

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

C. Arnel, one of the old residents of the Mohawk valley, who was in Eugene today, said the wild blackberries are more numerous around Marcola than he has ever seen them before. They grow luxuriantly in the clearings which have been made by the logging operations in that vicinity. He said one day recently over 100 gallons were taken out of the woods near Marcola. Wild blackberries are much better for canning purposes and for pies than the tame varieties and not very hard to gather.

PRESIDENT PLANS WESTERN TRIP FOR NEXT FALL

Philadelphia, July 9.—After reading the newspaper accounts of the passage of the tariff bill by the senate, President Taft expressed his gratification that the bill had gotten through the senate. He also announced some of the tentative plans of his Western trip this fall, and would be glad to meet him at El Paso, Texas, probably October 15.

The president starts on his Western trip on his 52d birthday, September 15, and will head from Beverly to Seattle, stopping at Denver, Salt Lake and Spokane on the way. From Seattle he will go to Portland, thence to San Francisco and Los Angeles, where he will visit his sister, to San Diego, New Mexico and Arizona, then to Texas, where he will spend several days on C. P. Taft's ranch near Corpus Christi, thence through the Southern States, making several stops en route to Washington.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION FULLY ORGANIZED

The directors of the Eugene Building and Loan Association, elected by the stockholders Saturday night, met last evening in the office of Williams & Bean and organized as follows: President, Charles H. Fisher; vice president, W. A. Bell; secretary, F. N. McAlister; treasurer, L. H. Potter; attorney, John M. Williams; finance committee, M. Svarverud, R. Rae and W. A. Bell.

Another meeting will be held Friday evening at which time it will be decided whether to call for the monthly payments this month or defer them until August. There is still several thousand dollars of the stock unsubscribed for, and the directors would like to have the entire $100,000 taken before monthly payments begin, if it is possible to accomplish this. They would like a large available monthly income for loan purposes, and it would be more satisfactory to have all the stockholders begin at the same time than to have them coming in later.

These local building and loan associations have proven very successful in hundreds of cities and towns, and especially appeal to wage earners and salaried employees. Those desiring information concerning them with a view of becoming members should see any of the directors or any of the stockholders, who will gladly explain their working plan and objects.

SPRAY FARM NEAR COTTAGE GROVE SOLD

The Spray farm just south of Cottage Grove was sold this week to E. C. Lathrop, of Auburn, N. Y., who will move there and make this his future home. The farm is one of the finest in these parts, and at the consideration, which was $11,000, Mr. Lathrop has a good buy. The property contains 135 acres and has good buildings. It will be made into a modern fruit ranch and without doubt visitors to this city can be taken to the property and shown a demonstration of what this country can produce.—Western Oregon.

MARRIED

At the courthouse in Eugene July 14, 1909, Augustus M. Kan and Miss Alice E. Lewis, both of Crow, County Judge G. R. Chrisman officiating.

Dr. Lowe, the well-known optician, is to be in Eugene July 29 and 30. A car of household goods, farming implements, horses and mules arrived here this morning for Arch Dick from Woodward, Okla. Mr. Dick and family are recent arrivals here and will engage in farming near the city.

NORTHWEST WHEAT YIELD IS LARGE

Will Very Nearly Approach Record—Some Crop Estimates

Estimates compiled from data received from more than 350 of the principal wheat stations of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, indicate the 1909 wheat yield for the three states to be approximately 55,000,000 bushels, compared with 46,000,000 bushels last year, 50,000,000 bushels in 1907, and a five year average of 48,500,000.

These figures are, of course, susceptible to some change in case of wet weather damage at harvest, but with cutting already begun south of Snake River, and plenty of moisture to carry the spring wheat along to maturity, there is only a slight chance for much deterioration. Practically all of these reports, which were gathered by special correspondents of the Oregonian, by railroad agents and by representatives of the warehouse and milling interests cover the situation to July 8th.

