

CATARRHAL DISEASES OF SUMMER TIME.

Most people think that catarrh does not prevail in the summer time. Catarrh is generally regarded as a winter disease.

It certainly is true that catarrh of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs is more prevalent during the winter time. But it is also true that catarrh of the stomach, bowels and kidneys is more prevalent during the summer time. Thus we have catarrhal diseases of summer, and catarrhal diseases of winter.

It is probably true that the mortality from catarrhal diseases is greater in the winter time than in the summer. But yet there is an alarming number of people who die annually from these catarrhal affections that are peculiar to summer.

Catarrh is a chronic congested inflammation of a mucous membrane. The mucous membrane of the stomach is just as liable to catarrh as the mucous membrane of the throat, the lungs, the bronchial tubes. Catarrh of the stomach is the same kind of a disease as catarrh of the throat and lungs. So, also, is catarrh of the bowels. Catarrh of the kidneys. Catarrh of all the other internal organs.

Catarrhal diseases peculiar to summer are, catarrh of the stomach, sometimes called gastritis; catarrh of the small intestines, sometimes called enteritis; catarrh of the colon, sometimes called colitis. These diseases are very prevalent during the summer, especially if the air be hot and humid.

We regard Peruna as an excellent remedy for these forms of internal catarrh. Dr. Hartman's practice, which covered a period of many years, in which he used chiefly Peruna for all bowel diseases, is confirmatory of this fact, from the standpoint of a professional test.

The multitude of letters that we receive from all parts of the United States, in which the effect of Peruna is described upon catarrhal affections of the internal organs, would make it appear that Peruna is certainly one of the greatest remedies for this class of diseases, if not indeed the very greatest.

In colic and cramp, indigestion, distention, gas, diarrhoea, constipation, etc., Peruna, used as a household remedy, holds up the bowels, and goes on.

ALLEY'S STALLION IS DEAD

Roseburg Horseman Suffers a Heavy Loss

Frank E. Alley's fine registered stallion, "Diawood," died early this morning from "strangulation of the intestines." He had been under treatment by local veterinarians, but without permanent relief. Diawood was one of the finest blooded sires ever brought to this country, and had a race record of 2:11. He was a son of the great Diablo, and Abbie Wood, and a very valuable animal.—Roseburg Review.

F. L. Chambers has received a large turbine water wheel which he will install at Midgley's plant, making it giving the plant about three times as much power as at present.

WHAT FUTURE WILL BRING TO UNITED STATES

Unless the unforeseen occurs the decade upon which the United States is now entering promises to be one of unexampled prosperity. It will in reality be a decade in which the country must learn to think in billions, for if the rate of increase of the ten years past is maintained, as is probable, the statistical totals, most of them, will be found rapidly ascending the billion column. Naturally, when that occurs, the odium of the billion dollar congress will disappear. The fact is the United States is a rapidly growing giant among the nations, and it is still far from having attained the size to which it is destined.

The statistical expert of the Manufacturer's Record has been figuring out what is going to happen within the next ten years of the nation's progress, and the very vastness of the conclusions he reaches makes a startling exhibit of the country's financial and industrial power. He estimates that in 1918 the total wealth of the country will be the enormous sum of $200,000,000,000. In 1890 it was $65,000,000,000, and the estimate for 1918 is based upon the average annual rate of increase from 1890 to 1908. Of course, the human mind can grasp this huge total only the vaguest way. To the ordinary man it means superlative vastness; it is an exclamation, not a clearly defined idea.

The population for 1918 is estimated at 106 million, bank deposits $30,000,000,000, value of agricultural products at $16,800,000,000, capital and products of manufacturers $62,000,000,000, gross earnings of railroads $4,000,000,000, with a mileage of 284,000, and freight mileage of 600,000,000.

This optimistic prediction, however, it must be used as a house of cards, and stronger hold upon the future.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATES NEED CERTIFICATES, TOO

In response to a request from State Superintendent Ackerman, Attorney General Crawford has rendered a decision to the effect that graduates of state normal schools or universities cannot teach in grades above the eighth in country schools without having a county or state certificate. The law provides that teachers of normal or college training may teach in high schools without passing an examination, but the attorney-general concludes that where schools of the second-class add grades above the eighth, the are not high schools within the meaning of the law, and the teachers employed for those grades must pass the regular examinations prescribed for grade teachers.

M'KENZIE BRIDGE OUTING PARTIES MAKE MERRY

Special Correspondence.

