

DEMOCRATIC TIDAL WAVE SWEEPS EVERYTHING BEFORE IT IN MANY EASTERN STATES

The sweep of the political tidal wave which rolled over the country is further emphasized by additional returns and revised figures at hand. The Democratic majority in the house will be at least 42, and possibly more, as compared with the present Republican majority of 43.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The democrats have elected 221 and the republicans 157 members of the house of congressmen. Socialist elected 1. Total, 381. Gain: Democrats, 55; republicans, 6; net gain, democrats, 49.

O.E. TO BUILD TO EUGENE INSIDE OF YEAR

President Stevens Says Contracts May Be Let This Winter

WILL ALSO COMPLETE UNITED RAILWAYS LINE

Short Extensions to Small Towns Off Main Line Will Be Served by Feders

Portland, Nov. 9.—Within a year probably, or 18 months at the outside, electric trains will be in operation between Portland and Eugene and between Portland and Tillamook.

This assurance was given yesterday by John F. Stevens, president of the Oregon Electric company and the United Railways.

"We shall endeavor to complete the United Railways to Tillamook and the Oregon Electric to Eugene within one year," said Mr. Stevens, "and to do so will probably require the awarding of some contracts this winter. At the present rate of progress on the United Railways, however, it may require 18 months to complete the Tillamook line."

Mr. Stevens added that Oregon Trunk work in central Oregon south and east of Bend in the near future would depend on the general financial situation in the East.

Many Extensions Planned More than 200 miles of extensions are definitely planned for the Oregon Electric and United Railways, involving an expenditure of $7,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The Eugene road will be an extension of the road now in operation between Portland and Salem and will also serve Albany. McKinville is to be reached by a road branching from the main line near Tualatin or Wilsonville and running via Newberg.

The extension to Eugene will require the construction of 71 miles of railroad and the length of the McMinnville line will be approximately 30 miles.

In addition to these two trunk lines, about 100 miles of short lines or feeders are to be constructed, reaching numerous points in the Willamette valley between Portland and Eugene. Routes for these lighter lines have been practically settled upon by the company, but construction will necessarily be deferred pending the completion of the main roads to the principal cities of the valley.

Brooklyn Lawyer Has Big Job Bossing 10,000 Policemen

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"What do you think of a lawyer trying to boss 10,000 coppers?" demanded a disgruntled policeman of Greater New York. "He is in for a fine time of it." When Mayor Gaynor selected James C. Crosey, a Brooklyn lawyer, as police commissioner of New York city the members of the force gasped with surprise. It takes more than a commander to be chief of the army of bluecoats in New York city. If he only had to deal with the directing of the men it would be a simple problem, but political parties have a good deal to say how a police force shall be run, and that is where Mr. Crosey is going to hit the snags. It is claimed. Still, the police commissioner of New York is a big job. It even leads to the White House. That is where Colonel Roosevelt broke into the limelight of publicity—when he first gained country wide fame. He was the police commissioner of New York city when the force was not as large as it now is, but grafting was supposed to hold greater sway, if such a thing is possible. Even Roosevelt's greatest enemies concede that he did much for the police force, and he won lifelong friends when he directed the bluecoats. Mr. Crosey is forty-six years of age and is a member of a famous Brooklyn family. He made good as a lawyer, but his job as police commissioner is before him.

CONSERVATION OF "TEETOTALER" AS BABIES IS THEME OF LORD MAYOR OF LONDON

Alleged That Nation Pays More Attention to Pigs Than Human Offspring

Baltimore, Nov. 9.—Are babies worth saving? To give an affirmative answer to this question, which has been repeatedly asked by physicians and scientists who have pointed out that the nation pays more attention to the conservation and welfare of pigs than to human babies, is the object of the first annual meeting of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, which was convened here today. A program touching on many matters of great importance has been prepared, covering three days, and some of the leading medical men, humanitarians and social settlement workers of the land are here and will deliver addresses.

Amazing statistics as to "the slaughter of the innocents" through ignorance, lack of proper attention, food and clothing, are given. It is asserted that at least half of the deaths in infancy are preventable. Plans for federal, state and municipal work along these lines will be mapped out by experts and there will also be sessions devoted to medical, educational and philanthropic prevention. Dr. William H. Welch, professor of pathology at Johns Hopkins University Medical School, is presiding. Educators of many other universities and medical schools are present.

An interesting exhibition is a feature of the convention, including the milk work of municipal health departments, clothing for infants, diet, and other displays. It is stated that the new organization will not limit its membership to physicians and these actually engaging in the work of preventing infant mortality, but will welcome all people who believe it is the duty of the nation, the state and the city to take part in the work of keeping babies alive and improving their chances to grow to healthy maturity.

It is pointed out that the national government spends vast sums in investigating and spreading information about the breeding, raising and care of cattle, horses, hogs and other domestic animals. It is held that the baby crop is equally, if not more, worthy of attention.

London, Nov. 9.—Sir Vezey Strong, the first "teetotal" chief magistrate of the metropolis in the 700 years' history of the office, was formally inaugurated as Lord Mayor of London today. New mayors were installed today in all the cities and towns of England, and many quaint ceremonies and revivals of ancient customs marked the ceremonies.

Exercises of the usual character, including a pageant, marked the induction into office of Sir Vezey Strong. A banquet "to entertain His Majesty's ministers" will be held tonight, at which the new mayor will drink the health of King George—in ginger or lemonade.

