NEW YORK, Oct 20.—William Fife, jr., the designer of the Shamrock, is once more suffering severely from rheumatism at the Fifth-Avenue hotel.

His Candidacy.

The Woodburn Independent speculates on Governor Geer's candidacy for McBride's senatorial seat, and decides that the candidacy has Simon's support in order that Geer may be out of Simon's way four years hence. Of course should Geer be defeated there would be a show for Scott. And anyway there would be room for a gubernatorial candidate two years hence.

TALENTED YOUNG MAN.—Corvallis Times: "Mr Willis E McElroy, for many years a resident of this city, displayed considerable musical skill even in his early childhood. He received some encouragement from musicians who regarded him as a genius; and after availing himself of such instruction as he could get in this state, he went East to perfect his education; After remaining with the masters for several years he accepted a position as leading cornetist in one of the principal orchestras of Chicago. He then acted upon the suggestion of critics and took a thorough course in musical composition. Upon completing this work he again located in Chicago, where he is now busily engaged as musical composer. His many friends in Corvallis look forward to the time when the name of Willis E McElroy will be found in the list of the first musicians of the country." The young man is a son of Prof McElroy.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.—County Clerk Lee today issued a marriage license to C E Warner and Miss Daisy Dean Matteson.

UNIVERSITY NEWS

A Resume of the Week's Work Briefly Given.

STUDENTS ENTHUSIASTIC.

PHILOLOGIAN AND EUTAXIAN JOINT MEETING. Last evening at the university a joint meeting of the Philologist and Eutaxian literary societies was held in the large, commodious hall of the former organization. Extra chairs had to be brought in for this occasion, and comfortable seats were at a premium. The president and secretary of each society occupied suitable places at the front.

President V L Holt made the opening address. Eutaxians were given a hearty welcome, and the full privileges of the meeting were extended them, as the program was arranged by joint committee. The past history, especially of the ladies' society, was briefly reviewed, mention being made of some of the leading people in the state who were charter members. The Eutaxian is the oldest organization now connected with the university. In a few well chosen remarks, President Kuykendall, on behalf of the Eutaxians, responded to the welcome. Music for the evening was furnished by Miss Warfield, who gave a well-rendered piano solo, and by a vocal trio, composed of the Misses Bannard, Alloway and Pickel. It being the regular custom to have some one prepare current events, Miss Friendly, of the class of '98, was asked to perform that duty for this occasion. For an extempore address for the evening, Mr Blythe was appointed and given the subject of the Transvaal. Although affairs in South Africa do not interest Americans at present so much as those in the Philippines, and some other of our lately possessed islands, yet the speaker showed that there is a principle involved—a principle of right or wrong—which merits the attention of all. Miss Lila Straub gave a select reading which every one appreciated.

PROF GLEN'S ADDRESS

One of the principal features of the evening was the address by Prof Glen. The speaker, in his usual felicitous manner, began by correcting some minor mistakes made previously during the program, which he made lead directly to his rather unique subject, "The Bulls of Literature." Much amusement was furnished at the expense of some who committed blunders. Not only in Ireland, but even in England and America, have noted men been prone to give out occasional expressions which are more humorous than serious. Prof Glen was one of the first 22 who organized the Philologistian society.

NEGRO SUFFRAGE DISCUSSED

The debate was on the subject of negro suffrage in the South. W L Whittlesey and Miss Beale Hammond had the affirmative of the question, maintaining that the right of voting should be taken away from the negro. M L Applegate with Miss Susie Bannard were leaders on the negative. The discussion was carried through on a high plane, the thoughts presented and the oratory on both sides being to the credit of the speakers. According to the decision of the judges, the negative side won. These joint debates are well calculated to inspire interest in this line of work, and a plan is on foot for arranging a schedule of such meetings of the different societies throughout the year.

SECURED THE SHADOWS

Two events ended the program of the evening: Refreshments were served by the Philologistian society, after which all were grouped together for a picture. At this writing it is impossible to say how the photograph will look, but it is fair to presume that it will not flatter the subjects, if they are capable of being flattered. It is needless to say to anyone who knows the participants in the program that the meeting was a success.

LAUREAN SOCIETY.

The Laurean Society held a very interesting and profitable meeting last evening. After the usual routine business the following nine students signed the constitution and became members of the society: R M Spaulding '03, Edward N Baldwin, '03, David M Waddell '03, Calvin Casteel '03, E Coad '03, H J Campbell '03, P I Wald '01, Cole E Stanton '01, and Kenneth Miller '03. Six other students applied for membership.

After recess, Mr Claude R Fountain delivered a prepared address on "The Planet Mars," which was followed by an extemporaneous address by C S Van Dyke, subject: "The Pine-needle Industry in Southern Oregon." The question debated was, "Resolved, That England's policy toward the Transvaal is unjustifiable." The affirmative was supported by C M Bishop and Homer D Angell; Geo R Campbell and B C Jakway upholding the negative. Both sides of the question were ably handled and the debate proved most interesting. President Goodrich decided in favor of the affirmative.

ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Local Oratorical Association met yesterday morning and elected the following officers for 1899-1900: President, L L Goodrich, '01; secretary, Cole E Stanton, '01; treasurer, W L Whittlesey, '01. The local contest will be held in Villard hall early in February, and the state contest at Astoria, on March 10.

Shook, the Victim, Will Die From the Wounds.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MURDERERS.

Special to the Guard. COMSTOCK, Or, Oct 21.—Hiram Shook, a young man working in Campbell & Alexander's wood camp, near here, was held up, shot and robbed by two men at 8 o'clock this morning. Shook is fatally injured. He was relieved of $21.

The description of his assailants as near as can be given is: One man had short light whiskers and mustache, about 5 feet 10 inches tall; had dark clothes. The other was shorter; had dark mustache and complexion. Took revolver, 5 chamber, 3 shots fired. They have an Elgin watch, silver on white metal case. They are headed north.

LU'S SMALL.

Very Few of the Forrest and Woodcock Logs Lost.

Major Forrest came up from Harrisburg this afternoon. He informs us that some of their logs passed Harrisburg. They are all in the river yet. A boom has been strung at Harrisburg to catch any that may in the future go down. He says their loss will be nominal; that $200 will cover it.

The exhibition will be in progress on the above date at our store. ED HANSON.

OLD AND FEEBLE.—An old man, minus one leg, and otherwise enfeebled, giving the name of E C Davenport, applied to Marshal Siles for a bed yesterday and was given shelter in the city jail. Today he is ill and unable to move on. Davenport is about 70 years old and hails from South Carolina. While evidently of the hobo class the old man can not be turned out sick, and the city seems to have an elephant on its hands.

MUSICAL.—Guitar, mandolin and violin lessons by Prof Snapp. Half hour lessons 50 cents. Leave orders at Rankin's Music Store.

M S Wallace is home from Harrisburg. President Strong addressed the Baptist convention in Portland yesterday.

Dr. Frank Strong, president of the State University, will address the State Teachers' Association at Le Grande November 3, at 8 p m.

A T Volgamore, who was with Company C at Manila, is quite ill at New Pine Creek, Oregon, and has been trying in vain to cure himself since discharge. It is said Mr Volgamore has spent all his money on doctor bills and is now in a needy condition.
