

SPRINGFIELD DAY AT COUNTY FAIR BRINGS OUT ANOTHER BIG CROWD OF PEOPLE

Early this morning when the black line of people from the car line to the county fair grounds began, and later in the morning when the crowd surged through the pavilion and about the exhibits it was seen that the crowd of Springfield day was going to nearly equal the record-breaking attendance of yesterday, and before the fair of 1910 closes tonight the attendance will be close to and possibly over the 5,000 mark. Shortly after noon, an hour before the races began, the crowd filed through the grandstand, finding advantage in the seats, and when the races were called at 1:45 the grandstand was alive with people who waxed excited over the thrilling speed contests. Over the fences on both sides the holiday crowds hung in black lines for many feet each side of the judge's stand. When the great fair is over it will be found that this year's effort is the most successful in every way from attendance to exhibits. With possibly one exception, it is a fact that there was not as good an exhibit of livestock as there has been in former years. Besides the need of a new exhibit pavilion, there will be another necessity next year, and this is additional seating capacity for the race track in the form of bleachers. The Lane county fair grounds, the horsemen say, have one of the best tracks in the state, and all that is necessary to bring the best of horses here is the enthusiasm and support of the city, and judging from the attendance at the races during the past three days, this is now a part of Eugene. Eugene will be a racing center.

School Children Parade
Springfield day at the fair grounds was opened today by one of the largest parades of school children ever held. The children marched through the streets shortly after the noon hour with between 800 and 1,000 in line. The parade was billed to start before 12:30, but owing to a misunderstanding on the part of the Eugene children there was a delay that spoiled the order of the line.

The parade was led by the float containing nearly every child in the Coast Fork district, and following this was the band. Then marched the Springfield schools, 350 strong. Mount Vernon followed with nearly a complete attendance, and then for three blocks or more marched the Eugene children with several other districts that had been mixed. The small children marched as proudly as any grand army on labor day was in an inspiring sight.

Cup Awards Made
The Junction City Women's Improvement club won the Great Northern cup for the best display of fruits, and the Irving Grange won the other Hill cup for the best display of grains and grasses. For play of grains and grasses, the judges went to go all over the exhibits for the second time. They finished their work this morning.

Spelling Contest
The spelling contest held in the Eugene High school building today under the auspices of the county fair resulted as follows:

Division A—Blanche Brown, of Springfield East Side school, first; Birdie Spencer, Springfield, West Side school, second.

Division B—Jan Campbell, Condon school, Eugene, first; Dora Nelson, Oak Hill school, second.

LORIMER HEARING IN PROGRESS AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Basing his rulings on the decision of the senate in the case of Senator George E. Spencer, in Alabama in 1876, Chairman Burrows today barred hearsay evidence from the Lorimer hearing.

$1000 for His Vote
Chicago, Sept. 26.—State Representative Charles A. White, of O'Fallon, Ill., was the first witness to take the stand today in the investigation into the election in the United States Senate by William Lorimer, by the senatorial sub-committee on elections and privileges. Six of the seven members of the committee were present when his examination was begun by Attorney Austrian, representing the Chicago Tribune, in printing White's story, brought on the investigation.

White, after giving his name and address, and saying he was duly legislator, identified letters he said had been sent him by Lee O'Neil Browne, asking White's help in establishing Browne's position as minority leader in the lower house. The witness then began to tell of his relations with Browne.

Senator Lorimer was on hand early with his attorney, Elbridge Haney, Attorney P. H. O'Donnell, who represented Browne in the latter's two trials, on charges of bribery, sat beside Attorney Haney. Attorney Austrian and Clifford W. Barnes, of the Legislative Voters' League sat on opposite sides of the room.

After an executive session, the hearing was opened, and Chairman Burrows was informed counsel had not agreed upon the submission of the legislature's voting record in lieu of summoning the house clerk, but would do so shortly.