McKenzie Bridge, Aug. 12.—On Friday, August 6th, everybody in the vicinity of the Log Cabin hotel forsook mountain and mountain stream for one of the loveliest afternoons with Mrs. Alice Croner, who gave a "five hundred" party in honor of Mrs. C. H. Metcalf, of San Francisco. The decorations were taken charge of by the ladies at the hotel, and they proved master hands, turning the upper veranda into a forest bower with hemlock, Oregon grape and ferns. Guests began to arrive about 2 o'clock, and soon after a jolly company were engaged in playing "five hundred." At 5 o'clock dinner was served by the Misses Charlotte Young, Frieda Rhodes and Augusta Young. In the evening an informal dance was indulged in, the Virginia reel being the feature number, and so a most pleasant afternoon was enjoyed at the Log House hotel on the McKenzie. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Miller, Miss Laura Miller, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tanner, Miss Bessie Tanner, Meredith Tanner, T. C. Putnam, Mrs. Mettie Kelly, Mrs. R. M. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. INDIANA MAN NO. 1 IN FLATHEAD RESERVATION LAND LOTTERY DRAWING

Spokane, Aug. 12.—The greatest of the three land drawings began shortly after 9:30 this morning. BOYS PLANNED MANY BANK HOLDUPS AND EXPECTED BIG CLEANUPS

Santa Clara, Cal., Aug. 14.—Still concealing their identity, but talking freely of the daring robbery in which they were the principal actors yesterday, the two boys captured at Sunnyvale by Sheriff Langford were brought here this morning for arraignment on the charge of robbery. To Sheriff Langford Joe Willets, who appears to be the leader, declared that he and his companion had planned a series of robberies and the one yesterday was in the nature of an experiment. If they succeeded in that one, they intended next to go after larger and richer institutions and "clean up big money."

HELD IN $20,000 BAIL

San Jose, Aug. 14.—"Joe Willets" and "Fred Carr," arrested for robbing the bank at Santa Clara yesterday, were arraigned here today before Justice of the Peace Thompson and held in $20,000 bail each.

LONG DRAWN SUTTON INQUIRY CONCLUDES AT ANNAPOLIS

Annapolis, Aug. 13.—The session of the court of inquiry upon the death of Lieutenant Sutton reached the concluding stage today when Henry E. Davis, counsel for Mrs. Sutton, the mother of the dead officer, summed up his case. The announcement of the judge advocate, that he would present no argument, Davis said, placed upon him (Davis) a burden he had not looked for.

Davis went back to the coming of Sutton to Annapolis, and alluded to him as a "mother's offering to her country's service." He referred to Lieutenant Sutton's hopes and aspirations, as shown by his letters to his family, and to events of the day before the tragedy, arguing that everything tended to negate the idea that Sutton committed suicide. He criticized the composition of the original board of inquiry, of which the recorder was Lieutenant E. S. Willing, but for whose dereliction Davis said Sutton might still be alive. The board of inquiry he said acted in indecent haste, with no notice to Sutton's family, placing upon him the brand of suicide, thus denying a Christian burial according to the family faith, and consigning him to an unconsecrated grave, stripping his parents of the hope of reunion with him hereafter, and condemning him, as they were compelled to believe, to eternal punishment.

FINCH EXPECTS TO LIVE THREE YEARS

James A. Finch, whose conviction of murder in the first degree was affirmed by the Supreme Court yesterday, has already laid plans for continuing his fight to escape the gallows. At the County Jail he declared he would carry the fight to the Supreme Court of the United States, and laughed bitterly as he said: "It will be three years yet before they get my skin."

Attorney Jeffrey said he would probably use all of the 20 days allowed him to file a motion for a rehearing in the Supreme Court. He said:

"I believe the court will correct its decision after it gets the points it overlooked. The main points are the introduction of the photograph of Fisher and the conversation between the witnesses Carl Smith and Edward H. Martin. The Supreme Court took an entirely wrong view of that. I have made no plans beyond that, because I am confident the Supreme Court will yet reverse the case when the questions are fully presented.—Telegram.

John A. Kissinger, of Fall Creek, has received a notarial seal.

EUGENE MAN IS LUCKY IN LAND DRAWING

Lane county people who were lucky in yesterday's land drawing at the Flathead Indian reservation were as follows: Jacob F. Olsen, Eugene, No. 168; Garland H. Campbell, Leaburg, No. 1272; Robert B. Fullmer, Wendling, No. 1345.

Olsen's name appears in the Eugene directory as being a laborer, and his address is the west end of Sixth street. He will doubtless get a very good farm, as he is among the first choice, and there is much more good land in the Flathead reservation than in the Coeur d'Alene.

Neither Campbell's nor Fullmer's name appears in the list of taxpayers of Lane county as given in the last Polk's directory.

Olsen is a man of family and has lived here several years. He will doubtless live on his claim the required number of years in order to establish residence.

VALLEY HOP YARDS ARE FULL OF LICE

Salem, Aug. 12.—Though the weather has been altogether too cool to annihilate the pests and to destroy the honeydew, the reports of the growers generally are that those who have sprayed thoroughly will pick a prime grade of hops in this district. There was not a single warm day in the month of July, and so far during this month the weather has been so cool that the lice have been able to flourish and increase rapidly.

Only persistent spraying will destroy the pests on the crop. Hot weather would do the work, but the weather has a tendency to be cooler instead of warmer. Those yards that have been sprayed recently are looking better than the others.

It is believed by the growers the condition of the market at this time warrants a higher price for the 1909 crop than is being offered. Western buyers have been doing most of the buying so far, but seem to have agreed to suspend activities for the time being in an endeavor to quiet the market. The growers will not sell for 20 cents any more, however, being confident that better prices will be offered when the crop is gathered.

