THE GREEDY CATFISH.

His Eating Capacity as Wonderful as His Hold on Life.

The catfish belongs to an ancient type not yet fully made into a fish, and hence those whose paired fins are all properly fastened to the head, as his are not, hold him in well merited scorn. He has no scales and no bright colors. His fins are small and his head and mouth are large. Around his mouth are eight long "smellers," fleshy feelers, that he pushes out as he crawls along the bottom in search of anything that he may eat. As he may eat anything, he always finds it. His appetite is as impartial as that of a goat. Anything from a dead lamprey or a bunch of smudged eggs to a piece of tomato can, is grateful to him.

In each of the fins, which represent his arms, a long, sharp bone, with a sharp edge and a serrated edge. The bone is held by a ball and socket joint, and whenever the fish is alarmed the bone is whirled over and set in motion. Then it sticks out stiffly on each side. There is another such bone in the fin on the back, and when all of the bones are set there is no fish that can follow him.

When he takes the hook, which he surely will do if there is any hook to be taken, he will swallow it greedily. As he is drawn out of the water he will spit and laugh to himself. A boy pricks his fingers trying to get the hook from his stomach. The boy is sure to do, and because the boy of the Mississippi valley is always fishing for catfish is the reason why his fingers are always sore. The catfish is careless of the present and sure of the future. After he is strung on a birch branch and dried in the sun and sprinkled with dust and has his stomach dug out to recover the hook, if he falls into the brook he will swim away. He holds no malice and is ready to bite again at the first thing in sight.—Popular Science Monthly.

THE SALEMITES

The Washington County Independent Scalps Them.

FOOTBALL PROFESSIONALS.

The Hillsboro Independent says: "The P. U. football team went to Salem last Saturday to play the Willamette University team. Our team had protested several players that rumor reported as members of the Salem team on the ground that they were not bona fide students. The protest was of no avail, and our boys played the Salem men. At the end of the first half after having lost two fumbles by unfortunate fumbles, the score stood 6 to 0 in favor of Salem. Then it looked like the P. U. team would win, but early in the last half, Tongue, right tackle, was put out of the game by his opponent, Young, who is reported to be a professional. Tongue's place could not be filled so the game commenced going against Forest Grove. At the close of the game the score stood 24 to 0 in favor of the Salem team. "Salem team" is used purposely or it was not a college team, only as Willamette University loaned its name. There were but three or four genuine students who played. Savage is a drayman in the city. Sanders is a teacher in Chemawa Indian school. Jessup is a practicing dentist. Young is a professional from Portland. It is an attack on the asylum where he put in full time.

"Willamette University certainly is censurable for enrolling these men as students when they went an evening to some down town place and listened for an hour to a rambling talk on law. They never read a page of a text book during the day. The independent calls to mind something that was said last summer in the celebration of college presidents that was in radical opposition to football, bragging immorality, etc. It is further believed that it was the president of this Salem college who thus talked. The Forest Grove team was beaten, but it comes home honorably. The college football league was composed of P. U., O. A. C. U. of O., Albany and Willamette University.

"Because of the officer and makeup of the Willamette team the U. of O. and O. A. C. have withdrawn from the league. P. U. will do so and unite with the two former to constitute a new league that shall stand for pure and clean athletics. Salem and Albany remain in the league. Salem claims the pennant for 1899, and since there is no one disputing the claim, Savage, Young and Holt can pack it."

MID WINTER EXCURSION.

Dr. Barr, of Lebanon, Makes Another Low Rate to San Francisco

Dr. U. W. Barr, of Lebanon, who was so successful in handling an excursion from valley points to San Francisco in July, writes the GUARD that he will conduct a holiday excursion to the same city, the trains to pass through Eugene Tuesday evening, December 26. The rate from this point will not exceed $16.50 for the round-trip first class. Dr. Barr writes further that the rate will be extended to Eugene if enough people seem interested to pay him for the time and expense of working it up.

At the time of this excursion all of California as well as the city will be decked in roses and holiday attire. The best music and plays of the season will be on at the theatres, while churches and stores will have rich decorations.

Call on H. A. Vincent, at Corner Drug store, Eugene, or address Dr. C. W. Barr, Lebanon for further information.

ORGANIZATION.

Public School Union Is Now Ready for Active Work.

OFFICERS CHOSEN AND CONSTITUTION ADOPTED.

The Eugene Public School Union is fairly well organized and ready for business. A constitution has been adopted, officers elected, committees appointed, and plans laid for the year's work.

Judge E. O. Potter is the president; Superintendent E. D. Ressler, first vice-president; Miss Ida Patterson, secretary.

The executive committee consists of these officers and Mr. E. Schwanzsch and Mrs. Robert McMurphy.

The program committee is composed of Messrs. J. M. Shelley, P. E. Snodgrass, Rev. Rose, Dr. Cheshire, Prof. Dunn, and Messrs. J. F. Robinson, F. W. Osborn, I. L. Campbell, F. L. Gibbs and H. B. Miller.

The first meeting of the union will be on some evening of next week, and one other meeting will be held before Christmas. Further notice be given. Following is the CONSTITUTION OF THE EUGENE PUBLIC SCHOOL UNION.

Article 1.—The name of this organization shall be the "Eugene Public School Union."

Art. 2.—The object of the organization is to study and discuss questions of education in general, and the interests of the Eugene public schools in particular.

Art. 3.—The privilege of membership is extended to all citizens interested in signing the constitution and agreeing to attend all meetings possible shall be the only conditions of membership.

