

AY SOON BUILD ELECTRIC PLANT ON M'KENZIE

That the Oregon Power Company plans to begin work on its proposed electric plant at Martin's Rapids, on McKenzie river, some time in the future is evidenced by the fact that the Central Door and Lumber Company, of Portland, has been asked to submit a bid to furnish different materials in the construction of the plant, such as doors, windows, cement, glass and other handily by the company. A traveling salesman of the company, in Eugene today, has a copy of the proposals of the company, in which the information is given that the power plant proper will cost $350,000, and $150,000 will be expended for other purposes at the same site, making the total expenditure $500,000.

ORTY-FIVE MILLIONS ADDED TO PENSIONS

Washington, Jan. 10.—The house passed the Sulloway general pension bill today, which grants pensions ranging from $12 to $36 a month to old soldiers who served 90 days in the United States army in the civil war, or 160 days in the Mexican war, and who have reached the age of 62 years. The bill adds about $45,000,000 a year to the pension roll.

LAMATH POSTAL BANK OPENS AND DEPOSITORS BRING IN SMALL SUMS

Klamath Falls, Or., Jan. 12.—The Klamath postal bank opened yesterday. Several deposits were received by mail, but they cannot be accepted, as all deposits must be made in person. Persons may deposit $100 a month, but not less than $1. Depositors must be over 10 years of age. The savings bank will get many small depositors, but will not affect the larger ones. Laura Nelson, 21 years of age, was the first depositor, placing $1 in the bank. Five others followed within a few minutes.

ENDS FIVE CENTS FOR SOAP HE STOLE SOME MONTHS AGO

Portland, Jan. 10.—Conscience-stricken because he stole a bar of soap from the Northern Pacific telegraph company last summer, while bound from Los Angeles for Portland on the steamer Roanoke, Reinhardt Marten apologized profusely in a letter which the company received from him this morning. He also enclosed 5 cents as payment in full for the soap, which he took to assist in performing his ablutions. The letter was written at Milwaukee, Wis. Since stealing the soap the writer says he has become a Christian. He explains that he thought of the theft has preyed on his mind of late to such an extent as to give him no peace.

ROSEBURG PLANS TO OPEN SALOONS Under Home Rule It is Intended to Limit the Number of Drink Shops

Roseburg, Jan. 10.—The prohibition question is to be decided in Roseburg under the provisions of the home rule law. Petitions calling for an election were presented to the city council last night. If favorable action is taken immediately the election will be held early in February. During the past six years Roseburg has been legally dry, but not by the city's own vote. At the general election last November, the city cast a majority of 422 against the statewide prohibition movement, and it is predicted that in the home rule election it will vote wet by a margin fully as great. The petition laid before the council last night bore the signatures of nearly 600 citizens, or about one-half the number of voters in the municipality. So little doubt exists as to the outcome of the election that plans for regulation of the local liquor traffic are already in process of formation. The indications are that saloons will be limited in number, with the proprietor of each under a surety bond, aside from an annual license of not less than $1000, payable in advance.

It is understood that a junk shop will be opened in the old McFarland shack at the corner of West Eighth and Olive streets. It is probable that a protest will be made by a number of citizens in that vicinity to the city council against allowing such an establishment to do business on a prominent corner. The old building should be condemned, say the property owners in that vicinity, and ordered torn down.

JUDGE LINDSEY LECTURES ON THE BAD BOY

Great Crowd Grets Denver Man At Central Presbyterian Church

There was a large crowd at the Central Presbyterian church last night to listen to Judge Lindsey, the "kids' judge" at Denver, in his lecture on "The Boy and How to Handle Him, or The Misfortunes of Mickey." Judge Lindsey's face is familiar in feature from photographs in newspapers and magazines, but the camera could not show the play of the whimsical eyes and mouth, nor the quick changes from grave to gay, from lively to severe. His voice is high pitched and penetrating. The speaker began by citing the size of the assembly as an indication of the interest taken by its members in the children of the nation for the problem of the child today is the problem of the man and woman of ten years hence. It showed, also, that the nation was awakening to its duty to the child. Hitherto the nation assumed to deal with the child violator of the law. But to save the child appeal must be made to the home, the school, the church.

Beginning of Work for Boys Judge Lindsey's experience with the child lawbreaker began 10 years ago, when the district attorney applied while a case was being tried before him for a 5-minute interval to dispose of a case of burglary. No lawyer was in sight, but three urchins, ragged and torn, grimy and miserable, seated, side by side, in the jury box, stood up when their names were called. Robbery from a box car was the charge.

