YOU CAN BE A MORE POPULAR AUTHOR, FOR ONE DAY, IN THIS CITY, THAN DICKENS

On the day that you publish in this newspaper a "help-wanted" ad you will be more widely read, in this city, than Dickens, or any other author. For your theme will touch human interests more intimately, more immediately, than any fiction can do. You will appeal to human emotions at close range. And incidentally you will deserve to be, for that one day, a "popular author."

PORTLAND MARKET REPORT.

Portland, Oct., 21.—It was an off day in the wheat market. Eastern and foreign news was bearish and the local traders were inclined to take a gloomy view of the situation. The cargo report came through dull with buyers reserved and Walla Walla for shipment quoted 3d lower at 39s. Options at Liverpool and Chicago declined. Bluestem, in the local market, was quoted firm up to $1.02 but other varities were off a cent.

Farmers continue to hold oats firmly, but there was an easier feeling in the local market with no bids made over $28. Barley was quite and steady.

The hay market shows a very firm front, particularly on alfalfa. The country is well sold up on hay and the demand is exceedingly good, both here and in the interior. The have been buying heavily.

Waiting Hop Market

The hop market was very dull yesterday, but conditions are such now that a quiet spell has no effect on its strength. In other years a pause in the trading would bring out liberal offering, but this year holders see no cause for uneasiness in a subsidence of the demand. No new sales were reported yesterday but the Seavy Hop Company took in several small lots at Aurora, aggregating over 100 bales.

A wire from Chico Cal., states that the Valentine Brewing Company, of Newark, N. J., has purchased the entire product of the American Hop & Barley Co.'s hopfields at Nord, near Chico. Immediate shipment of the product was asked. The price was not made public. The brewing company caters largely to New York City trade.

London cables yesterday reported a quite but firm market. A cable from Gosslin-Gay, of Stamburges, to Issac Pincus & Sons, read: "County almost sold out. Remaining growers hold for higher prices. Think market will go higher."

The official figures of the Bavarian crop are at hand and shows a yield of 89,245 cwt. on 18,634 electares compared with 284,510 cwt. on 22,592 lectares in 1908 and 271,564 cwt. on 24,561 lectares in 1907.

Clean Up Woodburn Hops

So liberal have been the sales of hops in the Woodburn district that few lots remain unsold in the hands of growers at this time. So says Ed Herren, the buyer at that place. "Picking is pretty scarce in the Woodburn district at this time," says Mr. Herren to the Journal. "The few lots remaining there are being sold for higher prices."

Hop market in general is rather quiet locality, although several sales have recently been made here to the east on the basis of 26c to growers of choice goods.

Rogue River Apples Coming

Apple receipts for the day included a shipment of Rogue River Kings and Twenty-ounce Pippins, which were put on the market at $1.75 a box. But for the fact that they were a little short on color they would have brought a better price, according to dealers. There were also fair receipts from other quarters, Hood River included, the best generally being quoted at $1.50 to $1.75, but trade on the while was rather slow.

Pears were plentiful, several varieties from Southern Oregon and other parts of the state being in evidence, the best hold at $1.25 to $1.50. Only strictly fancy fruit moved at the latter figure. Common pears were to be had at $1 a box.

The market was fairly well supplied with grapes from the South, but there was not the excess of a week or two ago. Best Tokays, Malagas and Madscats held at $1.10 to $1.25 and clusters at $1. Local Concords were less plentiful on account of the rain and moderately firm at 12½ cents a basket.

Turkeys in Better Demand

Poulty dealers today reported turkeys a trifle more active than a week ago, with quotations 1 to 2 cents above Saturdays's range. Geese were slow while ducks moved in a fairly satisfactorily way at the last prices. So far as hens and chickens were concerned there were no developments, and the course of the market the next few days will depend upon the movement from the country.

Fresh local eggs were in strong demand, and most dealers quoted 33 to 34 cents as high as 35 cents being asked in some quarters for the best. The supply was meager. Eastern eggs are a large factor in the local trade now selling generally at 29 to 32 cents. One Front-street dealer reported a car of Easterns in today.

Coarse Veal is Rather Slow.

While prime veal moved rapidly in the Front-street market at 1 to 10½ cents a pound, the demand for stock that could not grade up to standard was anything but strong, and dealers say that too much of this sort of stuff is coming for the good of the tivemarket.

Dressed pork was fairly active, the best going at 9 to 9½ cents, and the demand was efficent to take the bulk of the stuff brought in.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston, Oct. 20.—Transfers in the local wool market continue of fair size, although the demand is said to be almost entirely for small mills. Shipments, however, are very heavy, as manufacturers report steadily increasing demand for goods. There has been no material change in prices, the undertone remaining very firm. Further sales of Montana clips in original bags have been made at 27½ to 28 cents. Fine territorial staple is quoted at 80 cents and fine clothing at 70 to 72 cents.

