

The Women's Easter Suit Store

For the woman who is 'looking about. The woman who goes out now not necessarily to buy her Easter suit at once, but to find out what she wants to buy, will do well to visit this store. More new styles ready here now than can be seen in any other store in the city. It is the place to study the new styles, the new fabrics, the new colorings, and as you study and make comparisons you will find that in workmanship and in fair pricing these new suits are very hard indeed to equal.

Your Clothes For Spring

Are a matter we've given considerable attention to, without consulting you; we've gone ahead and got a lot of good things ready; and as long as we didn't know exactly what you want, we've provided an immense variety for you to choose from.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx

clothes are the chief feature of our business in clothes. We make them so because we believe they're the best clothes for our customers to wear, and that's what we're here for. There's no reason why we shouldn't do the best we can for our customers; we have some knowledge of the clothing business; it's quite natural that we should know more about clothes—the quality, the tailoring, the style—than the average man not in the business. A part of the service we render is to put this knowledge at your disposal; to give you the benefit of it; to use it for your interests. One way of doing that is to give you a chance to get Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothes. We feel that in this way we are doing you as real a service as can be done for you in clothes. When you compare them with any other clothes made you'll feel that we've done pretty well by you.

SPRING IS COMING The winter must leave us, it's now on the wing, so lets shout the poet who warbles of spring! For birds cannot write of the less and the trees, without ringing in both the bees and the breeze; they're always referring to sweet woodland nooks in order to work in some rot about brooks. They mangle their metre with sickening buds to give us some dope about blossoms and buds, and they bring in the robin and bluebird and finch, the gandy woodpecker—that's always a cinch. Let's shoot up the poets as soon as they sing, and thus do away with the terrors of spring! Too long have they bored us with murmuring streams, with stars and with moons and their second rate beams; too long have they chanted of roses and June to people who struggle for bacon and prunes; too long have they warbled of bees and of ants for men who have patches all over their pants. If poets must sing let them cut out the brooks, the meadows, the zephyrs, the picturesque nooks, and sing a few lines about onions and peas, and cabbage and turnips and dodos like these: thin broken backed tollers in garden and yard will list and not throw any bricks at the bard. —WALT MASON. THEY ARE "DELIVERING THE GOODS." That the state printer receives far too much money for his work has long been generally known, and Governor West is entitled to much credit for having forced the late lamented legislature to pass a flat salary bill for the printer, even though the bill does not take effect for four years, when the term of office of the present official expires, says the Fossil Journal (Rep.). But that the new administration could effect a saving in the state printing office without waiting for the flat salary law to go into effect was not thought possible; however, where there's a will there's a way. Governor Oswald West and State Treasurer Tom Kay, who are the whole state board during the absence of Secretary of State Benson from the state, had barely warmed their new chairs ere they ousted Lou Stinson, the state printing expert who measured the work done by the state printer, and put in his place E. A. Harris, the present state printing expert. Now Lou is a very good fellow, of such a disposition that he could hardly be expected to lie awake o' nights figuring how to lop the corners off the bills of his dear friend Willis Dunaway; but it seems that Mr. Harris was obsessed with some new ideas relating to the measuring of the state printer's work, and he has already put them in force by unearthing a system of duplicate charges, such as full pay for small fractions of wages, and divers other overcharges that can be constituted to come within the law, but are contrary to public economy and policy. Basing his action on the facts that have come into his possession through personal investigations, Mr. Harris has recommended that Mr. Dunaway's bill for printing the bills and proceedings of the last legislature be reduced from $3236.41 to $2670.10, a cut of $566.31, or about 17 per cent., and the secretary of state's office has made the cut as per the recommendation of the state printing expert, and has besides notified the state printer to in future cut his printing charges in accordance with the system and rules laid down by Mr. Harris, so as to "enable him to compute the prices in accordance with the work as it is actually performed." In view of the facts above cited, it is no exaggeration to say that in the single item of printing, thousands of dollars will be saved to the state through the election of the anti-assembly officials West and Kay, each of whom is a "man who delivers the goods."

Dr. Charles F. Aked, who will resign as pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, New York, commonly known as "Rockefeller's church," early next month, will, it is alleged, become the minister of a Congregational church in San Francisco. The "Rockefeller church," as a result of his retirement, will be merged with the Calvary Baptist church, and the property of the former will be sold and the money used as a endowment fund for the latter.

Switzerland must be a cheap and pleasant place to live, if conditions in that country were accurately reproduced at the recent ball of the Swiss people of New York. For the sum of 15 cents one could marry any of the pretty girls present, and for 10 cents could procure a hasty divorce. Any man was privileged to kiss any other man's wife, but if detected had to pay a fine of 5 cents.

In England candidates "stand" for parliament—but in this country it is generally a question of whether the people will stand for the candidate. Mexicans have the consolation that their next president can be no worse than the last one. The society for the prevention of unnecessary noises is keeping consistently quiet of late.

JUNCTION'S NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM IS COMPLETED

The new street lighting system of this city is now completed and commenced operation Wednesday night. The system now installed is of the arc system. In the completed system substation has been installed, the controlling apparatus for the street lights. The apparatus consists of a constant current transformer, switch board and lighting arrester. The farm of Frank Williams was purchased by the Gowan Trust Co. of Portland, and they have already been offered an advance of $5 per acre over purchase price. It is the intention of this company to improve the land, erect a fine large house and make it an attractive summer resort. This is a fine place and is known quite extensively and when accommodations and other attractions have been made, it will become a very popular resort. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Millet returned from their trip in California Monday. They experienced some very disagreeable weather, and were delayed by flood sand washouts. The valleys were flooded and much damage done. He said the Willamette valley looked mighty good to them. He is undecided whether he will again become a citizen of this place or not. He is on a "dicker" for his Morrow county holdings, and if the deal goes through, he will return to this place. J. B. Bamford and family will leave next week for St. Louis, Missouri, where they will place their two children in a surgical institute in that city. Later they expect to go south to locate with Florida as the objective point. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dickerson came down from Eugene Monday to visit the family of their daughter, Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson have recently returned from two months' visit at Long Beach, California.—Times.