Rain Worth Millions. The reports are all enthusiastic regarding the great benefits from the recent rains, some of the railroad men estimating the increase in yield directly traceable to the rains, as high as 3,000,000 bushels, while the most conservative credit the last rain with adding more than 1,000,000 bushels to the crop.

Of the three states Idaho has the best crop with Washington showing up exceedingly well, while Oregon, especially in the river counties, suffered from dry weather to such an extent that the damage could not all be repaired by the late rains.

MILITIA COMPANIES LEAVE FOR CAMP ON JULY 24

Orders were received this week by the officers of Companies A and C that the Fourth Regiment will go into camp this year at the Clackamas rifle range. The local companies will leave on the 12:22 local on July 24 for Clackamas, where they will remain over the 30th. Two companies of regulars and a battery will also be there during that week, and will participate in maneuvers together. By a recent order all encampments in the future will be conducted similarly to those of the regulars, and will be inspected by regular army officers. Officers' schools of instruction with both theoretical and practical instructions are provided, as well as lectures by leading army men. The boys always enjoy the yearly encampments and will be glad when the 24th arrives.

Lieutenants W. G. White and W. W. Branstetter, of Company A, Sergeant R. S. Huston, of Company A, and Sergeant Bond, of Company C, will be examined at the armory on Thursday night by Colonel Williams and Major Hammond as to their qualifications for advancement. Lieutenant White having been elected captain, Lieutenant Branstetter first lieutenant, Sergeant Huston second lieutenant and Sergeant Bond second lieutenant.

OBITUARY.

Alfred Miner, a well-known figure in early Oregon history, died at the home of his son, at Acme, on Wednesday, June 7, 1909, aged 76 years one month and ten days. Death was due to general debility caused from old age. Mr. Miner came to Oregon in the ox-team days of 1863, settling first in the Grand Ronde valley and later coming to Salem, Oregon and from there to Lane County, where he has resided continuously throughout the last thirty-five years.

Mr. Miner was a man of sterling principle and while he never amassed a great fortune in the world's goods, still he was rich in strict integrity, temperance and moral fortitude. He was a man whose word was his bond and who did much to promulgate the pioneer honesty of the early settlers in the Willamette valley. He was of the Jacksonian line of political faith and was familiarly known about the courthouse in Eugene in the days of the Campbells and later in Sheriff Withers' time. He leaves one living son, Alfred A. Miner, of Acme, Oregon, and two daughters, Mrs. T. M. Martin, of Eugene, and Mrs. P. A. Wegner, of Camp Creek, Oregon. His wife and two daughters preceded him to the Great Beyond. In his death the Grim Reaper has displaced another landmark of the early Oregon pioneers.

LANE COUNTY MAN HAS ROOSEVELTIAN FAMILY

Dr. J. W. Harris, in his monthly report as county health officer, gives out the information that one man reports his nineteenth child during the month of June. He is only 47 years of age and his wife is 42. Of these 19 children 16 are still living. This would certainly please Teddy Roosevelt.

Dr. Harris reports 47 births during the month, 29 being males and 18 females.

There were 22 deaths during the month, 15 males and 7 females. The causes assigned are as follows: Liver disease, 2; accidents, 3; diabetes, 2; no cause assigned, 1; carcinoma of liver, 2; carcinoma of the stomach, 1; tuberculosis, 5; peritonitis, 1; abscess of the brain, 2; drowning, 1; nephritis, 1; failure in circulation, 1; senile debility, 1.

Two cases of contagious disease were reported during the month, one of them being typhoid fever and the other measles.

At the meeting of the Eugene Loan & Building Association in the Commercial Club rooms Saturday night a permanent organization was effected and a board of directors chosen as follows: M. Svarverud, C. H. Fisher, R. Rae, W. A. Bell, J. M. Williams. An auditing committee was appointed as follows: Free Thomas, C. A. Dalzell, Lou Kester. The directors will meet tonight to elect officers.

MONMOUTH NORMAL AWAITS FUNDS

Summer Term Will End Work of Normal Unless Friends Come to Relief

The Monmouth Normal School will be closed at the conclusion of the present summer term and will not be re-opened until either the people or the legislature provide funds for its maintenance.