"Tell us about it, Mickey," said the judge. "What about this burglary?" "I ain't no burglar, judge," said Mickey. "We thought there was some watermelons in the car, and when we got in we found no watermelons, judge, but there was some boxes that had bottles in them, so we got one out and drank it." "California fig syrup," said the judge, "the box contained, and three bottles of it the little rascal drank, not heeding the directions on the label." "So when Mickey pleaded for mercy on the ground that they had suffered enough, the judge admitted the force of the plea and let them off for that time. "So, said the speaker, the boys were in the wrong, but was not the state in the wrong also? Was it not wanting in its duty to the boys? The judge's sympathy was Mickey's trust, and he opened his heart to his friend. Therein loyalty to the gang was the only loyalty he knew. Truth and honesty to his mates were the only commandments to bind him. To steal, to lie, outside the gang, were not forbidden by his special conscience. The time came when Mickey and his mates came to the judge of their own free will. They learned that "sneaking"—and, "licking"—was unselfish—was the rule. So the real conscience was awakened.

Results of the Honor System Thus it has come about that 530 boys sent on their honor to the detention home, alone, unbound, unwatched, reported their arrival, and not one missed. During the same time the police have taken prisoners to jail, and 41 of them escaped between court and penitentiary. So the equipment provided for the boy by the new methods is best described as moral efficiency. Fear is the father of lies. The state and its police have developed fear. This must be cast out by sympathy. Thereon is built true trust, and thence truth. Never let a boy get away with a lie, said the speaker—be gentle, be patient and persevering till the truth comes out, even if by slow degrees. Much of the boy's trouble comes from misdirected energy, much from fun, which often crosses the law's boundary. Arouse the boy's interest—provide him and his mates with playgrounds and the open air. From kindergarten to trade schools, keep his hands at work—so will play become work for him, and then work play.

These Are the Forces That Save Meanwhile the forces which save the child are the home, the school, the church. Neither school nor church can usurp the functions of the home. If, and only if the home fails in its duty to the child, the nation must take charge. Religion is the strength of the nation, yet the church cannot fill to the children the place of the home. In any case the state is responsible that the conditions of the child's life are healthy and conducive to growth. Inconsistent, then, with this view is the congested dwellings and the slums of the city, the wrongs of child labor in mine and factory. The physiology of the child no less than its psychology, must be understood and provided for by the state as part of its duty to the child. These points enlivened by countless droll stories of his boys, kept the audience still and interested during the nearly two hours that the lecture lasted—Judge Lindsey closing, as he began, with an earnest plea for better understanding of the boy.

JESSE JAMES' WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 11.—Stella F. James was granted a divorce from Jesse E. James, son of Jesse James, the famous bandit, in the Circuit Court here last night. James made no effort to contest the suit. Mrs. James was given the custody of four children and $100 a month alimony. Mrs. James testified that she and her husband had separated three times since their marriage 11 years ago. She said the last separation had lasted six months and that it was impossible for them to be reconciled.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC SURVEYORS ARE NOW IN CAMP AT ELMIRA

Began Work Westward from Eugene Form the End of Fifth Street

The crew of Southern Pacific surveyors under Engineer Goerl, who have been in Eugene for the past several days working on a survey from Eugene to Elmira, are now encamped at the latter place, having left this city this morning in a private conveyance for there. Their camping outfit, which has been at the freight depot for two or three days, was taken out yesterday. It is learned that the surveyors are practically following the route of the survey made by the Lane County Asset company for the proposed electric line between Eugene and Elmira, beginning at the end of West Fifth street and going due westward for several miles. The Asset company, however, controls the only good pass over the low range of hills six miles out and the Harriman people will have to make a wide detour to the north if they build to Elmira, as the local company owns thirty acres of land at the Christener pass, this land completely covering access to the pass.

WORKING ON WALDO TUNNEL WITH 13 FEET OF SNOW ON GROUND

Charles Gruning, Cook for Crew of Men, Arrives from Summit of Mountains

Charles Gruning, of Blue River, who has been acting as cook for the crew of men at work on the tunnel of the Waldo Lake Irrigation and Power company at Waldo Lake, at the summit of the Cascade mountains, arrived from there yesterday and left this morning for his home in response to a message telling him of the illness of his mother. Mr. Gruning says that there was over 13 feet of snow at the lake at one time recently, but when he left there a few days it had packed down to only a few inches. This present storm, however, will cause a depth of snow there of several feet, and it is possible that the former depth of 13 feet may be the result. He left the other boys who are employed at that place all well and progressing rapidly with the tunnel work. They are building a tunnel 600 feet long through solid rock and have all but 200 feet completed. They are not inconvenienced at all by the great amount of snow there for the tunnel all the time. Mr. Gruning came out from the lake on a pair of skis, discarding them when reaching the lower altitude, where there is little snow. The other men at work there are the following: John Gold, John Krogness, Sig Maurer, Erick Johnson and Olaf Aageson.

