TWO HORS OVERALLS

MADE BY LEVI STRAUSS & CO.

every garment guaranteed

Arrivals have not been so heavy and trade in both veal and hogs has been late. Former prices prevail generally.

California Grapes Higher.
A fractional advance is being noted on California grapes in the local market. Best Tokays and Corvasons are selling up to $1.25 a crate, while blacks are ranging around $1.

Tomato Market Slow.
Market for tomatoes are rather slow at this time. Offerings are liberal but most of the supplies have been hurt by recent showers.

PORTLAND LIVE STOCK MARKET
One load of hogs of 224 pounds averaging sold in the stockyards at $9.85 or practically the same price as obtainable Saturday. This is 15c over the quotations obtained during the early trading of yesterday. However, heavier stuff was offered at that time and the trade does not seem for this class of hogs just now. What it needs is buyers and less hard stuff.

Other sales of hogs were made this morning at $9.75 for stuff that averaged 212 pounds.

There was a fair run of cattle to the yards today, a somewhat showing of hogs and no sheep.

Some cow and calf sales came from the principal country.

CATTLE—Best Oregon steers, $5.50; fancy steers, $5.25; common steers, $4.00 to $5.00; cows, $3.25 to $4.25; fancy, $4.00; poor, $3.00 to $3.25; heifers, $4.50; bulls, $2.00 to $3.25; steers, $2.75 to $4.25.

HOGS—Best east of the mountain, $9.75 to $9.85; ordinary, 9.50 to 9.65; streakers and feeders, $9.00 to $9.50; best western, $9.00 to $9.25; Williams' valley, $4.50 to $5.00; eastern Washington, $5.25 to $5.50; $3.00 to $3.50.

CALVES—Best, $7.00 to $7.10; ordinary, $6.50; poor, $2.50 to $3.00.

Portland Market Quotations.

lal report of the potato output in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Colorado, Sam Broadus, the potato expert, estimates a shortage in the above named states of 10 to 15 per cent from the normal output.
Growers' ideas of the potato shortage along the Pacific coast are widely out of line with actual conditions. Mr. Broadus reports to The Journal. The shortage in the Pacific slope states will reach from 10 to 15 per cent, while growers expected a much more serious shortage. While it is true that general potato conditions along the Pacific slope were "knocked out" last August and that Colorado did not have prospects better than 60 per cent of a crop, the weather during September was so good that enormous growth was made.
Fancy Potatoes Very Scarce.
While there is a very good crop of potatoes generally along the coast, the growth is principally of poor California. For instance, while the cooking quality of Oregon potatoes has a claim to secure a stiff price for its best potatoes, but there are so few of these grown the present season that they can scarcely be considered. Therefore, with a normal crop of elevens in California, and a shortage in the fancy goods, Oregon will not benefit by the latter because it will have practically no offer.
Washington Not a Factor.
The state of Washington is not a factor in the potato market of the Pacific slope. The few potatoes grown in that state are shipped out of its borders and therefore the short there is not to be seriously considered except as it may sell for outside stock. This is impracticable.
Hop Business Quiet.
Business has slowed down considerably in the hop market. This is not because of any lessening in the demand but owing to the firm's holding up by the growers. Only a few lots of hops were sold yesterday, and they were at the prices lately current.
Some scarcity was reported in the Yamhill market. Guy Grafton bought the Clements and Slavin crops of 160 bales and Knott Bros. secured the Alm and Knox Bros. crops of 230 bales in this state. Bishop & Daniels have bought the Dr. Cook lot of 54 bales at McMillanville.
California vines reported that Sacramento, Yolo and Russia river hops could be bought at 10 cents. The Waterville Times of October 14 said of the New York market:
"There has been considerable buying here during the week and from 400 to 500 bales have been purchased. Choice grades continue to be in demand by all buyers and business has been done largely in this grade at from 20 to 24 cents per pound. The low grades are neglected, but the growers of these poorer qualities are offering them more freely. One of the largest lots of hops grown in this state sold this week was that of Fred Terry, of Sangerfield, consisting of 92 bales."
Poultry Is Hard To Move
The poultry market was a stagnant affair yesterday. Receipts were larger and the demand almost at a standstill. Chickens of all kinds were offered as low as 15 cents. This is the time of year when poultry arrivals are always heavy and for the next few weeks an easy market can be expected.
Eggs were held firmly at 37 1/2 cents for the best Oregon and very few were to be had. Eastern eggs were steady and unchanged.
The butter market was steady at the old prices. Cheese was quoted unchanged.
Wheat Is Slow
Business has practically come to a stop in the wheat market. No trading was reported locally yesterday and advices from the Sound and Eastern Washington points were of dull market. The cut in prices made by exporters and other dealers has met with no response in the country in the way of selling, the farmers refusing to accept the reduction. Some of the country bankers, however, are investigating the market conditions and as a consequence it would occasion no surprise in the trade if a larger selling movement were to develop soon.
It is the weakness of the European situation that is depressing all the world's market. The enormous marketing of wheat, especially by Russia and the Danubian ports, is steadily carrying prices in Western Europe downward. London cables yesterday quoted Walla Walla cargoes dull and 6d lower at 37s, and the English speculative markets were also off.
Eggs Are Higher.
Strictly fresh ranch eggs are quoted as high as 37c a dozen in the Front street market today but some dealers continue to quote 36c. Most of the sales are around 36c. Receipts of strictly fancy local ranch are limited.
Dressed Meat: Are Steady.
Dressed meat market is steady.