White, on direct examination by Attorney Austrian, declared he had been asked by Browne to help him get Lorimer, and that Browne had told him he would receive $1000 for his help. The testimony was the same as had been given by White in his two trials of Browne.

PERMANENT JOBS FOR MANY MORE OFFICIALS

Washington, Sept. 27.—The most definite result of the present cabinet sessions in Washington was the announcement today that President Taft tomorrow would issue an executive order extending the civil service to include all assistant postmasters. The president will also recommend to congress that second and third class postmasters be placed under civil service. This action is in line with Postmaster-General Hitchcock's recommendations. By tomorrow some 5000 assistant postmasters will be affected by the order.

Limit on Borrowing
In order to prevent corporations, firms and individuals from borrowing to the extent of their credit in their home cities and then negotiating elsewhere and doing the same, the comptroller of the currency has decided upon the establishment of a central credit bureau in Washington, in which shall be recorded all such borrowings from national banks.

BIG DISPLAY FROM LANE COUNTY TO PORTLAND

Portland, Sept. 27.—The most magnificent display of products from Lane county to be seen in Portland since the war, is being shown at the Commercial Club building. The exhibit, having contributed to the collective exhibit of the granges and others directly and indirectly have an interest in it.

The lot being sent down will do a great deal to advertise the county among the thousands of housewives from the Middle West and East, taking advantage of the colonist rates.

The promotion department of the Commercial Club is boxing a large amount of grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables and other products which were on display at the county fair last week, and will send them to once to the Lane county exhibit in the Chamber of Commerce building in Portland. The exhibit there will be greatly added to and improved with the addition of these articles, which were selected by F. W. Graham, industrial and immigration agent of the Great Northern railway. The samples selected by Mr. Graham include the following:

Wheat, beardless barley, oats and other cereal products from a collection of exhibits by the Irving and Springfield granges; apples displayed here by H. B. Chitt, L. Jensen, H. C. Bushnell, F. L. Waite, P. J. Moser.

DARING AVIATOR SUCCEUMBS TO INJURIES

Milan, Sept. 27.—A message from Domodossola says that Chaves, the daring Peruvian aviator, died from injuries received when crossing the Alps in a balloon.

Paris, Sept. 27.—Hubert Latham made a trial flight in a new one-hundred horse power monoplane, constructed for the International aviation meet at Belmont Park. The machine developed a speed of from sixty to seventy miles an hour without the full power of the engines being used.

ROOSEVELT WINS VICTORY OVER OLD GUARD

Saratoga, Sept. 27.—Colonel Roosevelt was elected temporary chairman of the republican state convention today.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—General Roosevelt, heavy-weight champion of America and Africa, the "Smiling Jim" Sherman, the demagogue, both members of the old guard who will now entertain you with a fight to a finish. In "Fighting the Old Guard" Roosevelt, the "Smiling Jim" Sherman, the demagogue, both members of the old guard who will now entertain you with a fight to a finish. In "Fighting the Old Guard" Roosevelt, the "Smiling Jim" Sherman, the demagogue, both members of the old guard who will now entertain you with a fight to a finish.

AT THE WEEK END

At the week end my little holiday is over and I turn the key in the lock, swing open the door and step into the daily grind once more. Four walls, I greet you! There is a look I like upon your familiar faces. I am at home.

Old chair, I had forgotten how irreproachably you fit me. I must have been in a nasty temper when I went away. Vacation seemed a silly thing for a grown-up man—a lone, lorn bachelor man who finds a dozen demands for every dollar he can fetch from an unyielding world. I recall that I tramped back and forth from the open closet to the open suitcase with the stupid trousers, the long black coat, the light gray suit and summer overcoat, and envisioned the march by monotonously repeating the inspiring word:

Work—work—work.
To earn the stuff
To take the trip
To rest the bones
To make you fit
For work—work—work.
"Vacation," I thought, as I lugged the suitcase down the stairs, "vacation, vacancy, vacillation, vacuity!"

I am forever indebted to the good friend who turned me from the road and sent me to the farm house in the hills.

