Inland Football.

The Pendleton East Oregonian gives the following account of a recent football game in the inland empire. It is played somewhat differently in the valley:

"The Walla Walla football team met defeat at the hands of the Heppnerites in Friday's game. The score stood 16 to 0 in favor of the Heppner team. It was an exciting game throughout and the casualties among the Walla Walla boys were numerous. Seven of their men were knocked out and incapacitated from further taking part in the game. Four were disabled early in the game, and they were replaced by four new men. Before the game closed, however, three of the new men were taken from the field. It was stated that the Heppner men put a very good game and made some good runs and successfully checked several fine plays of the Walla Walla team. The Heppner team was the same as when they played Pendleton, with the exception of four new players."

SINGULAR DREAMING

TWO PECULIAR CASES OF BRAIN ACTIVITY IN SLEEP.

A Lawyer Who Solved a Knotty Problem He Could Not Master While Awake—An Exciting and Almost Tragic Railway Journey.

An Edinburgh lawyer, a confirmed somnambulist, went through a peculiar experience some little time ago. One evening, after dinner, he told his wife that he had a most difficult law case which would occupy him half the night to study out. For hours thereafter he grappled with its intricacies, but finally desisted, saying it would be impossible to make his brief until morning, since the case presented some difficulties that he had been unable to master.

He fell asleep from exhaustion almost as soon as he went to bed, but in a few minutes rose, and, seating himself at his desk, wrote furiously for an hour or more. Then, carefully folding and indorsing the sheets he had written upon, he put them away in a pigeonhole of his desk, after which, without speaking, he returned to his bed and slept soundly till late in the morning.

At breakfast he expressed some uncertainty as to his "finding a solution." His wife told him to look through his desk, which he did, discovering the paper he had written in the pigeonhole where he had hidden it. As he read it joy mingled with amazement showed plainly in his face, for the paper was a clearly reasoned, correctly phrased brief on the intricate case, with all the obscure points smoothed out! He had not the slightest recollection of having written the document.

Another extraordinary case is that of a young man who, an hour or so before starting on a railway journey, paid a visit to a steamer in which his parents were financially interested. In the course of the inspection he entered the little chamber in the bow of the vessel where the anchor chain is coiled and was impressed by the chamber's smallness and the cramped quarters it would afford a man sent down there to superintend the paying out of the chain. In due course the traveler went to the railway station and engaged a snug seat in the corner of a first class corridor and sleeping carriage. He had the compartment to himself. The train had not been long on its journey before the young man was sound asleep. But he imagined that he was awake and, moreover, that he was imprisoned in the little anchor chain compartment of the steamer. The vessel was under way, he thought, and moving more rapidly than he had ever known a steamer to move before.

His first idea was to go on deck at once, but he could not get out of the cell-like chamber. He could not stand erect even, the compartment was so little, as he found out at the cost of an imaginary bumped head when he attempted to rise. Then, to his surprise, he found that the room had a window, evidently a dead light, but square and unusually large. This he tried to raise, but, failing, determined to break it, thinking that he could seize the anchor chain and by its aid reach the deck.

There was only one way to smash the glass, and that was by striking it with his clinched fist. He knew that this would result in a cut hand probably, but he risked it all the same, for he felt certain now that the vessel was in a storm and likely to go down any moment, in which case he would be drowned like a rat in a trap.

Having smashed the glass, he found that the window was double, and he distinctly remembers breaking the outside pane, after which, with profusely bleeding hands, he carefully picked out the bits of glass remaining in the sashes, so that he could climb out.

After removing the last remaining fragment of glass from the sash he carefully thrust his head and arms out and began to feel for the chain. It was nowhere to be found. Then he pulled himself half way out of the window and reached upward.

To his great joy, he found he could reach over the edge of the deck; but, to his dismay, it was curved and smooth, offering no projection whatever by which he might pull himself up. That being the case, and not wishing to fall into the water and be drowned, he painfully drew back into the little chamber. However, he must certainly escape or be drowned, and after getting his breath he would make another attempt to reach the deck.

