BRYAN AT THE "DOLLAR" DINNER.

In his speech at the "dollar" dinner in New York Mr Bryan declared that the Chicago platform was written by the representatives of the Democratic party in the most Democratic convention that has been held in a quarter of a century, and that "every plank of it is stronger today than it was when the platform was written." He added: "Those who believe that we should invite into the Democratic party those who cannot share in the purpose and the aspirations of that party—I cannot speak for others, I speak for myself—are wrong, and I say that I would not abstract from it a single plank to get back every man who left it. Nor do I believe that we could draw people to us by cowardice.

"The day for ambiguity has passed. That platform means something, and if you ask me why it was that in the campaign of 1896 the hearts of the people were stirred as they have not been lately stirred. I will tell you that it was because the struggling masses found in that platform an inspiration, and aggregated wealth found in it a menace to every man who robs his neighbor for his own benefit. It was those who have intrenched themselves by the abuses of government who objected to that platform, and well they might object, because that platform was aimed at every abuse of government, and I was glad that I was supported by those who would have only asked me for just laws. I am glad that the 6,500,000 who voted for me simply wanted me to get other people's hands out of their pockets, [applause] and not to get their hands into other people's pockets."

Souvenir buttons and buckles from soldiers have gone out of date as the society girl's fad. She is now collecting monograms of hotels and various civic societies. These are pasted on a fan, and will be displayed on the verandas at watering place resorts next summer. A story is suposed to go with each monogram, and if the young man who sends a girl a monogram does not know one he must invent one, the more romantic the better.

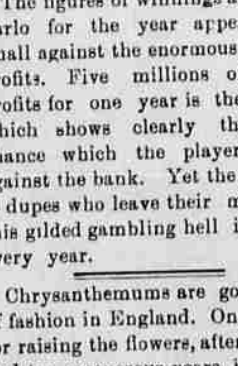
At a late Farmers' Institute a lady said that she kept ants from her poultry by "painting" their runways with a solution of corrosive sublimate. Professor Cook said it would also keep them from climbing trees if rags soaked in the solution were bound around the bark, first binding a strip of heavy paper underneath to prevent injury to the bark.

A former Lane county boy takes high honors by succeeding the late Dr Marsh in the chair of paleontology in Yale. Dr Wortman took keen interest in geological researches while a student under Prof Condon at the Oregon State University in 1878-9 and there received the fundamental training that has since given him name and standing among scientific men.

The figures of winnings at Monte Carlo for the year appear very small against the enormous total of profits. Five millions of clear profits for one year is the record which shows clearly the poor chance which the player stands against the bank. Yet the number of dupes who leave their money in this gilded gambling hell increases every year.

Chrysanthemums are going out of fashion in England. One society for raising the flowers, after having had ten prosperous years, has been obliged to wind up its affairs owing to the bad business of the last two years.

Iron visiting cards are popular in Germany. The name is printed in silver, and forty of the sheets only measure one-tenth of an inch in thickness.



A man must reap as he sows. If he sows ill-health he will reap ill-health. If he neglects his health the weeds of disease will grow up and choke it.

It is a daily and hourly marvel that men will recklessly neglect their health, when a moment's thought should tell them that they are courting death. It lies in most every man's power to live to a green old age. If a man would only take the same care of himself that he does of his horse, or cow, or dog, he would enjoy good health. When a man owns a hundred-dollar horse, and it gets sick, he does not waste any time about doctoring him up. When his garden gets full of weeds, he doesn't delay about rooting them out, for he knows they will choke out his vegetables. When he is out of sorts, sick, nervous, headachey, has no appetite and is restless and sleepless at night, he pays little attention to it. The result is consumption, nervous prostration or some serious blood or skin disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for hard working men. It gives edge to the appetite, facilitates the flow of digestive juices, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchial and throat affections, weak lungs, bleeding from lungs and kindred affections. Do not wait until the lungs are too far wasted to admit of being cured.

"As you know, five years ago the doctors had given me up to die with consumption," writes Mr. R. G. McKinney, of Deepwater, Fayette Co., W. Va. "I took treatment from Dr. R. V. Pierce, and am entirely well now. I had taken steadily, as directed, his 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"
