The Advancement Club.
The feature at the meeting of the Advancement Club last evening was a paper by Hon H B Miller on "Relation of Woman to Social Progress." Mr Miller took the part of the woman and in an able manner championed her cause and brought out her many excellent qualities. He showed that the better instincts and nobler qualities are found in woman, and while man has been following nature and cultivating his warlike qualities and giving his attention to the accumulation of wealth, woman has exercised the patience, tenderness and motherhood endowed by nature and devoted her attention to the cultivation of morals, with the result of a vast improvement in the social standing of the human race. From Mr Miller's article it appears that woman has the credit of being first to devise implements of various kinds; first to discover medicinal qualities of the many herbs; first to give attention to the cultivation of vegetables and cereals; first to manufacture flour, and in fact first in everything, and after she has taken the initial step man has transformed her inventions from a crude state to one of perfection. The paper was a brief review of the advancement of civilization from ancient times, in which woman was given the bulk of the credit for the progress made.
President Chapman announced that he had partially engaged several speakers, and on vote of the club it was decided to assure these speakers their expenses in coming here, and the engagements will now be closed. The gentlemen are Mr Watson, of Ashland, subject, Crater Lake; C J Schnabel, of Portland, subject, Judicial Procedure; B B Beckman, of Portland, subject not given. At the next meeting Prof Condon will give a paper on "Evolution of the Earth's Crust."

Ladies and gentlemen read this advertisement every day and you will improve yourself in price. We are here to do business, and that we will do if prices will do it. We must get our mammoth stock reduced for our large and complete stock that will come from New York. Read this ad. every day as there will be great changes.

HIGH WATER.
The River is Now Over 17 Feet Above Low Water Mark.
High water has come again and is staying pretty well, with prospects of remaining a few days longer. The river has been nearly bank full for several days, and last night went over the banks. At eight o'clock this morning it registered 16 1/2 feet above low water mark. It has been rising slowly during the day and is now a little more than 17 feet above low water. The heavy rain of last night will undoubtedly keep it up for another day at least.
Last night it was reported that the bridge was cracking and it was supposed the middle pier was being undermined, as it stands in the middle of the strong current. However, the bridge is still there and today it shows no indications of giving away, and teams have been crossing as usual.
The water is over the road north of the bridge and with a little further rise travel will have to be suspended.
A K Patterson and Fisher & Watkins, who have their slaughter houses in the bottom across the river, went over this morning and brought some of their stock out and placed the balance where they will be safe.
Hundreds of people have visited the river today, many expecting to see the bridge going or gone.
But little drift has passed down, and most that is passing is small. It lacks but a couple of weeks of being six years since we had the big flood. Had there been much snow in the foothills we would have had a repetition of it at this time.
The river has had hundreds of visitors today.
If this down pour continues steamboats can take short cuts across the valleys.
The present high waters have had the effect of closing the locks at Oregon City for a few days.
The flooding of the bottom on the east side compelled Messrs Fisher & Watkins and Messrs McCormack & Bartsch to remove their beef stock from the slaughter houses today. The animals were taken to John Conger's farm two and one half miles west of town.
The high waters have flooded the Springfield bottom, and the road is unpassable at Judkin's point. The Springfield stage came by way of Henderson and the Springfield IOOF cemetery today. If the waters should get much higher considerable damage may be done to property in the bottom.
The city has been pretty well flooded with surface water, but not sufficient to do any damage. At the low stage on the river for a while an Olive been pouring out through a man hole and has flooded the lot to a depth of two or three feet. This is caused by the outlet of the sewer which is so constructed that a heavy pressure of water at the river closes it, thus preventing the contents of the sewer from escaping.

This high water promises to be of vast value to Mr Ebris and his mill race. A few years ago the river changed to a new channel and cut out a part of the mill pond near the university. For a couple of years the channel has turned at almost a right angle opposite the university, throwing the entire current across the channel and against the wall of the mill pond. Now the water is rapidly cutting a straight channel at this point and it is more than likely when the water recedes it will leave a big gravel bar along the mill pond. In this case the mill race will be permanently protected.
Oregon's War Forces.
SALEM, Jan. 20.—Telegrams reached the governor's office today from Eastern newspapers, asking the strength of the Oregon National Guard, and how soon the militia forces could be mobilized in case England should purchase Cuba. Governor Lord said tonight:
"If it is a fact that England has purchased Cuba, it must be regarded as a menace to our safety, and furnishes much stronger reasons for the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine than the Venezuela case."
The governor is not averse to war. The adjutant-general being absent, the governor telegraphed to General Beebe who answered:
"About 1600 men, including two batteries, can be rendezvoused in Portland within 48 hours."
An Embatic Denial.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A flat denial is given at the war department today of the report from Florida that the secretary of war has requested the governor of the state to put Florida's troops in readiness to take the field at a moment's notice. The president has no constitutional or legal authority to make such a request, and it is said that there is no emergency that would justify calling out the Florida militia.
LET HER DIE.—Governor Lord is receiving numerous letters from women, begging him to spare the life of young Montgomery, the triple murderer, at Albany. One California woman says she knows his execution will have the effect of killing her, she is so wrought up over the matter.
CONCERT.—Rev D Leppert and wife are singing evangelists, will give a concert at Parker's opera house Friday evening Jan. 25th, under the auspices of the U. S. G. and so.