This statement was made this morning by President E. D. Ressler, of the school, who is at the Imperial on his way to assume his new position as professor of industrial pedagogy in the Oregon Agricultural College, having about closed up his work at the Monmouth Normal.

About 150 students are enrolled in the summer school to date," said President Ressler, "and the number will go to over 200 with the students who will enter the courses in advanced, and high school methods which will begin July 19 and August 2 respectively.

"The Monmouth alumni held a business meeting at the annual commencement June 10, and a reunion at the state teachers' association in Albany July 1, at which renewed loyalty was pledged to the old school and plans formulated to initiate a measure at the 1910 election placing the Monmouth school on a permanent basis.

"The graduates believe that the people will not consent to the final abandonment of an institution which has produced over 900 graduates in 27 years, besides hundreds of other teachers who have received partial training. Despite the fact that there was no state appropriation during the past two years, 48 teachers were graduated in 1908 and 45 in 1909."

Professor Ressler has been seven years at the head of the Oregon State Normal School, having previously served four years as city superintendent of the Eugene public schools and one year as assistant professor of education in the State University of Oregon. His new position in the Oregon Agricultural College represents the latest development in education, and is one of the few chairs of the kind established in the United States. His duties will consist of editing the bulletins of the college on the various phases of industrial education, such as agriculture, manual training and domestic science, and distributing them to the teachers of the state; preparing teachers of these subjects at the college and giving instruction at the annual and local teachers' institutes.

The demand for teachers is already in excess of the supply, and the interest of school officers and the public generally is rapidly increasing.—Journal.

STEADIER PRUNE MARKET IN THE EAST

Latest estimates of the size of the California prune crop place the output at 110,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds, and Eastern dealers say that with this large crop in view it is doubtful whether packers will shade the premium on the larger sizes. A late report from the East says:

"It is the impression here that the market for future prunes has settled down to a steady basis, and that so far as the larger packers are concerned there will be little shading below the present quotations on October shipments. Santa Clara 40s to 50s inclusive, 1909 crop, offer at 2 3-4 four-size bag basis. In nearly all cases 1-4 to 1-2 cent is asked as a premium on the 30s. Oregon prunes and in fair demand for the new crop 30-40s on a 2 5-8c to 2 3-4c basis. The smaller sizes are not getting any attention at the moment. Oregon prunes, old crop, on the spot are firmly held, but the general movement is slow.

WHO MAKES PRICES IN HAY MARKET?

"We have purchased 700 or 800 tons of hay at $13," said a representative of Warnock's feed store last night. When asked how it happened that a farmer outside was asking $16 for his load of loose hay he explained that the farmer wouldn't be able to sell it at any such price. "Ten or twelve dollars is all hay is really worth," he said.

Who sets the price of hay? Is the question that is bothering some Lane county people. Is it the buyer or the seller? Is it what you can get or what you have to pay that makes the price?

Farmers want high prices this year, not only for hay, but for everything, buyers say. As a result men who buy stand as a unit in demanding low figures for their purchases, that is, compared to what is asked them.

And such a state of prices in the world of hay is the reason that "no definite price" is put for the quotation on loose and baled hay in today's market report.

The Rangs Livery Company is now open for a general feed business at Ninth and Pearl streets. j15

The will of William C. Boren, who died at Cottage Grove July 9, 1909, was admitted to probate today. The value of the property of the estate is $377.71. One dollar is left to a son, Charles Boren, and the remainder, share and share alike, is bequeathed to the other son, William E. Boren, and the daughter, Elva George. The last named is appointed executrix.

J. Duryea has been appointed general sales agent for the A. C. Bohrnstedt Company, which is operating heavily in Creswell fruit lands. He will have his office at the present location on Willamette street and will energetically push the opportunity for persons of small means to become owners of valuable orchard tracts in the course of a few years on the easy payment plan. The company has undoubtedly made a wise selection in placing its Eugene office in charge of a man of Mr. Duryea's ability and standing in the community.
