GARRETT A. HOBART.

The Vice-President Passed Away This Morning.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 21.—Garret A. Hobart, vice-president of the United States, died this morning at his home in this city. The funeral will be held Saturday.

[Mr. Hobart was born in Long Branch, N. J., 55 years ago, and is therefore one year younger than Mr. McKinley. He is a graduate of Rutgers college, and studied law in the town of Paterson. For 30 years—that is, since he was 22 years old—he practiced law as a member of the Paterson bar. He rendered his state much service in both branches of the legislature, and had been at different times speaker of the house and president of the state senate. In the recent re-generation of New Jersey politics and the rescue of the state government from a most corrupt and immoral control, Mr Hobart was one of the conspicuous leaders. He was a man of very considerable wealth, and was president of several local corporations in the nature of water companies, gas companies, street and suburban railways, and the like. He was also a member of the board of directors of a great many manufacturing companies and several railroad corporations. He was a man of more than usually agreeable personality, how was greatly respected by all who knew him. He was one of the three arbitrators for the Joint Traffic Association, a fact which testified to the high esteem in which rival railroad companies have held him both for his ability and judgment and also for his rectitude and impartiality. Mrs. Hobart is the daughter of the late Mr. Soerates Tuttle, one of the foremost lawyers of New Jersey, in whose office Mr Hobart as a young man studied for his profession.]

Electric Bells and Annunciators.

Hollenbeck Brothers of the Hotel Eugene have just completed connecting twenty of the commercial rooms of their well known hotel with electric bells, which is an improvement and other evidence of their enterprise. The bells were installed by Role & Major, who placed a frame around the annunciator in the office containing advertising cards of the leading firms of the city, making a neat and attractive display.

REVOLUTION.

Venezuela Insurrectionists Are Defeated.

THURSTON MAKES ACCUSATIONS.

BOGOTA, Nov. 21.—The revolutionists have been defeated in battle and their cause wiped out. A battle of tremendous proportions, participated in by 10,000 soldiers, occurred today. One thousand rebels were killed and 2,000 wounded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—General Frederick Funston, in an interview today, scathingly denounced some of the officers of the Twentieth Kansas volunteer regiment, stating that in this body of soldiers shoulder straps were worn by some of the rank and file in the army.

FROM AFRICA.

Great Battle Reported With Results in Doubt.

MESSAGES CONFLICT.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Latest reports from Africa are of a strangely conflicting nature, and no more conjecture can be made with accuracy by the war office.

It is conceded, however, that a tremendous battle occurred on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, with a result hoped to prove a signal British victory.

BOOM TURNED OVER.—For some unaccountable reason the boom in the McKenzie river belonging to the Booth Kelly Lumber Co, and in use to drive the Woodcock & Forest large run of logs into the Coburg sawmill race, Sunday night turned completely over. Some five or six men were on the boom with lanterns when the boom acted so queerly, and they were given a good drenching, besides a scare that they will remember for many a day. A rumor came to Eugene that 500 logs passed under the boom, but Attorney Woodcock informs us that no logs, excepting four or five, got away. The boom was again placed in condition yesterday. About one-third of the late drive is now in the Coburg millpond.

DAILY REGISTER.—Gilestrap Bros. announce that they will begin the publication of the Daily Morning Register December 1st.

BERKELEY TEAM ALSO ASTONISHED.

S. F. Chronicle.

The University of California defeated the University of Oregon at football yesterday afternoon on the Berkeley campus by a score of 12 to 0 in about forty-five minutes of playing. It was a hard fought contest that repeatedly called forth praise for the surprising showing made by the Oregonians, who were supposed to be "easy." They weighed on the average fifteen pounds to the man less than the Californians. They came from a little college with only about 100 men from which to choose a football eleven, and were not the best team in the state, either, for the Multnomah Athletic Club eleven had recently beaten them, but they turned general expectations of 30 to 0 into a single touchdown scored against them in each half. They put up a gentlemanly, sportsmanlike game, and showed the 2000 spectators that the Berkeley line-smashers could be stopped by much lighter men, and that the Berkeley tactics could be forced back for games.

Oregon used good judgment in the selection of plays. Punting was freely resorted to on the third down, even when there was but half a yard to gain to retain the ball. During the game Payne, the full-back, kicked fifteen times, for a total gain of 448 yards, an average of twenty-nine yards. Kaarsburg, California's full-back, punted ten times, making a net gain of 352 yards, an average of thirty-three yards.

Angell, Oregon's plucky right guard weighing only 102 pounds, made distinct impression against California's mighty Greisberg, a showing all the more remarkable because Angell has only one arm for use, his right hand being off at the wrist. Nor was Angell the only Oregonian forward who made life a burden for his opponent. It was either an off day for Pringle, the best man in the Berkeley line, or Jackway is nearly his match. Not a few of Oregon's best gains came right through big Pringle on heavy bucking.

The large st runs of the game were: First half—Kaarsberg, 11, 13, 36, 25 yards; Hall, 15, 14; Womble, 16; Greisberg, 12, all of California. Second half—Bishop of Oregon, 23, 22 yards; Kaarsberg, 11; Pringle, 16. Longest punts—Kaarsberg, 47, 43, 30, 30, 38, 30 yards; Payne, 45, 44, 40, 37, 35, 33, 30. No kicks were blocked, or failures.

In yesterday's game there were at least four unintentional errors in decision, all against Oregon, one costing her the ball when it was only her third down and the coveted goal but eight yards away.

S F Bulletin.

The Oregon's play was free from fumbling and their work as quick and accurate as though the field were a billiard table. And they gave the Californians a good score.

The Californians went into the game brimful of confidence that they had an easy thing. There was a certain carelessness and a sort of listlessness of spirit displayed by the blue and gold players in the early stages of the game which plainly told the contentment in which they held their antagonists.

Confidence gave away to surprise then to concern and finally to alarm as the lighter Webfoot plowed holes through the Berkeley line and tackled the runners behind the supposedly impregnable wall of guards and tackles. In the first half of the game the Oregonians had not caught on to the Berkeley play and they were rather puzzled at some of their tricks, but the second half saw them take a tremendous brace and throughout the rest of the game the ball was for the most part in Berkeley's territory.

The Oregon team proved the toughest proposition the Blue and Gold has tackled this season, and the smallness of the score proved a great surprise to the Berkeleyans. Whipple and Wambol played the best defensive game for Berkeley, while Kaarsburg and Smith did the most effective ground gaining. The most notable feature of the game was the comparative ease with which the Oregon boys tore up California's interference and broke through her line. The Webfoot were at least 10 pounds lighter, but they played a hard scientific game.
