Work Commenced.

DALLAS, Or, Sept 20.—Mr Killfeather having failed to file his bond for the building of the court house foundation, the county court yesterday awarded the contract to L N Roney of Eugene, for $6888, he being the next lowest bidder. His bond has been accepted, and work at the quarry will commence today.

Stolen Horses Found.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or, Sept 20.—The horses that were stolen from Alex Cooley Saturday night, were found last night on Teeler's creek, 14 miles east of here. The horses were hobbled, and no person was with them. The thieves were evidently trying to smuggle the horses into Eastern Oregon.

The New Evil of Tea-smoking.

Physicians in various parts of the country report an alarming growth of tea-smoking. The habit is contracted by those whose nerves are disordered, who can't sleep, whose digestion is imperfect, whose liver is out of order, who get the "blues" and feel their strength departing. It seems strange that sufferers from the above disorders should not cure themselves with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This is a medicine which whets up the appetite, regulates the bowels, steadies the nerves and induces sound sleep. Those who take it find that it cures dyspepsia, and there is no bad taste in the mouth in the morning, no feeling of weakness after the day's work is done. It is well worth a trial.

HAD ITS RESULTS.—A prominent citizen was heard to remark on the streets today: "The controversy recently opened by the GUARD, regarding the work of the street commissioner and the rotten sidewalks did a world of good. Within the past month the building of many new sidewalks can be attributed to this general shaking up given by the GUARD, and if it was never appreciated before it is now."

AN ELEVATOR MAN.—Today's Salem Statesman: The service at the state capitol has been enhanced by the employment of C P Davis, a pleasant young man from Eugene, who will have charge of the passenger elevator during the coming session of the Oregon legislature. A permanent man at this post would be thoroughly appreciated by the state officers and the public at large.

FOOTBALL.—The U of O athletes opened up today on football. No regular practice game was had, but by mutual consent they resurrected a pickin and kicked it over the gridiron for an hour this afternoon. This simply prefaces their regular work which will commence in October.

"The Signal of Liberty" to be staged at The Parker Wednesday, is playing to packed houses at Portland nightly.

GOOD ADVICE.—The Oregonian today says editorially: "Hoggrowers of Oregon are justified in the desire to get all for their crop that the market will support. They have a clean, well-matured and carefully cured product, and they have a very good idea of its value, under present conditions, in the market. It may be hoped that they will not overestimate this value to their loss later in the season."

FROM MEXICO

"The Wanderer" Writes Another Interesting Letter.

MANY FACTS CITED.

City of Mexico, Sept 12, 1898.

I have been in receipt recently of several letters regarding yellow fever in this republic. It exists of course, in fact on the coast it is raging, and there are many deaths from the dread disease. The seaport towns are quarantined, and though the newspapers make very little reference to the matter, yet it is quite an open question, however. There is no yellow fever in any other part of Mexico and I understand it is never known in the city on account of the high altitude. My only wonder is that there is anything approaching good health at all here for the sanitary arrangements are vile and it is the dirtiest place I was ever in.

The streets are thronged with professional beggars day and night, from the tiny child to the old, old person. Some afflicted beyond measure and description, the lame the blind and the blind, many of the latter, all with outstretched hand and the whining cry "an centavo." There is no law here restricting them as in Guadalajara and other cities, allowing them to ply their avocation but one day in the week. One's charity becomes sadly blunted after a week or two and one pines to turn them with their importunities over to the police.

Yet the City of Mexico is withal delightful, historical and interesting. The Alameda is one of the most beautiful parks I was ever in. I was at once impressed with its fine trees, the first real trees I've seen in the republic. I asked a prominent resident here if there were no forestry laws and why when trees could be grown in this country, there was such a lack of them, besides wood is fearfully expensive, six dollars and a half a cord is the lowest it can be bought and that is the wholesale price to the railroads? He answered me with the familiar Mexican shrug, "Madam, quien sabe." Happily the climate precludes the necessity of fuel for heating purposes and all the cooking is done with charcoal.

I was amused the other day to notice how children can utilize things to their own pleasure. Two little chaps were playing opposite my window. They had one of the large Mexican hats with a strong string attached; one was sitting on it and the other served as horse dragging him along the pavement.

Every lock is put on upside down and every key turns the wrong way. This is a rule never diverged from, the object of which, is beyond my comprehension.

Still it is something to live in a land where strawberries, green corn and cucumbers are in market the entire year round. The views from Chapultepec and the hill of Guadalupe are exquisite in the extreme, and to rest the eyes on that grand mountain, or rather volcano, Popocatepetl, rising half way to paradise is to realize that everything we have seen before of magnificent mountain scenery must pale when compared to this glorious sight. If no other pleasure were to be found in this ancient land of the Aztecs, the journey to Mexico would be fully requited after seeing this.

Fancy a big hotel in the United States shutting and locking its outer doors at ten o'clock at night; the watchman sleeps on the floor before the portal and opens to all who knock with the quaint old fashioned knocker. Once or twice since I came I think he must have been very sound in slumber for I've heard the rat-a-tat-tat of some belated guest ringing through the night air for half an hour or more before the door was opened.

The shops are very Frenchy and are fine, "just fine," as we Oregonians say. French goods are cheap as there is but little duty paid on them, but American goods have prices attached that turn one's hair gray. I had a parcel sent me from New York that I received after a great deal of untangling red tape and a very long wait, not

FALLING HAIR RESTORED

After I was taken ill my hair commenced to fall, and turned gray rapidly. I commenced using CUTicura. The scalp became healthier and soon natural every day. Now I have a crop of fine brown hair all over my head about an inch and a half in length. My nurse is delighted because the new hairs are brown. I never had very luxuriant hair, even in my youth. It was thick on my head to-day as it was on my head, and CUTICURA did it.

Mrs. J. M. LAWSON, 302 Hamilton St., Albany, N. Y.

Special Note: This cure for all scalp diseases with loss of hair. Warm applications with CUTICURA. Soap and light dressings with CUTICURA. Do not wash the scalp. CUTICURA is a power of itself. Price 25 cents. CUTICURA is sold by all druggists. Have no imitations. Look for the name CUTICURA on the wrapper.

SIGNAL OF LIBERTY.

Will Be Produced at The Parker Tonight.

"The Signal of Liberty" which will be produced tonight at The Parker, promises to be one of the dramatic novelties of the season. A story of intense heart interest from beginning to end, and introducing elaborate scenic effects as well, is an unusual event and will in all probability pack the house from pit to dome during the engagement here. The scenes of the play are laid in Cuba, prior to and during the present war, and the drama is therefore of intense interest to all Americans. The first act takes place in the city of Havana, showing the palace of the governor-general and the arrival of the ill-fated Maine. Act second shows the gunboat Wilmington at anchor in Havana harbor, repelling a riotous attack on an American officer. Act third, the explosion of the submarine mine and the wreck of the Maine. Act fourth, the sinking of the collier Merrimac in Santiago channel. Act fifth, the bombardment of Moro castle, Santiago, and the destruction of Cervera's fleet by the American squadron. These superb scenic effects, produced in a realistic manner, in conjunction with an absorbing story, will prove a magnet to all theater goers, who believe that the Stars and Stripes is the "Flag of Destiny."

The company is exceptionally strong and the valley papers are unanimous in praising the production. As the play is on one night only, they will be greeted by a packed house.