PORTLAND LIVESTOCK MARKET.

Portland, Or., Oct. 20.—Higher prices are shown in the hog market at Stockdale. Killers are paying 15c more for supplies than last week, even though they are claiming that supplies are worth less money because of the recent decline in the East. The truth of the matter is that local killers have not been encouraging Northwest hog raisers as they should, and instead of paying liberal values here have been sending east for the bulk of their goods. Supplies were wanting until they began to come, and there was no demand at all. It was but a repetition of what had been done in former years by the big people whose interests was to help the hog industry by paying up-to-date values, but instead killed the industry by forcing values under those which they were forced to pay for Eastern shipments.

Eight dollars was paid for heavy hogs in the yards during the last 24 hours, even though the run was quite fair. Total supply of swine of the day was 388 head, compared with 231 Monday, 86 Saturday, none Friday, 94 Thursday and 673 last Wednesday. A week ago swine receipts were 257 head.

Good Cattle Bring More.

While those who brought in a number of loads of good cattle were unwilling to allow the general public to know that the market was higher, it leaked out that $4.75 was paid for 44 steers averaging 1410 pounds during the past 24 hours. The parties who brought in these "toppers" were likewise interested in the commission trade, but did not believe it was the business of the livestock growers to know what price was in effect. However the majority of the commission trade gives the true price to shippers through The Journal at all times, and when one small dealer balks at publicity it does not hurt general conditions here.

There was quite a liberal run of cattle in the yards during the past 24 hours, a total supply of 490 head being received. This compares with 617 head Monday, 79 Saturday, 155 Friday, 200 Thursday and 349 last Wednesday. A week ago today cattle arrivals at Stockdale were 242 head.

The following is the general range of livestock values in the yards:

Cattle—Best steers, weighing 1200 pounds, $4.50@$4.75; medium steers, $4.25; best cows, $3.50; medium cows, $3.25@$3.35; best heifers, $3.50; bulls, $1.75@$2.25.

Hogs—Best east of mountains, $7.85@$8; Willamette valley best, $7.75@$7.85; stockers, $4@$6; pigs, $6@$7.

Sheep—Best wethers, $4.25@$4.50; ordinary, $4.25; spring lambs, $5.00@$5.25; straight ews, $3.50@$3.75; mixed lots, $4.00.

BERG DEFEATS WALTER EVANS

Portland, Oct. 19.—What is conceded by all who were present to be the best wrestling match ever held here occurred at Dreamland hall last night, when John Berg, the Portland favorite, defeated Walter Evans, of Knoxville, Tenn., in one of the hardest-fought matches imaginable.

Evans took the first fall in 26 minutes, while Berg landed the last two in 6 and 12 minutes respectively. Had it not been that Berg plainly weakened his game antagonist from the South by the famous toe hold, to which Evans succumbed in the shortest fall of the match, there might have been a different story to tell, even though Berg was the heavier man of the two.

WOMAN TAUNTED FROM THE PULPIT

Chicago, Oct. 18.—"Too often do we find in the modern women traces of the survival of the ape."

This was the declaration made to his congregation by Rev. Percival Howson Baker, pastor of the First Congregational church of Maywood, who also denounced what he called "feminine snobs and drinking and gambling women."

"Is woman the equal of man?" he asked. "No, thank God, she is not," he answered, "and great as is the modern woman, she must not be set on a pedestal and worshipped."

BOOTH-KELLY CO. SUES CITY FOR INJUNCTION

Late yesterday afternoon the Booth-Kelly Company, through its attorneys, Woodcock & Potter, filed an injunction suit against the city to permanently restrain it from diverting the waters of the McKenzie river into its power canal, which is in course of construction, claiming that the diversion of the water into the canal would lower the water in the river for a distance of seven miles so that logging operations would be greatly interfered with. The defendants named in the complaint are the city of Eugene, J. D. Matlock, mayor, T. H. Garrett, J. E. Roach, W. S. Moon, R. B. Henderson, J. M. Williams, F. J. Berger, A. W. Gilbert and Sherman Heller, comprising the city council.

Portions of the complaint are as follows:

. . . . And said canal is so being constructed and will be so constructed as to divert the water from the McKenzie river and into said canal, so that the said water will be diverted and detained from said McKenzie river and not returned thereto for a distance o fupward of seven miles below the intake of the canal. . . . . And the said waters will be continuously and permanently diverted from the river by the operation of said electric plant from thereto for a distance of upward of seven miles from what is known as Bradley's island in said river, will be deprived of a great portion of the flow of the waters of the river continuously and permanently.