Art. 4.—The officers of this union shall consist of a president, three vice-presidents, a secretary, and an executive committee, composed of the officers and three additional members. These officers shall be elected annually, and shall serve until their successors are chosen.

Art. 5.—The duties of these officers shall be those usually pertaining to such offices in similar organizations. The formation and appointment of other committees shall be entrusted to the executive committee unless otherwise ordered by the union.

Art. 6.—The regular meetings of this union shall occur on the third Tuesday of each month of the school year, unless changed temporarily by the executive committee or the union.

From a Pastor

"I am the pastor of the Baptist Church at Port Jervis, N. Y., and sometimes am called upon to take part in evangelistic work away from home. Not long ago I went to Sandy Creek, N. Y., which is swept by the damp winds from Lake Ontario. Here I contracted a bad cough, and became so hoarse that I could hardly preach to my congregation. It was not only distressing in a bodily sense, but extremely embarrassing to me in this condition. I had heard of Ackerman's English Remedy and, after service, I bought a bottle and began taking it. The next night my throat was nearly well, and I delivered my sermon without difficulty. In a few days I was thoroughly cured. I conceive it to be my duty to benefit mankind physically as well as spiritually whenever I can, and am glad to write these words in praise of this grand old medicine. Those with sensitive throats and those who catch cold easily should certainly take Ackerman's English Remedy."

(Signed) Rev. Ezra Terry Sanford.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Old Brick Church Building, Eugene, Dec. 14-16.

The Willamette Poultry Association held a meeting in the courthouse yesterday, Nov. 29, for the purpose of furthering arrangements for the third annual exhibition which is to be held in Eugene Dec. 14-16, 99. The old Christian church building on the corner of Ninth and Pearl streets has been secured as a show room, and is very desirable in many respects.

Everything points to a successful show this season. Any information desired can be had by applying to the secretary, H. C. Wheeler, Pleasant Hill Oregon.

A NEW LOCATION.—Thomas W. Jenkins, after a residence of over eleven years in Eugene, has gone to Cottage Grove, where he will hereafter follow his trade. Mr. Jenkins thoroughly understands his trade, being a first-class workman. He has painted the leading buildings of the city. Among the number being the new courthouse and the First National bank. We can say to our friends in Cottage Grove and vicinity that he will do your work in a satisfactory way.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CHINESE COURT HISTORIANS

They May Write the Truth, For Their Work is Secret.

There are court historians in China, as there are in other countries, but there is one striking difference, and it lies in the fact that the work of the Chinese court historians does not see the light until the reigning dynasty comes to an end.

In this way these Celestial historians have an opportunity to describe most truthfully the virtues and vices of the various rulers and the real significance of the events which take place during their regime. They can write what they please without fear of censure, for they know that their work will not be published as long as the reigning dynasty lasts.

This has been the rule for more than 2,000 years, the first court historian having been appointed by the imperial house of Han, which reigned from 206 B. C. until 25 A. D.

The duty of these historians is to write plain accounts of all the events that occur during their tenure of office. At regular intervals their completed work is taken from them and is locked up in an iron safe or vault. There it remains until the first member of a new dynasty ascends the throne.

It is then given with all the other histories in the vault to the court historian, who is then living, and from the mass of documents he is expected to prepare a truthful history of the present dynasty. This has been required since 1040 and consequently no court history has been published since that date.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Route as Pronounced.

There are numerous excuses for the pronunciation of the word route, and a man may hardly go amiss to choose his own style. Down south they say always rowt. In the north, among the educated classes, we hear rout. Here also we hear, lower down, especially among the hyphenated Americans, rut. The Irish, even big folk, say rut. The original Webster gives the pronunciation as rowt, with an admission of root. We have adopted root because of a French leaning. The word rut, meaning a deep track in a roadway, cut by the rim of a wheel, is simply a contraction of route and root. The Century dictionary says root or rowt, preference for root. We also say routine for routine; why not, therefore, root for route? Rowtine would sound funny.—New York Press.

He Didn't Like Pledges.

Judge Martin Grover of Troy, N. Y., was at one time approached by a young citizen who wished to be nominated to the state assembly. The shrewd old judge had certain doubts about him, which he expressed somewhat freely, and yet he was willing to afford him a trial. He therefore addressed the aspirant in this way:

"Young man, if you will give me your word that you won't steal when you get to Albany, I'll see what kin be done about sending you there."

"Judge Grover," replied the young man, drawing himself up with great dignity, "I go to Albany unpledged or I don't go at all."

Wood Tax.

It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century. B. C. A bark is chosen and a hole dug into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath, and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

Young Brookhart Bound Over

Yoncalla, Or, Special: Walter Brookhart, aged 16 years, son of Dr. H. P. Brookhart, of Drain, was bound over here in the sum of $400 by Justice Perkins, charged with rape, his victim being 12-year old Ethel Sneed. The warrant had been out several days for Brookhart and he was finally arrested on the head of Smith river. He was left in charge of the constable until today to give him an opportunity to secure bonds which he has not yet succeeded in doing. Deputy District Attorney Riddle, of Roseburg, conducted the preliminary examination on behalf of the state.

The mother of Professor J. B. Letcher died at her home at Lexington, Virginia, Thursday, October 17th. She was born in 1823, and in 1843 was married to John Letcher, who was governor of Virginia from 1869 to 1891. A column obituary in the Richmond Churchman shows the deceased to have been a lady of rare virtue and distinguished qualities. A reunion of her seven children occurred at her home last August, and five of the latter were at her bedside when she passed away.