The new Lord Mayor is fifty-three years of age and is a self-made man. He was knighted while occupying the office of sheriff in the city of London. He is famed throughout the empire for his opposition to liquor and is director of the United Kingdom Temperance and General Provident Institution. The Lord Mayor will figure prominently in the ceremonies attendant upon the coronation of King George next June.

Sir Vezey was asked to pledge himself to refrain from attending in state any but Protestant religious services, but refused to commit himself, declaring that, although personally a Protestant, he is as much the official representative of the Catholics as of the Anglicans. He explained that it was quite conceivable that during the term of his mayoralty a foreign king might die, and that Catholic services for that monarch might be held at the Embassy in London. Under such circumstances, he declared, it would be absurd to refuse to attend such services because they were conducted by a clergyman of another faith.

"If circumstance rendered such attendance desirable," declared Sir Vezey, "I would attend any service, from one in a Roman Catholic cathedral or Buddhist temple to one in the barracks of the Salvation Army. All religions are true to their worshippers, and, if I think they are wrong, I will never convert them to my way of thinking by treating them with scorn and disrespect."

This argument was considered sufficient by the councilmen, and the demand for the pledge was withdrawn.

OSWALD WEST'S SELECTION AS THE GOVERNOR OF OREGON IS CONCEDED AS CERTAINTY

Portland, Nov. 9.—Sixty-seven precincts out of 182 in Multnomah county give Bowerman, Rep., for governor, 3062; West, 3013. The Democrats still claim the county for West by 1000, and West has a good lead in the state, and there is no doubt of his election.

The Oregonian places his majority at 4000 in the state. Returns are very slow, and many precincts will not finish counting today.

Portland, Or., Nov. 9.—Incomplete returns at noon from thirteen counties in Oregon, outside of Multnomah, give for congressman of the first district: Hawley, republican, incumbent, 2762; Smith, democrat, 2087.

For congressman second district: Lafferty, republican, 2100; Manning, democrat, 1202. For governor: Bowerman, republican, 4688; West, democrat, 5406. For supreme judge, six year term: Burnett, republican, 3282; Moore, republican and non-partisan, 2761; King, democrat and non-partisan, 2516. Burnett and Moore are undoubtedly elected.

For supreme judge, four-year term: Bean, republican, 3334; McBride, republican and non-partisan, 2713; Slater, democrat and non-partisan, 1752. Bean and McBride are doubtlessly elected.

SAYS HUSBAND LIKES ANOTHER WOMAN Mrs. Anna Watkins Sues Benjamin Watkins for Divorce and Her Maiden Name

Alleging that her husband, Benjamin Watkins, became infatuated with another woman, Rose McKety, immediately after their marriage, Mrs. Anna Watkins today instituted suit in the circuit court for divorce and for a decree restoring her maiden name, Anna Johnson. According to her complaint, filed this afternoon by her attorney, L. M. Travis, they were married at Roseburg on May 12, 1909, and have no children. Mrs. Watkins alleges that her husband after their marriage took up with the McKety woman and told his wife that he cared for the other woman more than he did for her. Besides, she alleges, he often whipped her and at one time threw a pan of water into her face.

ROOSEVELT'S ATTACK ELECTS BALDWIN

Connecticut, Nov. 8.—Judge Baldwin is elected democratic governor of Connecticut, the first democrat in 18 years, over Chas. Goodwin, but the rest of the republican ticket, including Tilson, of New Haven, for congress at large, is elected. Two republicans and one democratic congressman are elected with very close results in the First district, where Lenagan, democrat, is leading Henry, republican.

Roosevelt made a special effort to defeat Baldwin.

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 8.—The Record claims Colquitt elected by 100,000 to 125,000 majority.

LITTLE CHANGE IN COUNTY RETURNS

All Republicans Elected Except Harry Bown for Sheriff

The result of the election in Lane county indicates the success of the entire republican ticket with the exception of Harry Bown, for sheriff, whose majority is large. Some precincts will not finish their counting until late tonight, and the returns are so incomplete that it would be a waste of time to make footings in the vote received by the various candidates until tomorrow. The general result, however, is not in doubt. Hammond and Russell, for clerk, have run a close race with Hammond leading on the face of the returns, but his lead will be more than overcome by the vote in Cottage Grove, where Russell has 141 majority with half the vote counted. This will elect him.

Bingham and Bean L. E. Bean seems to have defeated I. H. Bingham for joint senator for Lane and Linn counties. Cottage Grove precincts cast nearly 900 votes, and will not finish counting before midnight. With half the votes counted, Bean leads there by 125 votes, and it would seem that Bingham cannot overcome this majority. Linn county, with eight precincts to hear from, gives Bean a lead of 130. Bingham carried the Eugene precincts by quite a heavy majority.

District Judgeship Judge Coke is re-elected in this district, but the contest between Hamilton, democrat, and Jones, republican, is close. Hamilton has carried Lane by 200 or 400 majority but the result is close and doubtful in Douglas county. Hamilton carries Coos by 250, loses Benton by 100, and Lincoln and Curry are not heard from. Hammond is probably elected.

Initiative Measures With very incomplete returns, it is likely home rule has lost in Lane county, and the vote on prohibition is adverse. Nesmith county has been smothered under in Lane outside of Cottage Grove, and Douglas, and beaten two to one in Multnomah. All the proposed new counties are swamped by an adverse vote.

Unofficial returns from those precincts which have reported are printed in today's Guard.
