A SWINDLER.

He Sells a Lot of Goods, Collects the Money for Them and Then
Skijs

A man signing his name as a Mr. "Baker" and representing the house of Mark Levy & Co. of Portland was in Eugene a short time ago. He was traveling as "off" man, or commis- sion man, receiving a commission on the goods he sold. He purported to have a carload of oranges which he was anxious to dispose of very cheaply in Willamette valley towns, and made sales to a number of Eugene mer- chants, among them being Geo. T. Hall & Son, E. H. Ingham, Gray & Son, L. O. Beckwith, Green & Son, G. W. Knapp and E. D. Poole. He sold the goods very cheap, but they were delivered in due time.

The bills accompanying the goods called for higher prices than those which Mr. Baker had agreed to sell them for, and Messrs. Hall & Son wrote Levy & Co. notifying them of that fact and stating that they could not pay more than they had agreed to. This aroused the suspicion of Levy & Co., who immediately telegraphed Hall & Son to not pay any money to Baker and to instruct the other mer- chants who had bought of him the same, but the telegram was too late. Baker put in an appearance Tuesday morning and collected money on the goods sold. E. D. Poole paid him in cash and the rest paid him by checks, which he endorsed and secured the money. Tuesday afternoon he secured a rig at Bangs' stable and Ashley Stevens drove him to Junction, where he claimed to have some business to trans- act and then wished to catch the overland train to Portland.

The last heard from him was that he boarded the overland train at Junction for San Francisco. The authorities are on his trail and will no doubt soon capture him. Baker was a pleasant appearing man and seemed to be all right and nothing was suspected to be wrong until the difference in prices between him and the company he represented was dis- covered. He had left Eugene before the notice of the swindle from Mark Levy & Co. had been received.

The amount Baker obtained in Eu- gene ranges from $150 to $250.

A Boy.—Chas. J. Howard, of the Register, is all smiles this afternoon. It is a twelve pound boy and a picture of the father. Here's our Jack.

Marvelous Results.
From a letter written by Rev. J. Guaderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the re- sults were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junc- tion she was brought down with pneu- monia succeeding in gripple. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results. Trial bottles free at Hender- son & Linn's drug store.

Judge Fisk and Commissioners Per- kins and Callison, left for the Hen- dricks ferry, on the McKenzie river, this afternoon to inspect the site of the proposed free ferry at that place.

IN TROUBLE.—Wednesday's Albany Democrat: "There is considerable talk on the street this afternoon about the at least temporary shutting down of the Red Crown Mills, by reason of the forcing of claims against the com- pany by Junction City parties, and others on account of wheat sales. It is also stated that the warehouse is empty. The mill has been doing a big business and has orders ahead now; but through no fault of the man- ager the receipts have been diverted into other channels on account of old indebtedness instead of being used in the present channels of business. Ar- rangements are being made, though to put the mill on its feet, perhaps under a new company and it is to be hoped they are perfected. Rest assured that the mill will not be allowed to remain idle more than a short time."

We are informed that the Junction City parties are the Junction City Milling Co., who hold claims against the Albany concern.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.—Mrs G N Frazer, J H McClung and County Judge A H Fisk have been appointed a committee to take charge of the re- mainder of the supplies donated by the Nebraska sufferers. The goods consisting almost entirely of flour will be stored at J. H. McClung's store in a few days when the committee will en- deavor to place them where there is the greatest need. Persons knowing of suffering anywhere in the county will kindly report the matter to them.

FOR HARRISBURG.—The steamer Eugene left Corvallis for Harrisburg this morning at 9:30 o'clock, and will probably arrive at the latter place this evening. She has quite an amount of freight aboard for Eugene merchants.

Could Not Stand It.—The gam- bling houses of Memphis, in which the play is usually heavy, were compelled about the first of the year to give up $1500 to make good the alleged losses of a squealer. Since then there have been three other demands on them, and each time they have paid. Mon- day night E. A. Harris an ex-justice of the peace, who has been a heavy player for many years, demanded that his losses be made good. The proprie- tors thereupon got together and con- cluded to close their houses, though they had expected to do a rushing business during the races.

THE SPELLING MATCH.

The City Still in the Lead in the Contest.

A large congregation of people was in attendance at the M. E. church last evening to witness the spelling contest between the University of Oregon and the city of Eugene. Good interest prevailed throughout.

But twenty-one persons on each side could be secured, who were willing to stand up before the public and ac- knowledge their weakness or strength in the little art of spelling. Mr. C. W. Wester, who stood up last on the side of the university in the contest held recently, represented the university last night and chose for that side. Mrs. Wm. Zeigler, champion of the contest before, chose for the city. The spellers on both sides were picked and had been secured several days before the match came off. Prof. Straub pro- nounced the words and Prof. Wether- bee, of the gymnasium acted as master of ceremonies. The contest lasted about two hours. The numbers were reduced about one-half in a short time and then the battle began to be warmly contested. The utmost good humor prevailed in the audience, each side clapping lustily when one of their number won a victory over one of the opposing forces.

Mr. Wester went down next to last man on the university side, leaving Clyde Fogle alone on the field of battle against four of the Eugeneites. Mrs. Zeigler went down on the word "coccolite" when there were yet five up on the side of city and two on the side of the university. The war of word-spelling continued for some time, but finally Mr. Fogle went down, and the contest was among the four Eu- geneites—Mrs. H. B. Miller, Mrs. E. O. Potter, Miss Ida Patterson, and Miss Anna Whiteaker—for the cham- pionship. One by one they kept drop- ping out till only Mrs. H. B. Miller was left. She was acknowledged the champion and received the prize, a copy of Webster's revised speller, containing over seven thousand words.

Following is a list of the names of those who participated in the spelling.