I knew as soon as my head touched the substantial pillow and my eyes closed in dreamless sleep that there are real things in the world—not investments and accounts and banks, but the breeze that drifted from fir-laden mountains across the fresh stubble-field and into my window, and the rush and roar of the little stream as it tumbled down from the hills and smoothed out my tangled worries. And in the morning I awoke without the aid of an alarm clock, or rattle of dishes, or discord of voices.

On Sunday the good host and his better wife took me to the country church. The carpet was red, the woodwork was Nile-green, the benches were Nile-green, the benches were Nile-green, the benches were Nile-green.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC TERRORIZES NAPLES

Rome, Sept. 27.—With the removal of the censorship, startling details of the cholera epidemic at Naples are received. The number of persons who have died in the city is such that the police have great difficulty in maintaining order. It is reported that one hundred thousand of the wealthier classes have already fled from Naples.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLANS ROAD TO CALIFORNIA

Will Tap Lakeview and Afford Another Route to Los Angeles

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 22.—Contracts have been let for the railroad between Fernley and Lassen, in the northeastern part of the state, which railroad will eventually be extended into Lakeview and Klamath Falls. This will afford a new southern route all the way to Los Angeles.

Erickson & Peterson have secured the contract for the 109 miles of railroad. The same contractors are now building a large section of the Southern Pacific cut-off in Placer county. Two hundred carloads of rails and great quantities of ties and other materials are being unloaded at Wadsworth and Fernley, and construction equipment is being taken there in big shipments. The Fernley and Lassen will be run from Fernley, near Wadsworth, southwesterly through Wadsworth, Nevada, and Lassen county, California, touching at Susanville.

Over other roads yet to be constructed it will reach the Sacramento valley at Chico or Yuba, and will reach Klamath Falls, Or., Alturas, Modoc county, and Lakeview, Or. Surveys for all these routes have been made and companies have been incorporated. Over this road and the Oregon Southeastern, now building between Natron and Klamath Falls, a new north and south route will be made from Portland to Los Angeles, and Portland will have shorter connection with the Central Pacific.

NEWS OF COBURG AND VICINITY

Mrs. C. O. Smith and family left Tuesday for their new home in Eugene.

Rus Coleman and family returned the first of the week from a visit at the state fair and also a short visit with relatives near Salem.

The Misses Alma and Jessie Frum spent Thursday in Eugene enjoying the county fair and the circus.

Rev. H. A. Van Winkle, of Eugene, made very pleasant calls on friends of Coburg Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

M. S. Lyon and wife, late of Tacoma, Wash., were in Coburg Wednesday, returning to Eugene Thursday, where they will make their home for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon are old acquaintances of Mr. Crandall and family, they having known each other in Minnesota.—Journal.

WALTERVILLE ITEMS

Special Correspondence.
Walterville, Sept. 21.—Miss Fannie Millican has gone to Eugene to commence her work as teacher in the Geary school.

Misses Claire and Edith Stacy were to have gone to Creswell this week to begin their school work there, but received word that the school was postponed two weeks, waiting for the completion of the new school building. Miss Claire has the seventh and eighth grades, and Miss Edith the fifth and sixth grades.

Mr. and Mrs. Page spent a few days at the state fair at Salem.

Miss Irene Brownson is visiting at her home here. Everyone is glad to see her.

Mr. Henry Thomson, of Portland, has been visiting his parents and sister, Mrs. Brownson here. He has gone to Vida to visit his old home and his two brothers, Cary and Theron.

Miss Jeannie Cuthbertson visited her sister Mrs. Knower a few days last week then returned to Eugene.

The Walterville Union church has been plastered and the contractor, Mr. Fred Smith, will finish it as soon as he has the roof on Mr. Crawford's residence.

The Y. P. S. C. E. had a very enjoyable social last Thursday evening at the V. G. W. hall. There were booths devoted to candy, popcorn, lunches. A closed booth for the fortune teller also one for the animal show. The young people did very well clearing over twenty-five dollars. This is for the church.