GEORGUS DEFEATS LIONUS ON THE MAT

Last evening George Georgus demonstrated his ability as a wrestler when he downed Nick Lionus two successive times at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Lionus challenged Georgus to a friendly bout to determine their relative superiority and was taken up. The match was lively and snappy, and both men showed good form. The first fall was secured from a half Nelson hold. The second was three-quarters Nelson. Quite a large number of spectators were present and enjoyed the affair hugely. The Monday night gym classes are always alive and full of interest. If more men would attend, there is no reason why the results should not be even more interesting. Potatoes are still coming in at the local commission houses and the price remains about stationary. The cold weather does not seem to have any effect on the prices.

COUNTY FAIR WILL HAVE SOME MONEY TO START ON

Annual Meeting of Association Held This Afternoon and Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the Lane County Fair association in the county court room this afternoon, officers were elected, the association divorced from the southern Oregon association and a number of minor matters attended to. The fair of last year was taken as a decided success by the fact that there is in the treasury some $350, which will be held over to start the next year's work with. This financial showing is not as good as it might be, however, considering the fact that there was $400 on hand at the beginning of the year, but counter attractions and bad weather this year influenced, and all considered, the showing made was exceedingly good and also showed efficient management. It was decided to follow the move of Roseburg and break connections with the Second Southern Oregon District Agricultural society, in the effort to reorganize this district entirely. There are still left in this association Curry and Coos counties. An amendment was carried that the board of directors be increased to the present 35 members, and the following members were chosen for the year: C. J. Hurd, F. M. Wilkins, M. Svarverud, J. Beebe, H. F. Hollenbeck, Amos Wilkins, Geo. Widmer, J. E. Martin, Geo. D. O'Connor, Y. D. Hensill, J. A. Giffin, C. S. Williams, C. M. Young, R. Rae, W. B. Dillard, A. Needham and F. A. Rankin. The following is the list of officers as elected: Jack Rodman, president; J. Beebe, vice-president; W. B. Jones, secretary, and P. E. Snodgrass, treasurer. The board of directors will meet Saturday afternoon, February 28th, and choose the executive committee, which in turn will arrange for next year's affair.

CAPITOL GRAFTERS RETURN BIG LOOT

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 10.—Restitution of the amount of $1,300,000 was made today by the men who were indicted in connection with the state capitol frauds, and others implicated in the scandal. This is in settlement with representatives of the state of cases in which the companies alleged to be defrauded of approximately $5,000,000.

NO PROTEST OF BALLOON AWARD FROM PARIS

Paris, Jan. 10.—The International Aeronautical Federation met today, and decided it had no authority to consider the protest against the award of the international balloon trophy to the Americans, Allan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, on the ground that the protest, as made, was irregular. The federation declared the protest should have been lodged first with the sporting commission of the American Aero Club. The federation voted today to send the matter of Graham White's protest against Moissant, in the statue of Liberty flight race, back to the Aero Club of America for findings in compliance with article 29 of the statutes of the federation. The federation adopted a resolution that the conditions under which the prize was contested for were not in conformity with article 29.

TAFIT INDIGNANT OVER REMARKS OF SIMS

Washington, Jan. 10.—President Taft decided today that Commander W. S. Sims, the United States naval officer, who at a recent dinner in London, given by the mayor of that city, declared that if Great Britain ever were seriously threatened she could depend on "every man, every dollar and every drop of blood" in this country, should be publicly reprimanded. "His offense has been so conspicuous," the president said, in a letter to Secretary of the Navy Meyer, directing the reprimand, "that the action of the department in reprimanding it should be equally so." The president says that whenever an officer of the American navy is called on in a foreign country to speak in public, so that what he says will necessarily be brought to the attention of the people of other countries, it is his obvious duty to avoid injurious comparisons, and to limit his speech and expressions to friendly remarks for the country whose guest he is, and to language which will indicate no lack of friendship toward other countries. Commander Sims cannot escape censure, the president holds, on the ground that what he said was merely the expression of his public opinion. Under the circumstances he must speak as an official representative, and he should have known that the words he used would be taken as a severe comment in other countries than Great Britain, and might involve this government in explanation and disclaimer.

