NEWS OF INTEREST TO THE FARMER

VALUABLE CROP IS FIELD PEAS

In a recent letter H. Grebe, a well-known and prosperous farmer who lives at 849 Stark street, Portland, but has his farm near Corvallis, Or., writes at length on the efficacy of "field peas" as a money-making crop and says he is a great believer in their fattening qualities for hogs. Following is the substance of his letter:

"I have several acres planted in field peas and while they are green at this date, they show that the crop will be a good one. How many bushels they make per acre will be reported later. This seed will be worth $2.50 per bushel, and the yield will be about 20 bushels per acre. To look at the well loaded vines, some acre will fatten two hogs at least, some years more. There is no better grain for fattening hogs than peas, either in the field, in the pod or threshed. I grew a small field of peas last year and the same ground is in spring wheat this year and looks fine. There is a much better stand of wheat on the pea land than last year's fallow. There is more moisture under a pea vine when ripe than there is on a bare summer fallow, besides this the field peas are the best fertilizer and weed exterminator as well. The peas are four feet high in many places. In many places they have fallen flat to the ground because of being so tall, but the pods will ripen just the same. I expect to harvest the peas with a combined harvester and thresher and will cut around the outside with a new self-rape reaper wide enough for the combined machine to pass along and not tramp out the peas. I have grown field peas for forty years."

Mr. Grebe says he has been looking for stock hogs to fatten them on peas for some time but has failed to find any.

THE BEST ROTATION FOR HOGS

In a recent bulletin of the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri was published the results of a number of experiments in swine feeding, by E. B. Forbes.

These experiments prove that corn—good corn—is a good feed for any animal and that there is no reason for withholding it from any animal needing food. At the same time, it is shown that corn alone is not nearly so good or so profitable a feed as corn supplemented by some protein food such as tankage, linseed oilmeal or soy beans.

If hogs feed exclusively on corn the animal becomes very fat and chubby and does not keep properly; the bones are brittle and easily broken.

Sixty-five hogs were used in this experiment and they were divided into lots of five each. Twelve different rations were used with corn alone in two of them and corn supplemented with some other feed in the others.

The hogs fed on corn and linseed-oilmeal and those fed on corn and tankage gained the most; those receiving corn alone were most unsatisfactory.

IMPORTATION OF CATTLE

(By Dr. David Roberts.)

Each year immigration is becoming more pronounced which is no doubt due to the fact of eagerness to attain greater wealth and for this reason it has been found necessary to enforce various laws in the various states in order to protect the residents therein against disease.

This same may be applied to the importation of cattle, it having been found necessary that in order to protect the stock owner, that all cattle before entering the state must be thoroughly inspected and passed upon as being free from any infectious or contagious disease.

While each and every disease in cattle has a tendency to reduce the profits of a herd, exceptional attention has been paid in the eradication of tuberculosis and for the reason most states require, that before a non-resident herd can enter the state, that it shall have been accompanied by a certificate which shows that every animal has been tuberculin tested and is free from same.

While cattle that have been imported may have been apparently free from disease at the time of purchase, owing to the delay of arrival, and as they are subjected to, it has been deemed necessary to hold same in quarantine for a certain length of time, thereby definitely determining as to the exact condition of each individual animal before its introduction into the state, and while it has often been found that they are free from tuberculosis, the owner is many times disappointed to find upon thorough examination that they are afflicted with the germs of contagious abortion, and for this reason each animal is treated until all signs of this disease have disappeared before introducing them into their new quarters. In this way following out the theory that one ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

POULTRY AILMENTS.

"Only in rare instances does poultry require doctoring," says Kate V. Saint-Maud in Women's Home Companion for May, "yet it is well to be prepared with sufficient knowledge to recognize the symptoms of approaching trouble. A few small coops should be kept in some dry, sheltered outhouse, to be used as quarantine quarters. Empty dry goods boxes turned on their sides, with half the front boarded across and a door of wire netting to close the other half, make good coops for individual patients. They should be covered all around, sides and top

SPRINGFIELD HAS NEW FIRE LIMITS

Springfield, Aug. 13.—The city council held a special session at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon to pass a new fire ordinance. The session was intended to be short but lasted for several hours and was followed by cold or missing suppers. After the passing of the ordinance, which carries an emergency clause that puts it into effect immediately, several other matters of importance were brought up for discussion. The new fire limits in Springfield are described as follows: They extend from Mill street to Seventh and for a distance of 195 feet north and south of Main street. In this district it will now be unlawful to erect or repair any buildings that are not made with brick, concrete or fire-proof walls, and covered with a roof of non-combustible substance. Furthermore, attached to this ordinance is a clause which requires that hereafter a building permit must be issued by the city fire and water committee before any building may be commenced. In specifying the walls of the brick or concrete buildings the ordinance states that all one-story buildings must have walls eight inches thick. Buildings of more than one story must have twelve-inch walls for all except the top story, which will be eight. This ordinance will be enforced with a penalty, to be a fine of not less than $100.00 or more than $200.00.

A DEAD STOMACH.

Of What Use Is It to Anyone? Thousands! yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily.

They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny.

