HOW HE LOVES THE PRIMARY LAW

The editor of the Register was the secretary of the meeting of Republican newspapermen held in Portland at the time stated, and it is true that Editors Hofer, Kennedy and one other walked out of the convention because they could not accept the plan of procedure adopted unanimously by the 25 other editors present. But what that convention of editors did and what the evening paper says it did are quite two different things. When the evening paper says these editors agreed to support only assembly candidates it states that which is absolutely untrue.—Morning Register.

Well, as the meeting referred to was held behind closed doors, it would be hard for an outsider to get an accurate report of the proceedings. We took the Oregonian as authority, and as that paper was in sympathy with the assembly movement, it is naturally to be presumed that it did not misrepresent its brethren. The Oregonian says that Hofer, Kennedy, Stewart and one or two more editors walked out of the convention rather than subscribe to a resolution pledging support to the assembly candidates. This Oregonian report was generally accepted at the time, and this is the first denial made, coming several weeks after the meeting was held. The report of the meeting given by the editor of the morning paper simply raises a question of veracity with the Oregonian, whose reporter, we are told, simply lied about his assembly brethren. This being so, it is not made clear why Hofer, Kennedy and those other anti-assemblyites walked out of the meeting—probably they were dry and wanted to "see a man" outside just at that particular moment.

Of course the editor of the Register is a staunch defender of the primary law and an enemy of the assembly idea—he says so now, on the eve of election, and that necessarily makes it so. Strange how this same editor happened to say in his paper on the 24th of last month that the primary law actually disenfranchises thousands of voters. His exact language was as follows:

There are several thousand voters in Oregon who will now believe that the letter and spirit of the direct primary law is for maintenance of political organizations, in harmony with the preamble to that law. We refer to those who registered as independents and were prohibited from voting at the primaries where only Democrats and Republicans were recognized as legal voters. The law actually disenfranchises thousands of voters in Oregon at the primaries, and this in the face of the fact that the said primary law is framed for the ostensible purpose of giving us people's rule in politics.

On the 3d of September, little more than a month ago, the same editor complained that only rich men could get a nomination under the direct primary law. Possibly that is why Bowerman won out—he has the richest railroad corporation on earth backing him, or at least he is its attorney, and rides on an annual pass issued by it. Here is the exact language used by the Register on that subject:

Idaho has just held its primary election and reports from there state that one candidate spent $75,000 and another $60,000 to secure nomination for office. This, added to what they will spend later in an effort to be finally elected, will make a pretty penny for each, and indicates that, as in Oregon, the direct primary is not capable of keeping a rich man from buying his way into office, and in this respect at least is no better than the old method of election.

On September 8 the editor of the same paper stated that only "ring-tailed leaders" were "hollering" against the assembly. It asserts that all this talk in favor of the direct primary and about ring politics is "cant and hypocrisy." Following are the editor's words.

When the ring-tailed ringers of the political ring in Oregon holler against the assembly, papers like the Portland Journal pat them on the back. As a striking instance note the laudation of Brownell, McGinn and Malarky. If this same trio had been mixed up in the assembly, we would never have heard the last of the howl about "return to ring politics" from the Journal. Such political cant and hypocrisy.

After swallowing all this stuff, and columns more, printed only last month, expressing the same sentiments, the readers of the morning paper are now no doubt duly impressed with the sincerity of the Register in its championship of the direct primary and popular rule at this time.

THE LEOPARD'S SPOTS HAVE CHANGED

During most of last month—September—the morning Register carried at the head of its editorial page the following ticket:

- COUNTY ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES
- Senator—W. W. Calkins, Eugene.
 - Representative—J. B. Cushman, Acme.
 - A. H. Eaton, Eugene.
 - W. M. Sutton, Springfield.
 - County Judge—Helmus W. Thompson.
 - County Commissioner—W. L. Wheeler.
 - County Clerk—J. T. Nicklin.
 - County Sheriff—W. S. Moon.
 - County Treasurer—S. W. Taylor.
 - County Surveyor—C. M. Collier.
 - County Coroner—W. T. Gordon.

On September 4 this paper endorsed the ticket above, and the assembly movement in the following editorial:

A delegated body of Lane Republicans met in adjourned assembly at the court house Saturday and completed the work begun in the July assembly by adopting a platform and recommending to the people who sent them to the assembly a list of candidates for the various county and legislative offices to be filled at the November election.

This is in conformity with the general plan of action throughout the state as agreed upon by a representative body of Republicans. It is still fresh in the public mind that an assembly was held in Portland on July 21 and 22, attended by 1209 delegates, who offered to the voters of the state a splendid list of candidates for the offices to be filled, and a number of which candidates have been accepted by the people without opposition in the party ranks, no anti-assembly candidates coming out against them, thus demonstrating the fact that the thinking Republicans of the state see the necessity for organization and a getting together of Republican forces for the good of the state and of the party.

