OKLAHOMA, YOUNGEST STATE, TWO YEARS OLD

Oklahoma City, Nov. 16.—Oklahoma, the infant commonwealth which is the prize baby of the Democracy, and is held up as a "horrible example" of progreive democracy by the Republicans today, is today in the second year of its existence. During these two short years it has attempted reforms which have excited comment all over the nation and has proved itself a very "warm baby."

One of its most important legislative reforms which Oklahomaans have attempted, the bank guarantee law, has been enacted in several states, and is being agitated in many others, with the possible result that it will spread all over the country. The system has many critics in high places, who allege that such a law makes the honest banker responsible for the detections of his dishonest brother. The fathers of the plan in Oklahoma profess to be entirely satisfied with its workings. They point out that it is a provision of nature, the innocent must suffer for the guilty, and that it is as well that the bankers should do some of the suffering, rather than that it should all be loaded on the equally innocent depositors, who have always heretofore had to hold the bag.

The history of Oklahoma during the two years it has been a state has been marked by a constant camping on the trail of the corporations. All kinds of laws for their regulation have been passed, but the fever of radicalism is now apparently subsiding, and the need of large corporations for the development of the new state is being recognized.

Oklahoma was admitted to the union of states on November 16, 1907. The people of Oklahoma and Indian Territory had struggled for years for statehood, and were finally permitted to launch into the field of self-government as a sovereign state.

Wild demonstrations marked the receipt of the news at 9 o'clock on the morning of November 16, 1907. President Roosevelt had issued and signed the proclamation admitting Oklahoma. Immediately following the news Governor C. N. Haskell and a complete set of state, county and township officers were inaugurated, the state ceremonies occurring at Guthrie.

On December 2, or about two weeks after the admission of the state, the first legislature convened at Guthrie. It was composed of 153 members, 109 in the house and 44 in the senate. There were but 18 Republicans in the house and five in the senate, all the other members being Democrats.

This legislature was confronted by the task of revising and adding to the statutes of Oklahoma territory. Governor Haskell, at the opening of the legislature, submitted a long message and the legislature, with its overwhelming Democratic majority, put through most of the measures suggested.

These included a Jim Crow law for the separation of the races, a law guaranteeing the safety of deposits in banks, a stringent prohibition and dispensary law known as the "Bill-ups" bill, and something over 200 other measures. The legislature was in session six months.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Josephine Hull, Press Correspondent.

The local Woman's Christian Temperance Union met on Wednesday, November 19, at the home of Mrs. Chamberlain on Sixth street. There was a good attendance and quite a number of superintendents and heads of committees were appointed. Several positions are yet to be supplied.

The union has gained some valuable new members and with new plans and renewed enthusiasm starts out with bright prospects for a successful year's work.

After the regular routine business law enforcement and current events were pretty thoroughly discussed.

A Hood River lawyer told us: "Laws were enacted to protect right and suppress evil." We were delighted to learn this for we had supposed from general observation that some of them were made simply to give the legislature something to do.

Some were passed simply because the people wanted something and were not to be denied.

The jury in the case of J. M. Williams, as administrator of the estate of Henry Maxwell, deceased, vs. John Maxwell and Arminia Maxwell, to recover money, returned a verdict this afternoon in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $940, the amount sued for. The case went to the jury shortly after noon, after having been on trial for nearly two days.

The jury in the case of E. J. Frazer vs. Joseph Goodfellow, to recover money, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount sued for, together with interest and attorney's fees.

her talk to some boys not effective, another lady went to the boy's mother, and was told to "mind her own business."

We do not much wonder that the small boy tries to ape the High school boy and in his disregard of law, although alas, he sometimes gets sadly humiliated.

Then there is the University student—envied by the lower grades—who, amid the intoxicating aroma of the "smoker", beholds through the clouds the colossal figure of one who stands at the very head of legislative enactments. A figure whose strongest points are his cigars, his ability to defeat the will of the people and the ease with which his speeches are punctuated with profanity.

