STREETCAR LINE EXTENSION MILE AND HALF LONG

The Moss avenue and Fairmount Heights extension of the local street railway line will be 8140 feet, or over a mile and a half long, when it is completed. Fifty men and ten teams are now rushing work on the line, and Manager Lambirth expects to have cars running over it from the Masonic cemetery to the main line at the corner of East Thirteenth street and Moss avenue by the first of October. One car of rails for the line left Vancouver, Wash., on the 16th inst and two cars left on the 17th. They are expected in some time today and will at once be hauled to the scene of building operations. The last of the ties for the line were delivered yesterday, and are being laid today. The trolley poles and wires will at once be erected, and as soon as the rails are laid the road will be ready for the cars.

The new line extends the full length of Moss avenue and turns west on Fairmount boulevard past the Starvord residence on the hill, encircles the hill to its south side, thence extends across the hollow to the James place, passing through his orchard. Just before the James place is reached there is a trestle 160 feet long with fills at each end. From the James place the line extends southerly and soon swings to the west, passing through Elder Jas. Moore's place and one or two others, joining the cemetery line at the foot of the Masonic cemetery hill.

The new line will open up some very valuable residence property which has heretofore been kept off the market for the reason that it was comparatively inaccessible. After the line is in operation a half-hour car service will be the means of selling this slightly property for residence purposes.

DR. COOK DECLARES HE WILL SUBMIT PROOF TO UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN

New York, Sept. 21.—"I shall await events," said Dr. Cook to the Associated Press correspondent, just before he left the deck of the Oscar II at Quarantine today to be brought to the city by the welcoming committee. "When my material has been got together and put into shape, it will be submitted in the first instance to the University of Copenhagen, and after that will be laid before the geographical societies of the world. I would not consent to submit any fragmentary portions of my observations or my records to any one. Reports and all data connected with my trip must be examined entirely, together with my instruments, some of which I have in my possession now, and others which are on the way to America at the present moment. These will be properly controlled and tested before submission to scientific bodies."

Referring to Peary Cook said: "I have as yet heard nothing but vague reports. I prefer for the present to believe that the statements which are attributed to Peary are incorrect. I am fully prepared to meet any charges, but I must first see something definite. I am absolutely certain that none of the reports appearing in print emanate from either my Eskimos or from Harry Whitney. Whitney without doubt kept his promise not to say anything about the expedition or its result, and I feel sure of my Eskimos. Mr. Whitney will return to America about the middle of October. He has complete knowledge of all the facts. He is at entire liberty to make public all he knows. He is neither bound to stand up for me nor for Peary."

Cook said the Eskimos would be brought to America if it was possible to obtain a steamer this year.

Dr. Cook has not fixed his plans, and does not expect to go to the north pole again, but may explore the new land discovered on his recent trip. He will leave the south pole exploration to Shackleton and Scott.

He has decided, on account of the overwhelming demand for autographs and photographic photographs, to make a uniform price of $1.00 each, and will set aside the proceeds to be divided equally between the explorers and the arctic clubs, to be utilized for future explorations.

Good to Be Home Again

Yesterday as his ship approached New York, Dr. Cook said: "It's good to be an American; it seems I have been gone ten years."

Gazing toward the lights of New York after an absence since July 4, 1907, these were the first sentiments expressed tonight by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, as he paced the deck of the steamship Oscar II waiting for daylight and the actual return to his native land.

Dr. Cook was virtually at home tonight, for the Oscar II anchored off Fire Island. The ship marked time, as it were, so that there might be no hitch in the home-coming reception for the explorer. Though 60 miles from the city proper, the Oscar II is in easy wireless communication with New York during the day and night.

Dr. Cook was on deck almost constantly and as sunset approached he watched the brilliant panorama and conversed with the newspaper men through a megaphone.

Dreads His Reception

"I feel anxious to get ashore," he said, "but dread the ordeal of landing tomorrow. I would much prefer landing quietly without a repetition of the scenes at Copenhagen. I hope I shall be left in peace with my family by tomorrow night at least."

Some New York papers were brought to him on board the vessel this evening containing long reports concerning Peary's achievement. Dr. Cook read them carefully, then said: "There is nothing new here and I shall wait until something definite is published before I say anything further on the matter."

Mrs. Cook is ill at home and unable to meet her husband.

NEWSY NOTES OF SPRINGFIELD AND VICINITY

The meeting of the Springfield Commercial Club was poorly attended last evening, due to a number of its members being out of town. Although no actual business was transacted several subjects were discussed. The principal topic was what the city should do in regard to placing ten arc lights on Main street. It seems that when the council approached the Willamette Valley Company they replied that they would not place the lights unless a five-year contract was signed. Springfield was unwilling to do this, because they felt that the rate charged was too great, and within a year the city of Eugene will have a power line through the city from which it is probable that a lower rate could be secured. It is understood that if a contract could be made for one year or perhaps two, that the lights would be placed at once.

The P. E. & E. Co. was also the object of much discussion in regard to the five-cent fare, and what would be done when the matter of granting a new franchise came up. It was the general opinion that the company will have to make several concessions and amends before a new franchise can be obtained.

The Commercial Club is badly in need of a regularly paid corresponding secretary, who can handle the quantities of letters of inquiry that come each day from all over the country from investors and home-seekers. At present some are answered, but the majority will not be because of their number.

News Notes

The surveyors began work this morning cutting the tract of 100 acres, known as the John Kelly place, north of the city, into acre tracts and city lots. This property has been tied up until yesterday because of trouble between its owners, Manerude & Klov Dahl, over a division. However, yesterday Manerude sold his half to Dr. D. A. Paine and C. B. Willoughby, both of Eugene, and the new owners will place it on the market at once.

H. T. Lyons of the firm of Leep & Lyons, contractors, was taken seriously ill yesterday, while at work, with a trouble of the heart known as pericarditis. For a while yesterday his condition was very serious and he is not yet out of danger. His home is in Coburg.

The funeral of Mrs. M. J. Ward, who died at Springfield Junction, was held this afternoon by Undertaker Walker. The burial was in the Masonic cemetery.

The forms for the foundation of the depot fountain are in and the concrete will be pored in next week.

DR. CHESHIRE EMPLOYED BY UTAH CONSTRUCTION CO.

Will Be Superintendent of the Emergency Hospital for Injured Railroad Laborers

Dr. W. L. Cheshire, of this city, has accepted the position of superintendent of the emergency hospital established by the Utah Construction Company on the route of the Natron extension. He left for the scene of his new duties this morning, and expects to be gone until about the first of October. After that he will go back and forth as occasion demands. The General Hospital of Eugene has the contract to care for all the company's injured men, but they will first be cared for by Dr. Cheshire at the emergency hospital.
