much of a store, THEN ADVERTISING WILL NOT PAY. For it will emphasize the shortcomings as well as the merits.

For these same reasons it is generally assumed that the store which does not advertise is seeking to avoid close inspection and comparison, and that the store which does is courting them.

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.
Portland, Ore., June 3.—Approximately 600,000 pounds of Valley wool has to date passed out of the hands of growers, and local dealers say that about the same amount remains unsold. Shearing is practically finished, and with the buyers operating freely, so far as the first grades are concerned, and the farmers generally disposed to sell, the chances are that the bulk of the valley clip will be out of growers' hands within the next week or ten days.

The prices thus far paid for Valley wool range from 22 to 25 cents a pound, which as compared with 14 to 16 cents at this time last year, is very good showing for the farmers. At 25 cents the market for fine Valley products is firm, and a dealer today expressed the belief that 25 cents might be paid for fancy wool. The valley mills are now buying freely for their season's supply, but they are doing little or nothing with coarse wools. The coarse grades have heretofore sold fairly well, being used for the most part in the and heavy clothing, but this year there has been less demand than usual for these.

In Eastern Oregon wool has to date been more active than for years past and prices on the whole have risen from 5 to 7 cents a pound higher than in 1908. As a result of the general willingness of the growers to sell it is estimated that little more than one-tenth of the clip now remains unsold. Eastern Oregon wool has thus far sold at a range of 16 to 22 cents, but there have been a few sales of choice products at a fraction better than the last-named figure.

Hops Are Strong.
The strength of the hop market is not confined on the coming crop. The trade has suddenly shown a desire to get possession of 1908 and 1907 hops. Last year's growth in particular is sought after, and offers of 8 cents, and one small lot of 25 cents has been sold by local dealers at 10 cents. Only about 1400 bales of Oregon 1908s remain in growers' hands, and a few bales are held by dealers.

There have been no recent transactions in olds on which to base values accurately, but it is believed 5 cents would be paid for good 1907 hops.

For the new crop, 12 cents would be paid, where delivery could be guaranteed, but there is an absence of sellers at this figure.

Telegrams congratulating the Oregon delegation at Washington on securing an advance in the hop schedule of the Aldrich bill have been sent by a number of Salem and Portland hop men. The tariff question has not been settled yet, however, and even if the bill, as amended, becomes a law, it is a question in the minds of some authorities whether a 20-cent duty will help the American grower. Should the increase keep out any considerable quantity of German hops, they are likely to find a market in England, which is the outlet for the American surplus, and thus displace a like quantity of our hops.

Hop conditions in New York state are reported by the Waterville Times as follows:

"Several of our growers have decided to sell their crop early, and the day in the hop yards hereabouts the cold weather has kept the vines back for the past few weeks, but during the past few days they have shown a marked growth, even in the face of the continued cold weather. There was a slight hail storm last evening, but not enough to injure the vines any. Several of our growers have finished the first tying and expect in a day or so to go over them again. Aside from the unevenness in many of the yards, the prospects are for a fair yield this coming year.

Springs Coming Too Freely.
Poultry dealers report spring chickens coming a little too freely for the demand and the market as a result is a trifle weak. No changes in prices were made today, but there may be a cut before the end of the week. In other lines the market was about steady at the last range.

The egg market is a slow affair, and but for the fact that receipts are steadily falling off prices would work down over 20 buyers quoted 23 to 23 1-2 cents today.

In country dressed meats pork is the stronger feature, the supply, as for weeks, being short of the demand. Fancy veal moves at prices around 8 cents, but coarse and thin stuff dlags at lower prices.

Strawberries Are Selling Lower.
Strawberry market is softer with rather poor quality of fruit received during the past 24 hours. Receipts from California were the poorest of the season and for that reason some sales were made down as low as 50c a crate, although some of the best that came—and these were none too good—brought as high as $1.50 a crate in a few isolated instances.

Local berries were in bad shape because of the rains but some better fruit is expected this afternoon and tomorrow. Receipts from local points were much more liberal and sales of best stock were generally around $3.50 a crate although some soft goods sold down to $2.50 and $3.00. Fancy Mosler stock was quoted as high as $4.00 a crate.