FORMER EUGENE RESIDENT REJOICES AT RAILROAD NEWS

E. K. Wilson Compliments Asset Company in Its Work for This City

Dixon, Cal., Jan. 12, 1911. Editor Guard: In your issue of January 9th we note with much pleasure the item relating to the success of the Lane County Asset company in their efforts to build an electric line to the coast. Having lived in Eugene several years ago and also having visited the "city beautiful" several times in the last few years, we feel like it was our home, and we have always cast a kindly eye on the good work being done in the boosting of Eugene and vicinity. This railroad from Eugene to Florence is the keystone and can only result in the upbuilding of two great cities—Eugene and Florence. As we are shipping to some extent, we feel that we are in a position to know something of transportation charges, and feel that this one item in the lowering of freight charges will do more for your city than any one thing that you could possibly do. We will say in conclusion that the man with a few big dollars can be sure of putting them in motion by going to Florence. California has been getting one of the most welcome rains for the past twenty-four hours that it has felt for some years. Yours sincerely, E. K. WILSON.

STAR CHAMBER METHODS AT SALEM

Newspapermen Are Excluded From House During Election

Salem, Jan. 9.—Speaker Rusk and the members of the house established a precedent today when all newspapermen were excluded from a caucus, ordered by the house for the purpose of selecting its subordinate officers. The inauguration of star-chamber proceedings within five minutes after Rusk was elected speaker came as a surprise. Heretofore members of the press invariably have been permitted to attend every caucus of both houses, including the more important conferences at which candidates for presiding officers have been selected. Representative Derby—Democrat—presided as chairman of the caucus, which consumed more than an hour. It resulted in the choice of the following candidates, who were later elected to their respective positions by the house: Chief clerk, W. F. Drager, of Marion; journal clerk, Gordon C. Moores, of Multnomah; calendar clerk, Robert Nelson, of Linn; reading clerk, Dudley Clarke, of Multnomah; mailing clerk, W. F. Meadams, of Polk; sergeant-at-arms, D. C. Ely, of Morrow; chief doorkeeper, J. F. Singer, of Multnomah. Drager and Moores were elected without opposition. Nelson was opposed by H. T. McLallen, ex-sheriff of Douglas county. Clarke defeated George C. L. Snyder, of Marion, and made, not so much from the standpoint of efficiency as from the fact that it was a repudiation of machine methods in politics. E. H. Flagg, of Columbia, was elected chief clerk without opposition, but John P. Hunt of Marion, nominated by Patton, failed to be nominated to the office of assistant chief clerk so easily. Malarkey nominated C. J. Mahoney, of Multnomah, as an opponent to Hunt, and at first it appeared that Mahoney would be the successful contestant, but members from the outside counties rallied and Hunt obtained the election by 16 votes to 14 for his opponent. Frank Jotter was re-elected sergeant-at-arms, but was opposed by Roy Ritter, Calendar Clerk. W. W. Hills was opposed by Henry Wortman, of Marion, for the position of sergeant-at-arms, but was elected. Glen O. Holman, of Polk. The principal contest was for mailing clerk, the unsuccessful candidates being Harvey Neal and H. Allen, both of Yamhill, and W. H. Steedhammer, of Marion. Martin White, of Columbia, nominated D. C. Ely for sergeant-at-arms, and Singer was successful for doorkeeper over W. H. Luckey, of Lane.