CLAIM BRAKE WAS NOT CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

That the Plank accident yesterday was not due to a poor brake, or to any fault of the rig, is the statement of Kompp Brothers, who sent out the vehicle. They say the accident was wholly due to the driver, who after he left the barn became intoxicated. The driver, Chamberlain, ran the wagon on a stump, and in his incapacity did not have the presence of mind to put his weight on the brake. A demonstration of the effectiveness of the brake was made this afternoon in front of the newspaper offices.

IRVING ITEMS

Special Correspondence. Irving, Aug. 11.—A. J. Rosen, section foreman, has been called to take charge of an extra gang at Goshen.

A. J. Zumwalt returned from Oakesdale, Wash., Saturday, after a two-weeks' visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarter, of Klamath Falls, stopped off on their way home from the fair to visit at H. A. Inwall's and Mrs. J. W. Hilton's.

Mrs. W. J. Fisher, of Salem, is the guest of Rev. Morris and family.

Mrs. H. C. Maxwell went to Cottage Grove Sunday afternoon. H. C. is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Maxwell, of Irving. They live in Tacoma, Wash.

S. L. Bond and B. F. Bond were passengers to Eugene Tuesday afternoon on buses.

Miss Sadie Thornwaite, of Marshfield, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Van Currier.

Threshing has commenced with a number of the farmers. The late grain promises a much better yield than it did a month ago.

There is a large amount of hay being baled throughout this section.

A FARM IS A TRUST TO BE CONSERVED

Spokane, Washington, August 12.—That no man owns his farm, but is only an agent under obligation to conserve his soil, was the doctrine promulgated at the National Irrigation Congress today by L. H. Bailey, director of the New York College of Agriculture, who spoke on the farm community. He said it is not true that a young man must go West to take up a new farm. He declared that if he takes up an old farm he is under obligations to make a new farm of it. He asserted that the West is in danger of becoming less fertile, and that the East is less liable to this danger.

He quoted from the reports of the country life commission: "There should be a national irrigation movement," said he, "but it is not necessary to develop all our resources now. It will be well to have plenty of resources to take up when in the future the press of population comes."

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—Two young men, almost boys, today went into the Valley Bank of Santa Clara and held up the clerks, getting away with over $7000. They then rushed to a waiting automobile and thrusting a revolver under the chauffeur's nose, ordered him to "let her out."

The alarm spread, and as the automobile had been rented at a San Jose garage, its number and make was known, and Sheriff Langford had no trouble following it. The machine was overtaken seven miles from the city and the robbers submitted to arrest without a fight. Every effort to establish the identity of the young men so far has failed, and it is believed they were strangers in San Jose, to which place they were taken.

The money was all recovered.

G. G. Gross has sent to his real estate office here from the Alberta country a sample of the wheat grown there. He pulled out of the ground a bunch containing 75 heads from a single kernel. The land here yields as high as 65 bushels to the acre.

MORE CHANGE IN SCHEDULE OF S.P. TRAINS

Sweeping changes in the Southern Pacific passenger service between Portland and San Francisco are in contemplation as a part of the plan for the Harriman invasion of Puget Sound. It is the working out of the numerous changes under consideration that is doing a great deal toward delaying the announcement of establishment of through service from here to Seattle. Here are some of the changes that will in all probability be made by the Southern Pacific, with an outline of the proposed service between here and the sound:

A morning train from Portland to San Francisco, and a new morning train from San Francisco to Portland, this change is greatly desired by Assistant Traffic Director E. O. McCormick, of the Harriman system, who is working out the reorganization scheme with Traffic Director Stubbs. At present all three Southern Pacific trains between here and San Francisco are bunched within six and one-half hours, one leaving at 6 p. m., the next at 7:45 p. m., and the other at 1:30 a. m. This leaves 17½ hours with no train at all. One of these will therefore be made a morning train, leaving here probably about 7 or 8 o'clock.

The north bound trains are bunched even worse than the southbound, for they are all night trains and leave San Francisco within five hours and 40 minutes, one at 6 p. m., another at 8:20 p. m., and the third at 11:40 p. m. This leaves a period of 18 or 20 hours without a train for Portland from the South. Mr. McCormick's idea is that while it is a good thing to have these trains leave terminals at night, to give tourists a chance to see the wonderful scenic beauties on the route by daylight, the heavy commercial travel must be considered and business men ordinarily do not care a "whoop" for scenery. They want speed and service.—Oregonian.

PRISONERS KILL THEMSELVES; SUICIDE PACT

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 13.—With a handkerchief around his neck and surgeon's bandages for ropes, August Coussens, awaiting trial for murder, committed suicide in his cell in the county jail early today by hanging himself to the door.

Mark Manchester, an art connoisseur, who killed himself in Berkeley Thursday, was a cellmate of Coussens one night he spent as a prisoner in the county jail. It is believed the two men formed a suicide pact.
