More Bryan Sayings.

Wheat is a lower price now than during the "Bryan" panic, but in the present prosperous times the farmer pays twice as much for binding twine, barbed wire and nails, than he trusts fostered by McKimley and Hanna.

Furniture, stoves, coal, lumber and nearly everything else is up and wheat down in the present prosperous times of republican administration.

Why did President McKimley announce benevolent assimilation of the Philippines, when he is used a call for 100,000 troops two months before the actual opening of hostilities?

Instead of helping starving India, England sends money to Africa to kill off a republic—that is imperialism.

England has been preaching gunpowder religion in India for 150 years, yet less than 1 per cent of the native population is Christianized. Will our imperialistic policy have better results?

Republicans explain the imperialistic policy this way: (1) There is money in it; (2) God is in it; (3) We are in it—and can't get out of it.

The administration republicans, don't dare to make a money estimate on the life of one brave soldier sacrificed to get Oriental trade. This is the basis of the politician, but humanity won't allow him to express it.

The people spend what they spend and the syndicates make what we make.

Trade purchases at the cannon's mouth is not worth what it cost.

If there is a lower argument for the murder of savages than that of money it is the message that God commands us to kill them—the destiny of Divine right.

The republican has three arguments for the retention of the Philippines: (1) God gave them to us; (2) We bought them from Spain; (3) We whipped the Philippines and are entitled to them; but they can defend neither, while one good reason would be plenty.

Give the Filipino independence! Henry Clay said: "To say that God ever made a race incapable of self-government is to impeach the wisdom of God."

Deny the destiny which makes a thief of a man who happens to wake up near enough a chicken to reach it.

SINCE LOGS.—Morris Johnson is in from his logging camp on the Siuslaw and tells a reporter of this paper that all he needed now was plenty of rain to raise the river so his logs could be floated down to the mills. He says several million feet are now in the river waiting for a raise.

Mrs. Harriet Evans, Hinesdale, Ill., writes, "I never fail to relieve my children from cramp at once by using One Minute Cough Cure. I would not feel safe without it." Quickly cures coughs, colds, grippe and all throat and lung diseases. Vincent & Co., Corner Drug Store.

"On the Suwanee River."

"On the Suwanee River" comes to the Parker next Friday night the 13th, endorsed as a play to which families may be taken with the assurance that its theme and treatment cannot but appeal to one's great emotions. The story and treatment is the old one of mortgaged estates, intrigue and the eventual clearing away of a villainous atmosphere before the sunshine of honesty and morality. There is a pathetic love story, a rich vein of humor, and permeating all is the distinct southern flavor of the sunny climes in which the play revolves.

A careful scenic investigator has been provided, a meritorious company is promised, and taken as a whole, "On the Suwanee River" must prove an addition to the "home plays" of the stage. Stella Maybaw will again be the "Aunt Lindy" this season. Remember this company is under the same management of the Who is Who company.

Pudd'nhead Wilson.

There is a sterling attraction booked for the Parker on Monday the 9th, when that distinguished actor Burr McIntosh, will hold forth in that greatest of character plays, Mark Twain's "Pudd'nhead Wilson." It is unlikely that too much enthusiasm can be expressed for the wonderful success of this dramatization of a famous book Actor Mayo's transcription of Author Clemens' work. Everybody knows the story of Pudd'nhead Wilson. The scene is laid in the prologue way back in 1838, in which by an accident that by the exercise of great art the author has made as trivial as possible two children, one of gentle birth, the other the offspring of a slave, are confused on the day of christening. That error goes undiscovered for 23 years. During which time the slave child grows up to be a gentleman villain, while the boy of high birth comes to be a young fellow of heroic quality, whose slave training cannot obscure the inherent gentleness of his character or vigor of his manhood. What possibilities when cast about with a pretty story set upon a sea in which the trading of crime leads straight to the confusion of the babies just mentioned could be more interesting.

The Latest War News.

The latest war news is eagerly sought after. To some it brings happiness, as they read of valiant deeds accomplished, while to others, the same message brings sorrow, when they note the death or capture of their loved ones. There is also much sorrow and suffering throughout our own country by those who have been captured by that greatest enemy—Dyspepsia. For this, however, there is a remedy and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also cures indigestion, constipation, biliousness, nervousness and insomnia, and as a preventative for malaria, fever and ague it is unequalled. It has a record of fifty years of cures to back it up and a trial will convince you that your case is not incurable, as you will find after taking a few doses your stomach will be strengthened.

A GOOD LAW.—Corvallis Gazette: The first person in this county to take advantage of the law, which offers a rebate of road taxes to those using whitewire wagons, is W P McFarland, of Wren. Mr McFarland was in the city Saturday to pay his taxes, and as he uses a wagon having 4-inch tires, he was granted a rebate of $2 per wheel. The law, the object of which is to encourage the use of wide tread vehicles, offers a rebate of $2 per wheel on all vehicles having tires which exceed three inches in width, and $4 for each wheel if the tires are four inches and the front and hind tires do not run in the same track. Mr McFarland's tires are four inch, but follow the same track.

"I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure in my family with wonderful results. It gives immediate relief, is pleasant to take and is truly the dyspeptic's best friend," says E Harterink, Overisel, Mich. Digests what you eat. Cannot fail to cure. Vincent & Co., Corner Drug Store.
