SINCE THREE'S A CROWD.
To park and play she's gone with me For eighteen months or more; I've found her best of company In trips and shore,
And yet of love she's never framed A word for me, I'll own.
Yet for this lack she can't be blamed—She's Dolly's chaperone.

She never views in listless way At flower shows the prize;
She quite appreciates a play—You see that in her eyes.
Her sphere of action's limited,
The escort's not her own,
But unobtrusive, be it said,
Is Dolly's chaperone.

She's twenty-five if she's a day,
And Dolly's but nineteen;
Her eyes are blue and Dolly's gray—Blue eyes are true, I ween.
Since "three's a crowd" I think, mayhap, I'll woo a maid alone;
I've half a mind to set my cap For Dolly's chaperone.
—Roy Farrell Greene in Detroit Free Press.

HAD A TENDER HEART.
An Incident of Lord Lawrence's Sea Voyage to India.
Lord Lawrence, viceroy of India, was a blunt man of action, impatient of contradiction and thoroughly selfreliant. Yet, like many of the truly great, he had a heart as tender as a woman's. The night on which he started from London to govern India he gathered all his family in the drawing room and made each child repeat a favorite hymn to him. His youngest son, 10 years old, nestled in his father's arms. Suddenly the strong man burst into tears.
"I shall never," he cried, "see Bertie a child again."
It was not of the hardships before him or of his own death he thought, but of the fact that Bertie would not be a child to him on his return.
On board the steamer with the governor general of India was a lady with her infant child. She neglected the baby, which revenged itself by crying day and night. The passengers complained in language more forcible than polite.
"Steward, throw that baby overboard!" was petulantly shouted from sleepless berths.
At last Lord Lawrence, seeing that the child was left motherless by its own mother, took it on his knee. For hours he would hold it, showing it his watch and anything that would amuse it. The child took to the great, strong man and was always quiet when he held it.
"Why do you, my lord," asked one of the relieved passengers, surprised to see the governor general of India playing nurse to a crying baby, "why do you take such notice of that child?"
"Because, to tell you the truth," answered Lord Lawrence, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "that child is the only being in the ship who can feel quite sure does not want to get anything out of me."—Pastimes.

BROUGHT BACK OLD TIMES.
A Tidbit That Was Not on the Restaurant Bill of Fare.
The force of childhood recollections and the truth of the quotation, "A touch of nature makes the whole world kin," were shown graphically by a little incident in a restaurant the other day. A quiet looking, middle aged man of prosperous appearance was waiting his dinner when another well dressed man took a seat opposite him.
After giving his order in a bluff, genial manner the newcomer took a sip of water and faced around. Suddenly a queer expression came over his face as he watched attentively the actions of his vis-a-vis, and apparently without realizing what he was doing he burst out in a loud tone, "Well, well, well!"
Every one at the table, including the quiet looking man, started, and the others, observing the direction of the speaker's gaze, turned their eyes also upon him of the quiet appearance to see what had caused the exclamation.
The man who had come in first was in the act of spreading sugar over a slice of buttered bread, and when he realized that his eyes were turned upon him he blushed like one detected in a heinous crime and almost fell off his chair. It took him a minute or two to recover, and then he said to the table in general:
"I used to get bread and butter and sugar for being good when I was a child, and eating it is a habit which I could not resist the temptation."
"I must beg your pardon for my rude exclamation," replied the other man.
"My mother used to put bread and butter and sugar in my lunchbox when I went to school as an 8-year-old up in the country town where I was raised, and I haven't eaten any since my childhood, and I guess I'll join you in a piece now for the sake of old times."
And he did.—Bangor Whig.

CASHING DRAFTS ABROAD.
Easy Banking Methods Which Cause Americans Much Surprise.
"The continental banking methods are a great surprise to Americans," said a resident of New Orleans who has just returned from a trip abroad.
"When I was in Paris last month, I met a friend one day who had an English draft for £100 on one of the largest banks in the city and wanted to get the money. He had nobody to identify him, but said, half jokingly, that he was going to try for it anyhow, and we went to the place together."
"We were shown up stairs to a large reception room set aside especially for customers, and presently a messenger came in and took the draft. About a dozen other people were also waiting in the room, and after a delay of about ten minutes a well dressed young gentleman came to the door and bawled out in a loud voice, 'Mr. John Smith!' My friend (call him John Smith for short) got up and was handed a bundle of bank notes. No questions were asked."
"I was astonished, and in going out I took occasion to ask the well dressed young gentleman whether the bank wasn't taking desperate chances doing business in that catch as catch can fashion. 'And why?' he inquired, opening his eyes. I tried to explain, and he shrugged his shoulders. 'We have never had any losses,' he said.—New Stocking Superstitions.

On the Welsh border it used to be considered that the surest precaution against witchcraft was to wear the left stocking wrong side out. This leads us to another kind of superstition connected with the harmless, necessary hose—their value, when properly worn or arranged, as charms or as protections against sickness or pain. If you will only take the trouble when you go to bed to cross your stockings and shoes, you will be quite safe from the grip of cramp. Again, if you hang your stockings crosswise at the foot of the bed, with a pin stuck in them, you need have no fear of nightmare; the bag has a holy horror of cross and pin.
Wiseacres have also been heard to declare that if you will always put your left stocking and shoe on first you will enjoy immunity from toothache. This, however, the most superstitious of mortals will likely take leave to doubt.
Toothache, that "hell of a disease," as Burns calls it, is no respecter of persons nor assuaged by stockings or legs.
—Notes and Queries.

Equal to the Occasion.
People do not often make the mistake of giving too much. A certain woman who not long ago entered a Glasgow church was an exception to the rule—at least she thought so. She passed the collection box at the door and dropped in sixpence. Then she took her seat in the church and waited until the preacher appeared.
To her disappointment the officiating minister was not the Dr. H. whom she had come to hear. On inquiry she found that she had entered the wrong church. It was not yet too late to hear the preacher of her choice, but the sixpence was another matter. To leave it in the box would be clear loss. The woman was equal to the occasion.
Slowly descending the gallery stairs, she requested her sixpence back and received it from the officiating elder.—

Knock-Out Drops
"I am a saloon-keeper, and used to think that rock and rye, or whiskey and quinine were proper remedies for coughs and colds. Most of my acquaintances were of the same opinion.
Now I know something better. It is Acker's English Remedy for Coughs and Colds. A good while ago I began to cough and found out then that rock and rye was no good. I got worse and I was beginning to think that the trouble would run into consumption. I didn't take any stock in patent medicines, but somehow or other I tried Acker's English Remedy. One bottle did the business for me—knocked that cough out completely—and it has never come back again. There is never a day passes that I don't say a good word about this wonderful medicine. I almost forgot to say that I am stronger and healthier now, since taking the remedy, than I was before the cough began. I write this letter voluntarily and cheerfully and am glad to do it." (Signed) CHRIS. HEMBLE,

The Best in the World.
We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best