As he lay panting and frightened he accidentally reached in the direction away from the deadlight. To his surprise, he touched a swaying window blind, and the next moment he found himself lying on the floor of the corridor of the onrushing train, with a window down, through which he had evidently been trying to reach the deck of the imaginary steamer. The wonder was he did not lose his grip and fall on the line. It was his fear of being drowned that prevented him from being killed on the railway. The young fellow had a long and serious illness after his experience, and, strange to say, when he recovered his somnambulistic habit left him.—Washington Star.

An Odd Coincidence.

In one of the historical volumes of John F. Magginness is recounted a most remarkable coincidence. On the very day that the Declaration of Independence was promulgated and old Liberty bell proclaimed the joyful news in Philadelphia a little band of Scotch-Irish settlers, without any knowledge, of course, of what was occurring elsewhere, assembled at a certain place on the banks of Pine creek, about 14 miles above where now stands the city of Williamsport, and declared themselves free from the yoke of British rule.

THE RUSH FOR NOME

Six Thousand Men at Dawson Awaiting the Opening of Navigation.

STEAMERS READY FOR THE WORK.

A dispatch from Dawson to the Juneau Dispatch says it is estimated that fully 6000 people will be ready to go to Nome when navigation opens, to be followed later on by many others, who will have to remain in Dawson until after the wash-up in June and July. To carry this crowd the steamers below are at Dawson at present, and will be ready for the traffic, unless taken out by the ice when the river opens. The steamer John G. Barr and barge New York are the only two that are really in a perilous condition.

The list of steamers and barges will carry 11,800 passengers and 16,450 tons of freight.

The foregoing does not include 20 steamers on the up-river run, all of which were tested to their capacity last season. Tickets are now being sold at $150. Many men will save this however, by going down in barges and small boats, as the trip can be made from here in 15 to 20 days.

McKINLEY AND DEWEY.

President and Hero of Manila to Visit Pacific Coast.

NEW YORK, March 19.—As before stated in Washington dispatches, President and Mrs McKinley and probably certain members of the Cabinet will visit California and other West Coast States this summer. It is, at least, the President's intention at this time, to be in San Francisco when the battle-ship Ohio is launched from Scott's shipyard.

The President will go North from San Francisco to Portland and Seattle and then East through Minneapolis and St Paul. It is understood that the trip is made for pleasure, but the real purpose of the journey is to work up renewed interest in Major McKinley's behalf for his re-election as President of the United States.

NEW YORK, March 19.—There is excellent authority for stating that Admiral and Mrs Dewey will make a lengthy tour through the Western and Northwestern States this Spring. They will go first to Detroit and then West to Minneapolis and St Paul. It is stated that they will spend several days in the Twin Cities. While in Minnesota they may visit Duluth. They intend to go West from St Paul through North Dakota and Montana on their way to the West Coast States.

It is believed that while on the Pacific Slope, they will visit Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and several other prominent cities of that section of the country.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated of him as follows: 'I was in a most dreadful condition My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Linn's drug store.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E Springer, of Howard street, Philadelphia, Pa, when she found that Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this royal cure, "It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." So will everyone who tries Dr King's New Discovery for any trouble of the throat, chest or lungs. Price, 50c and $1.00. "I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes Mr. W.H. Stapleton, Herminie, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. For sale by W. L. DeLano.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquifies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. From a Pastor

"I am the pastor of the Baptist Church at Port Jervis, N. Y., and sometimes am called upon to take part in evangelistic work away from home. Not long ago I went to Sandy Creek, N. Y., which is swept by the damp winds from Lake Ontario. Here I contracted a bad cough, and became so hoarse that I could hardly preach to my congregation. It was not only distressing in a bodily sense, but extremely embarrassing to enter the pulpit in this condition. I had heard of Acker's English Remedy and, after service, I bought a bottle and began taking it. The next night my throat was nearly well, and I delivered my sermon without difficulty. In a few days I was thoroughly cured. I conceive it to be my duty to benefit mankind physically as well as spiritually whenever I can, and am glad to write these words in praise of this grand old medicine. Those with sensitive throats and those who catch cold easily should certainly take Acker's English Remedy."