. . . . That said timber adjacent to said McKenzie water shed is one of the largest and most valuable bodies of merchantable timber in the state of Oregon or elsewhere, and that said river is the only means of transportation of said timber to market. That the river has been used for more than 30 years as a public highway for the transportation of such sawlogs and timber obtained from said water shed to the end that such logs and timber were transported to the various mills and markets between the points where the same were put into said river as far as the city of Portland and elsewhere. And said river has been so used continuously for upward of 30 years as such public highway for purposes aforesaid, from the mouth of the river for the whole length thereof, and many miles above the intake of said canal.

. . . . That the diversion and detention of the waters of the McKenzie river as proposed and intended by said defendants will so reduce in volume the waters of said river that the use of said McKenzie river as a public highway and as a navigable stream for the purpose of floating and transporting logs and timber as aforesaid will be greatly injured and destroyed; and that the plaintiff will be deprived of the use of the same for transporting logs and timber as hereinbefore set forth, and the business of the plaintiff and the value of its timber lands and sawmill and other property used in connection therewith will be greatly injured and depreciated in value, and that the principal means of getting logs and timber to said sawmill will be greatly injured or destroyed, to the irreparable injury and damage of said plaintiff.

WELCH GIVES SALEM PAPER GOOD NEWS

In addition to the information given in yesterday's Guard in regard to the Welch electric railways, the Salem Statesman quotes Welch as follows:

"We will have cars in Salem in 90 days," declares Welch. "We will expend $150,000 in this city as a starter. Two miles of poles and rails and ties for the work in Salem are now on their way to this city. With the 90 days' extension of time which will be granted us by the Salem council we have plenty of leeway to do our work here and we will give Salem the best service that is possible to give.

"We expect to have our main line well along toward construction within 90 days, and our branch line to Mehama will not be far behind. We will enter the Santiam country and that is certain.

"Our right-of-way men are now working between here and Eugene. The Northwest Corporation has all the money that it needs and is financed satisfactorily to all concerned, and financed in such a way that we will give you some startling revelations in the way of electric service when our lines are completed.

"The main line out of Salem will run to the east side of the Southern Pacific on entering Albany. The main line work will be done in a hurry, and by next summer cars will be operating between this city and Eugene on a good schedule. Our rolling stock will be the best obtainable, and we plan on giving a service that can't be beat.

$1,000,000 Power Plant

"Our power propositions are being developed rapidly. The power plant at Martins Rapids, on the McKenzie river, will be constructed at a cost of $1,000,000. Today we ordered 17 cars of cement. We have purchased poles for a line from Eugene to Blue River on the McKenzie. Martins Rapids lies about midway between Blue River and Eugene.

"You can say that the Northwest Corporation means business all over the Willamette valley and that when our traction lines are fully in operation there will be no interurban service in the country that can eclipse the valley lines of this concern."

GOSSIP REGARDING BASEBALL MANAGERS

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Hugh Duffy, manager of the Providence club of the Eastern League, is to be the next manager of the Chicago White Sox, according to a rumor in circulation here today. Duffy was here yesterday and had a long conference with Charles Comiskey.

Friends of Fielder Jones, former manager of the White Sox, declare that Jones is to manage a major league club next year, and many persons believe he has already reached an agreement with Comiskey and will be seen again in a Chicago uniform when the 1910 season opens.

ELMIRA ITEMS.

Special Correspondence.

Elmira, Oct. 20.—Quite a number of Elmiraites took in the sale of Jason Richardson's at Franklin on Saturday.

Bert Inman has moved down on his ranch to put in his crop. He will be gone about two months.

G. B. Brown has sold his farm to Mr. McCullen, from Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Wake Haynes, formerly of this place, who lives down below Irving, is very low with lung fever.

Rev. George Whipple preached at Fairview on last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kayser of Cottage Grove were looking over our town and visiting old friends on Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Kayser was Elmira's first merchant, and he was very much surprised to see how the town had grown since he left here some years ago.

P. E. Inman returned last week from the Seattle fair, where his Brown Swiss cattle took every blue ribbon but one in their class. He reports having a good time.

Cold Weather Advice

to all is to beware of coughs and colds on the chest; as neglected they readily lead to pneumonia, consumption or other pulmonary troubles. Just as soon as the cough appears treat it with Ballard's Horehound Syrup the standard cure of America. Use as directed—perfectly harmless. A cure and preventive for all diseases of the lungs.