Mr. Carl Ryckman moved his family to town today. Miss Madge had to be in for school.

Miss Laurel Inman has gone to Brownsville to teach.

Mr. Crawford is putting up a commodious and comfortable dwelling.

Mr. Walt Miller's new residence is nearing completion.

Mr. Dever had word from his son and daughter who are in Wyoming that they had a really truly snow storm there August 25th. It began to snow at 10 o'clock a. m. and snowed till 5 o'clock p. m. There was ice one half inch thick on the streams of water in the mountains in Oregon, only think what might have been.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peplot have come to Walterville to live in Mr. Fred Easton's house and to care for Mr. Easton's little daughter Cora.

Miss Ada Farnham has gone to Eugene to work at dress making.

Miss Myrtle Farnham will teach at Camp creek and Miss Grace Farnham at Hayden's Bridge.

COLONEL HARBAUGH NAMED FOR CONSTABLE BY REPUBLICANS

R. S. Bryson, the present incumbent, has been re-nominated by the republicans for justice of the peace of the Eugene district, he having no opposition. Col. J. J. Harbaugh, 11; West 2, 12; West 3, 30; West 4, 6; Fairmount, 23; total, 158.

Plank—East 1, 5; East 2, 15; East 3, 12; East 4, 6; West 1, 9; West 2, 17; West 3, 13; West 4, 1; Fairmount, 10; total, 89.

Thompson—East 1, 8; East 2, 15; East 3, 17; East 4, 15; West 1, 11; West 2, 12; West 3, 26; West 4, 6; Fairmount, 8; total, 115.

6 in block 3 of South Florence add. to Glenada, $120.

George M. Hawley to Jerry Cochran et ux; 1 acre in D. L. of S. O. Martin near Creswell, $10.

Lars Hansen to E. M. Jackson; block 74 of Junction City, $550.

Fitzhugh G. Lee et ux to E. M. Jackson; blocks 73, 77 and 78 in Junction City; also 3 acres in sec. 32-15-4 W., $24.50.

E. M. Jackson to John Lutz; block 73, 74, 77 and 78 in Junction City; also 3 acres in sec. 32-15-4 W., $3000.

Ambrose L. Woodard to N. W. White; NW 1/4 of NW 1/4 of sec. 22-21-3 W., $10. Also 14.24 acres in sec. 21-21-3 W., $10.

A. C. Hardin et ux to Robert Sidlany et ux; 2 in Casandria E. G. Delany's add. to Coburg, $1.

C. H. Bollin to School Dist. 141; 1 acre in twp. 19-2 W., $1.

ARRANGING FOR GAS AND ELECTRIC IMPROVEMENTS

Manager Spencer, of Northwestern Corporation, Returns From a Trip to Portland

Manager Spencer, of the local office of the Northwestern Corporation, returned last night from a several days' business trip to Portland. He made the trip to confer with officials of the company in regard to the large gas plant and electric improvements that are to be made by this company in Eugene and Springfield. While he was there, orders were sent to Chicago for the transformers and equipment for three sub-stations for the big transmission line, now under construction between Eugene and Albany. There will be a sub-station each at Eugene, Springfield and Albany, as well as the smaller ones at Harburg and Junction City. The three large ones for the cities will each contain 500 kilowatt transformers, while the small stations will be equipped with the same number of 25 kilowatt voltage reducers. This is only part of the large amount of equipment that will be ordered and built for the big electrical power plant that will be installed at Springfield early in January when the big 2000 kilowatt turbine generator is placed beside the two turbines now in use.

C. F. HURLBURT SELLS OUT AT MEDFORD

J. C. Mann, for 25 years a business man of St. Paul, Minn., has just purchased the store of C. F. Hurlburt that he was preparing to open in the Baker-Hutchinson block at Medford.

The new store will be conducted along modern lines. Up-to-date lines of notions, dry goods and ready-to-wear garments will be carried and sold at popular prices.