Forty-three Chinese students have come to the U. S. to enter our colleges, to be followed next year by 153. Now, if these two hundred students, while enjoying the advantages of education in a Christian nation, can be indoctrinated into the beauty of "free religion", and the art of evading law, they will be able to teach heathen China the value of "personal liberty" and the injustice of their new opium law.

Judge William Galloway was toastmaster and the responses were made by Ex-Governor Lord, Judge McBride, Judge Moore, U. S. Judge Wolverton, Hon. J. K. Weatherford, of Albany, and Judge Harris of Eugene.

MERCHANTS MEET IN EUGENE NEXT JANUARY

At a meeting of the Merchants' Protective Association last night a committee was appointed to act with a like committee from the Commercial Club to arrange for the entertainment of the Oregon Retail Merchants' Association, which meets in Eugene in annual session in January, 1910. The committee consists of W. M. Green, F. E. Chambers and I. T. Nicklin. This is a representative committee and one that the association can depend upon to carry out the details of entertaining the several hundred delegates who will be here on that occasion, in a satisfactory manner.

A number of members of the merchants' organization of Cottage Grove were in attendance at the meeting last night. Their visit was for the purpose of obtaining pointers as to the best methods of conducting such an association and in turn they gave the local organization a few points to its benefit.

MRS. WILLIAM A. YOUNG, LEGAL DEFENDER OF BEECH HARGIS

Beech Hargis, the young Kentucky feudist who is making a hard fight to be acquitted of the charge of having murdered his father, has as one member of his staff of counsel Mrs. William A. Young, the only woman practicing in the criminal courts of Kentucky. Senator Bradley is senior counsel for the young man, but the preparation of the case is entirely in the hands of William A. Young and his talented wife.

BOHRNSTEDT CO. INCREASES CAPITAL

Raised From $125,000 to $150,000 and Will Set Out More Trees

Organization of the A. C. Bohrnstedt Company, of which we spoke in a recent issue, is well under way. The capital of the company has been increased to $150,000 in place of $125,000, as was first intended, which will give them an opportunity for even greater work than was at first planned.

Instead of purchasing 40,000 trees to set out this winter, the number will be increased to 45,000, and an order has been placed for 100,000 seedlings instead of 77,000. The company will also set out several acres of loganberries and other fruit. Hon. W. K. Newell will superintend the work, which means that it will be done in the best known manner.

The Bohrnstedt Company has un- methods employed will insure a satisfactory completion of the work. Everything possible is being done to bring their holdings to the proper shape, and their labors in this community are of inestimable value to Creswell and adjacent territory.—Creswell Chronicle.

O. J. HULL.

Geo. H. Kelly, who advertised in yesterday's Guard for his bull dog, which had been lost, has located the animal in Medford, through the efficient work of Sheriff Harry Bown. A hobo had stolen it and when the officers found it in his possession at Medford he was arrested and Sheriff Bown was notified.

GIANT COMBINE OF TELEGRAPH AND PHONELINES

New York, Nov. 16.—Control of the Western Union today passed to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and a long step was taken toward merging the telephone and telegraph companies into a corporation with a capitalization of nearly one billion dollars.

MADE MARGARET PAY HER CARFARE

Reno, Nev., Nov. 11.—It is understood here today that Margaret Illington, the actress, who was divorced yesterday from Daniel Frohman, the famous theatrical producer of New York, will go very soon to Tacoma, where it is said a house has already been furnished and prepared for her reception. It is rumored that she will soon be married to a wealthy citizen of Tacoma, but the name of the supposed fiancee could not be obtained.

Speaking today of the divorce, which was granted late yesterday after a brief hearing in court, Judge Massey, who represented Miss Illington, said:

"Frohman not only refused to support his wife, but he charged her with cab fares to and from the theatre when she was acting for him, and he told her he married her for business considerations only, because together they could make a lot of money."

The city banks will all close at noon Friday on account of the football game.