In the assembly held in Lane county by the delegates sent therefrom by the voters themselves, there was united effort to recommend to the people the very best men to be had for the different offices, and how well they have performed that important duty will be shown when the primary votes are counted after the election on September 24.

Now the same morning paper has "fopped" and professes to be a champion of the direct primary law. I still carries the same ticket, with two or three minor changes, at the head of its editorial columns, but has changed the "Assembly Candidates" heading to the following:

- REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET
- Direct Primary Nominations
 - Senator—W. W. Calkins.

- Representatives—J. B. Cushman, Allen H. Eaton, W. M. Sutton.
- Clerk—Stacey Russell.
- Sheriff—W. S. Moon.
- Judge—H. W. Thompson.
- Treasurer—S. W. Taylor.
- Commissioner—H. J. Hemphill.
- Surveyor—C. M. Collier.
- Coroner—W. T. Gordon.

There are only two anti-assembly candidates on this ticket—the nominees for clerk and commissioner.

ANTI-ASSEMBLY STATEMENT ONE LEGISLATIVE TICKET

- For Joint Senator from Lane and Linn Counties—Isaac H. Bingham, of Eugene.
- For State Senator from Lane—M. M. Peery, of Springfield.
- For Representatives—Charles N. Griswold, of Eugene; David R. Hill, of Junction; D. M. Kemp, of Florence.

ANOTHER FLANAGAN HAS ARISEN!

M. J. Duryea has a long letter in the morning paper advising Republicans to "vote 'er straight," and make sure that the hungry Democrats are kept out of the offices which, he maintains, belong not to the people but to the Republican party. The writer of this letter recalls the memorable incident on the floor of a national convention when Flanagan, of Texas, electrified his fellow delegates by exclaiming: "To hell with the platform—it's the offices we're here for!"

Mr. Duryea is evidently a political Rip Van Winkle, who has not yet got his eyes rubbed open, and fails to realize that voters no longer make a fetish of party name and fall down and worship at its shrine. They have come to realize that decent government is more to be desired than the success of any partisan candidate or organization. President Roosevelt sent members of his cabinet into Ohio and Pennsylvania to make speeches against the regular Republican candidates, because he declares that every good Republican should be more interested in defeating the rascals in his own party than in any other party. William Lorimer was a Republican senator but Mr. Roosevelt refused to associate with him because he was a briber of legislatures, and a representative of the machine in politics. Had Mr. Duryea lived in Illinois instead of Oregon, we presume his letter would have appeared in the papers there, urging Republicans to "vote 'er straight" for Bill Lorimer.

The Oregon situation is akin to that in Maine before the last election. The Republican machine drove the party voters to revolt because they refused to recognize the wishes of the people. "Assemblyism" and other schemes of the party machine are having the same effect in this state, and the best Republicans are the most likely to punish the self-constituted leaders by bolting the assembly candidates at the polls.

Great was Flanagan, of Texas. Duryea, of Oregon, is his disciple!

ANTI-ASSEMBLY, DIRECT PRIMARY TICKET

Since there is a spurious "direct primary ticket" being published in Lane county, it is in order to give a list of the candidates who really opposed the assembly, or convention system, and who have stood loyally by the direct primary law. These candidates are the only ones with a clean record in this respect, are:

- Joint Senator, Lane and Linn—Isaac H. Bingham.
- State Senator—M. M. Peery.
- Representatives—Charles N. Griswold, David R. Hill, D. M. Kemp.
- County Clerk—Creed C. Hammond and Stacey M. Russell.
- Sheriff—Harry L. Bown.
- County Judge—J. G. Stevenson.
- County Treasurer—John M. Howe.
- County Commissioner—Robert J. Hemphill.
- H. A. Cox.
- County Surveyor—Ralph B. Hunt.

OPEN LETTER TO

JAY BOWERMAN

An Albany paper prints the following open letter to Jay Bowerman, assembly nominee for governor:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 15th inst., asking my support in the coming election, has been received and the contents carefully noted. In that letter you say that you are the republican direct primary candidate for governor. Technically that may be true, but not in accord with the spirit and intent of the primary law. Had you failed to get the nomination of that iniquitous gathering of political bosses and corporation attorneys that met on the 21st day of July at the armory in Portland, would you have obtained the nomination at the primary election? I think not. Again, if you had expressed the same sentiment in that assembly that you do in your letter to me, would that body have given you its endorsement? How would the following language of yours have sounded in the historic assemblage? "Statement No. 1 is a part of the primary law. I have heretofore publicly stated and hereby state again that I will oppose by every means within my power any effort to amend, modify or appeal, or in any other manner render any less useful or less satisfactory any part of the direct primary law, including Statement No. 1."

Were you required to take this obligation in the assembly? I think not.

You seem to have the agility of a political acrobat. Your opponent, Mr. West, is a candidate of direct primary according to the spirit and the intent of the law. He is not a plurality or minority candidate, or dubbed with the mud of the assembly, hence my reason for not supporting you.