Mr. Mann heard of Medford while on a recent tour of the West, stopped to see the town and decided to stay. He is a hustler, as is shown by his determination to hold an opening Friday afternoon.

C. F. Hurlburt, who has been in very poor health, regrets having to leave Medford and recommends the new "Mann" very highly.

L. F. Ferguson, the able manager for Mr. Hurlburt, in his recent sale, will remain with the new store.—Mail-Tribune.

DR. BELL'S ANTI-PAIN For Internal and External Pains.

LEADER OF G. A. R. PRAISES SOLDIERS OF SOUTH

Atlantic City, Sept. 22.—With a fine tribute to the soldiers of the confederacy, Commander-in-Chief R. Van Sant, of Minnesota, today formally opened the business session of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The commander spoke earnestly as he expressed fraternalism between the "blue and gray." When he said that no braver troops were ever marshaled for conflict than the Southern soldiers and that union veterans now realize that no men ever made greater sacrifices for what they believed to be right than their former foes, the commander was vociferously applauded.

Many matters affecting the welfare of the grand army veterans will come before the encampment and an effort will be made to have the lowest pensions increased.

Gilman Elected
John E. Gilman, of Boston, was elected commander in chief of the G. A. R. for the coming year. John McElroy, of Washington, D. C., the only other candidate, withdrew before the balloting began.

Increased Pensions

The pension committee condemned as too great a burden on the government the proposition to pension Union veterans $1 a day during life. The report recommends that the widows of veterans receive increased pension; also advocates that pensions of veterans above 70 years be increased.

In many of the precincts the election boards sealed up all the supplies in the ballot boxes after they were through counting. The law requires that only the counted ballots shall go in the boxes. Every year the county clerk has trouble on this account. The only thing to do to get the tally sheets and other articles that are supposed to be left out of the box is to assemble the canvassing board and break the seal of the box, make affidavit that such was done, then re-seal box in the usual way, leaving nothing but the ballots. County Clerk Lee says the returns are in worse shape this year than they have ever been since he has held office.

ADMISSION FREE
Museum of Anatomy
Open Free to Men

All men visiting Portland should see this.

MUSEUM OF ANATOMY and gallery of scientific wonders. Man, know thyself. Life-size anatomical illustrations of the human body, showing the body in health and disease, and many natural subjects. Very interesting and instructive.

WE ARE SPECIALISTS IN MEN'S DISEASES

We Cure Blood, Skin and Private Diseases, Wasting Drains, Nervous Debility, Kidney, Bladder and Prostate Gland Disorders and All Ailments of Men.

CONSULT OR WRITE US FREE. CURES GUARANTEED.

If you cannot call, write for FREE BOOK and self-examination blank. Many cases cured at home. Correspondence confidential.

Hours—9 to 8 daily; 10 to 12 Sundays.

OREGON MEDICAL INSTITUTE PORTLAND, OREGON

ROUTINE PROCEEDINGS

The republican state convention today elected Colonel Theodore Roosevelt temporary chairman over Vice-President Sherman, and the fight which was waged for weeks ended at least for the time being.

The old guard found its forces weakened by the inroads of progressives and it was known, even before the convention was called to order, that the colonel had the temporary chairmanship in his hand. The appearance of Roosevelt brought forth tremendous applause and as Vice-President Sherman took his seat in the convention hall it was renewed with vigor. William Barnes, Jr., the old guard leader, also came in for much applause.

Chairman Woodruff called the convention to order and announced that the first business would be the selection of temporary chairman. Woodruff delivered a brief address, in which he expressed the wishes of President Taft that Mr. Sherman be made temporary chairman, as he could be the representative of and speak for the administration. Woodruff stated that no other name had been presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to the policies which would hereafter guide the destinies of the republican party, and was presented to the committee, until Mr. Griscorn sitting in the committee as a proxy, moved to substitute another name, that of Roosevelt, who desired an opportunity to present his views as to