These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

In other words, they are taking from the stomach the work that nature intended it should do, and are also refusing it the only chance of exercise it has.

MI-O-na stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run-down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Thin indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go.

MI-O-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and by Red Cross Drug Co., who guarantees them. 50 cents a box.

MAN LOST IN MOUNTAINS NEAR FOLEY SPRINGS

John Lill Spends Night Alone Away from Camp—Found This Morning

(From Monday's Daily Guard.)

Foley Springs had a lost man scare last night that ended this morning about 9 o'clock, when the missing man was found. John Lill, who is camping near there with the Hampton party, lost his way in the woods and was missing over night. The particulars are not all learned. It seems that Mr. Lill was seen about 6 o'clock or a trifle before, but when Austin Hampton went to call him for supper a few minutes later he did not answer. A search was started at once by the members of the party, who realized that Mr. Lill was subject to heart trouble, and it was possible that he could have fallen in the creek near by during a fainting spell. When, after a couple of hours, he had not been found, word was sent to the neighboring campers, who organized a searching party and systematically covered the woods thereabout until nearly 2 o'clock this morning, when the search was given up. The first thing in the morning word was dispatched to Gate Creek and his son George in Eugene. It was then too late for him to take the morning stage for Foley Springs, and while waiting for further information the word came about 9 o'clock without particulars that the old gentleman had been found and was unharmed from his night out in the woods.

RAILROAD LABORERS CROWD EUGENE BANKS

Get Checks Cashied Here and Send Money Back to the Old Country

A scene at any one of the Eugene banks every few mornings would give a hasty stranger the opinion that the bank was having a "run." Although the railroad laborers from the construction camps are coming and going every day, they frequently leave in numbers up to thirty or more at a time. The first thing in the morning after they arrive in Eugene is to wait for the banks to open to get their pay checks cashed. This morning at the First National bank there was a large delegation of swarthy colored foreigners that lined up before the paying teller's window for over half an hour. They often have quite large checks, and $200 is frequently handed out to one man. The money that they are paid is asked for in paper and they at once mail most of it to their homes in the old country. The laborers seem to be very indifferent with their money and grab it up from the window without counting it.

A. T. Prasieur of Irving, one of the leading farmers of that section, reports that threshing is proceeding very rapidly and that from his door four steam threshing outfits may be seen at work. Crops are turning out fairly well, not as large as some expected, but fully up to the average, if not above it.

The Y. M. C. A. reports that there are many of its members out of work and their employment bureau will receive positions for most any sort of work to be done by all ages.

Will Bradley went to Portland last evening.

SMITH WILL SELL OREGON HOLDINGS

Big Lumber Operator is Disgusted Over Much Litigation

That C. A. Smith, the Minnesota multi-millionaire timber operator, is about to make good his threat to retire from the Oregon field became known yesterday by the announcement that he is closing a sale of his interests in the purchase price of $5,000,000. The names of the purchasers have not been divulged.

The sale contemplates the transfer of title to approximately 100,000 acres of the choicest red fir holdings of Coos, Douglas, Union and Lane counties. All but 7500 acres of the land carry a clear title, having been in the most recent been secured through the use of land script. The tract to which title is not clear at this time is composed of the claims in Linn county which have been attacked by United States District Attorney John McCourt; the case being now in the hands of Judge Robert S. Bean for decision.

Smith Big Timber Holder.

C. A. Smith has been known as the largest individual owner of Oregon timber lands, aside from the holdings of Frederick Weyerhaeuser. He is the principal owner of the C. A. Smith Lumber company and the Linn & Lane Lumber company. His properties are largely in Coos county. Outside of Coos, Mr. Smith has title to 43,000 acres of timber land.

On Coos Bay the C. A. Smith Lumber company has recently completed one of the largest sawmill plants in the world, its equipment being thoroughly modern. Through the operations of the Smith-Powers Lumber company, it is said that timber placed in the mills with great care and at less cost than at any other plant on the coast.

F. A. Krebs yesterday left Portland on a hurried mission, and his attorney, A. H. Tanner, denied that he knew anything about his destination. Mr. Neuhansen was also absent from his office.

PAPER MILL AT LEBANON STOPS WORK

The Lebanon Paper Mill Co. today closed its plant down and will remain closed until the trouble with the people of Lebanon and vicinity is settled. As the company pays out $5000 a month for labor it will mean a severe blow to the city.

The mill company offers to pay half the expense of sewer from the mill to the river in order to adjust the water dispute.

Lebanon business men are alarmed and are endeavoring to get the city council to act promptly. The mill has practically made Lebanon—Albany Democrat.

GREAT WOOL MERGER IN THE EAST

New York, Aug. 17.—A great merger of woolen mills, to include over a score of factories with a total capitalization of $25,000,000, is being organized by New York capitalists. The mills included are located in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Utah and Syracuse, N. Y., and Philadelphia and New Jersey.

The combination is being underwritten from this city and the headquarters of the new company will be located here. A selling company will distribute the product of the mills direct to the retailers, eliminating the middleman and jobber.

The Pleasant Hill correspondent gave the contract price for the new high school there as $1680, when it should have been 1880. The correction was phoned in later but it was too late for yesterday's Guard.