CITY TO INSTALL ITS OWN LIGHT PLANT SOON

Preliminary steps were taken by the city council last night's regular meeting toward a municipally owned lighting system, using the current from the city's own power plant at Waltersburg, as soon as it is completed. The matter was brought up by Councilman Nosa who moved that the fire and water committee be directed to ascertain the probable cost of such a system, and the motion was carried. It is probable that an amendment to the charter can be prepared and the proposition submitted to the voters at the coming election in April. Bonds will have to be voted for the improvement. At the opening of the meeting Garrett of the fire and water committee reported that one car load of filter machinery passed Omaha Sunday and would be here in a few days. The settling tanks are in place and all work that is possible to do is finished until the machinery arrives. He reported that the committee has on hand petitions for 45 arc lights in various parts of the city. He reported that fire hydrants and dead ends in the water mains are being flushed weekly. The proposition of opening the alley between Olive and Willamette streets from West Twelfth to West Fourteenth was disapproved by the council. City Book Experting. The finance committee reported that it recommended the employment of Frank Smith, formerly of the Seventh and Willamette streets Women's togery shop, as a suitable person to expert the city's books. He and an assistant are to receive $5 a day. Mr. Smith has splendid recommendations and he was a member of the auditing committee that has just finished experting the county books. Sewers for Fairmount. City Engineer Waggoner reported that rough estimates for the construction of a sewer system in Fairmount had been made and he would recommend that plans and specifications be prepared for a complete system covering practically the entire suburb. M. Svarverud, Professor Jos. Schaefer, J. R. VanBoeckirk and Professor G. C. Stockton addressed the council in favor of the proposition. Garrett moved that the matter be referred to the city engineer, finance committee and city attorney with instructions of making estimates of cost of the system and means of financing it. The motion was carried. Street Festoons. The committee of the whole reported that as a result of the meeting Saturday night it had been decided to enter into a contract with the Oregon Power company to continue the present flimsy festoon lights for three months at a cost of $250 per month. Garrett wanted to compromise and let the city pay only half of the cost and it was decided. Various minor matters, including the reading of the fire chief's annual report and the treasurer's quarterly report. Authority was given S. W. Taylor to certify labor and freight bills, transferred to R. B. Henderson, successor of Taylor. Petitions for arc lights at Seventh and Van Buren and Seventh and High streets, referred to fire and water committee. A protest against wagons left in street by A. C. Mathews was referred to city attorney and chief of police. A petition for street water pipe on Olive from Thirteenth to Fifteenth referred to fire and water committee. Petitions for cement curbing on both sides of Willamette street from Thirteenth to Sixteenth granted. An ordinance licensing and taxing non-resident doctors, surgeons, dentists and opticians was read first time and referred to city attorney. The council adjourned until Monday, January 16, at 7:30 p. m.

BLOODY SALOON ROBBERY OCCURS NEAR TACOMA

Tacoma, Jan. 10.—A saloon at Dieringer was the scene of a desperate affair early today. Two masked men swaggered into the place and ordered Fred Barnett, the proprietor, and Barkeeper McDonald and several patrons to hold up their hands. One was armed with two revolvers and the other with one. All hands went up on command, but as one man started to search the cash drawer, Barnett seized the hand that held his revolver. The bandit struggled and forced Barnett within range of his companion's revolver and yelled: "Shoot, Bill, while you have got a chance," and Bill shot Barnett in the stomach. The proprietor's hold weakened, and as he sank to the floor, the man with whom he had been struggling shot him twice from the rear, once through the waist and the other through the neck, the bullet coming out through the jaw. "Bill" continued to guard the others while his companion ransacked the money drawer, obtaining $45. At the moment the saloon janitor, known as "Solly," entered, half awake, and protested against the noise. He was knocked senseless, each of the bandits striking him on the head with the butts of their revolvers. The robbers then escaped.

HARRISBURG WILL REMAIN "DRY"

Harrisburg, Jan. 10.—Attorney General Crawford has written T. J. Anderson, recorder of this city, that Harrisburg is a "dry" town, regardless of the home rule law or the vote at the last general election, which placed it in the class with the "wets." Harrisburg is the only town in the county that voted "wet," the incorporation proper being included in two separate voting districts. Local voters differed as to whether it would be necessary to call another election within the corporate limits to determine whether the town was to have saloons. A number of voters favoring the saloon believed that no further action was necessary but to secure the permission of the council. However, to be on the safe side, a petition was submitted to the council asking for a special election. The city recorder was instructed to seek further instruction as to the proper course to pursue.

DIED

At the home of his son, six miles north of Eugene on the river road, at 10 p. m. January 11, 1911, James H. Watts, aged 69 years. The funeral will be held Friday at 11 a. m., with interment in the I. O. O. F. cemetery. At St. Anthony, Idaho, January 12, 1911, Dr. William J. Middleton, aged 64 years. He was well-known in Eugene, being the father of Mrs. J. W. Kays. At her home at 608 Alder street, Eugene, at 11 a. m., January 12, 1911, Mrs. T. J. McCubbin, aged 62 years. Death is supposed to have been the result of a fall a week ago, when she struck her head on the pavement. She leaves a husband and six children. The funeral will probably be held tomorrow, but definite arrangements have not been made, awaiting word from a relative.
