GEO. F. CRAW, Agent. Economy is something that everybody tries to practice, and yet a little oversight will sometimes rob the most frugal and thrifty family of a year's savings. You want to do as J P Hickmann, of Monticello, Ga., did. He writes, "For six years I have kept Simmons Liver Regulator in my house and used it in my family and have had no need for a doctor. I have five as healthy children as you can find."

PASTORAL RECEPTION.—Last evening, from 7 to 10, Rev and Mrs Geo D Needy entertained the members and friends of the U B church at their home on 13th and Ferry streets. The doors were thrown open in true hospitable style, and a large crowd of guests was given possession of the house for the evening. Some time was spent in social conversation by the older people and games of amusement by the younger, after which a program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, etc, was rendered and greatly enjoyed by those present. Bishop Mills gave a toast, and was responded to by Rev Needy. Both speakers were listened to with great interest. The Mandolin Club was present and added much to the occasion. At 10 o'clock the guests departed for their homes, after having spent a most enjoyable evening.

DELUGED HIM.—Last night at a late hour, as one of the dormitory students was returning from the club dance he paused for a moment to interview the dormitory bulletin board, which had been made attractive for that special purpose, when suddenly from the story above several buckets of cold water were precipitated on the head of the unsuspecting student below. The deluged student was, of course, very mad, but he could do nothing, as by the time he reached the second floor nobody was in sight. On going to his room he could not get in, as the lock had been tampered with. He was severely dealt with, and the same will probably be said of those who perpetrated the deed if the faculty learn who they are.

EXTRAORDINARY.—This is what the Oregonian says editorially of Dr. Grant's addresses: "That is a very extraordinary series of addresses. Dr. Grant has been delivering in the cities of the valley. They have been reported to the Oregonian with great moderation, and, we are assured, with scrupulous accuracy. No intelligent person will believe the statements made in relation to Archbishop Gross, or share in the judgment passed upon the teaching of science in the state university."

EASY PROBLEM To select substantial Christmas presents for all. L. Chambers' hardware and stove store.

60 PACKAGES OF MEAT.—McCormack & Bartsch, of the U of O meat market, today contributed 60 packages of meat to the Christmas donations collected by the school children for the poor. Each package contained 25 cents worth of meat, and will prove a substantial present. Messrs McCormack & Bartsch decided to take this plan of giving to the poor this year instead of getting up an expensive display.

Business Corner Merchandising teaches the lesson every day in the year of low prices and good values. After long experience we think this system far more conducive to the attraction and retention of first-class patronage than the too common policy of "Give a rat to catch a better." We are business building, and aim to win the trust and confidence of the great public by furnishing them every day (not spasmodically) the best goods at the lowest prices. To regular buyers this means a large saving. Thousands of wide awake shoppers have learned this economical secret, and every day their ranks receive large accessions. This is worthy of your consideration and thought.