Butter Weak; Liable to Drop.
In all probability there will be a drop in the price of butter either this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Weakness is growing in the local market for the larger supply of cream and milk and production of butter is vastly increased. There has been a disposition among some of the outside handlers to shade quotations a fraction or two during recent days but even this was not much of a help toward cleaning up supplies. It begins to look at this time as if the price of creamery butter here will reach the low point of the year within a short time.

Eggs Are Rather Weak.
General bad quality is shown among late arrivals of eggs in the Front street market. Receipts have been somewhat more liberal and quality has been generally poor. Even with very careful candling it has been found that the eggs do not stand up as they should and therefore there is an unusual amount of complaint from retailers and consumers. The price generally stands at 25c and 23c, the latter for single cases.

Portland Livestock Market.
Portland Union Stockyards, June 1.—The new month opens with a decline in cattle and sheep prices and a somewhat softer tone than formerly for the cheaper qualities.

Best grades of steers are no longer able to move at $5.25 and the extreme top value today is $5.15 with $5 the probable figure for arrivals during the near future. This would put the price of best cows at $4.

There was quite a fair run of California grass steers in the yards during the past 24 hours, but arrivals from that source are not showing the quality expected. Neither is the local run.

Showing in sheep in the yards today, while small, failed to meet with any spirited buying by killers and the result is that best wethers cannot be moved today above $4 and the price is believed to be a quarter above what may be expected for arrivals in the near future.

Hogs were firm during the day, with arrivals of but 63 head. These were not top quality, but moved at $7.75, brought an excellent good price.

Following is the general range of live stock values in the yards:

Hogs—Best east of mountains, $8.00; good, $7.75; fancy Willamette blockers, $7.50 @ 7.75; stockers $6.75 @ 7.00.

Cattle—Best steers, weighing 1,200 pounds, $5.00 @ 5.10; medium steers, $5.00; poor steers, $4.75; best cows, $4.00 @ 4.15; poor cows, $3.85; bulls, $2.50 @ 3.00.

Sheep (sheared)—Best wethers, $4.15; spring lambs, $5.00; straight ewes, $3.50 @ 4.00; mixed lots, $4.00.

PORTLAND MARKET QUOTATIONS
Front street sells at the following prices. Those paid shippers are less regular commissions:

BOHRNSTEDT PARTY
ARRIVED LAST NIGHT,
WENT TO CRESWELL
(From Monday's Daily Guard)
The excursion of Minnesota people conducted by the C. Bohrnstedt Co. of Creswell, arrived here last night in a special Pullman car. The party consists of twenty persons, all well-to-do representative citizens. They were driven about the city in carriages this morning, taking in all the principal places of interest, including the University, Hendricks' park, where a splendid view of the city is afforded, and the Commercial club, where the Klier pictures are on exhibition. All of the members of the party seemed delighted with the city and as much of the surrounding country as they have seen. They left for Creswell on the 2:18 train this afternoon and after looking over that part of the county will leave for Seattle to take in the exposition.

DENVER ROBBERS
MAKE GOOD HAIL
Denver, June 1.—Four masked highwaymen last night held up and robbed a party of thirty merry-makers at the Tavern, a resort at Petersburg. They got $200 cash and $3,000 in diamonds and escaped. A posse is in pursuit.

COAST ELECTRIC
LINE IS ASSURED
Astoria, Or., May 31.—The United Public Service company of Philadelphia today paid the treasurer of the city of Astoria, through the Scandinavian-American bank, $1,000, the amount provided in the ordinance granting a franchise to the Oregon Seacoast railway company, as a deposit and guarantee of good faith in constructing an electric railroad between Astoria, Seaside and Tillamook.

Under the conditions of the franchise work must be commenced on or before August 7, 1909, and the line completed from the corner of Twelfth and Duane streets, Astoria around Smith's point to a connection with the north approach of the Young's bay bridge, and completed to Seaside within two years from March 7, 1909.

The United Public Service company is a subsidiary company of the F. W. Clark & Co. of the Portland Electric Light & Power company. Under the terms of and Seaside will be 25 cents.

PLEASANT HILL ITEMS.
(Special Correspondence)
Pleasant Hill, June 1.—The rain but fallen will save the winter grain and one more such in two or three weeks, will finish the spring grain in good shape. Farmers are smiling at the improved prospects.
