HOW TO CATCH A COLD.

The Various Ways in Which It May Be Accomplished.

The various ways in which a cold may be brought on are thus described by Dr. J. H. Kellogg: "A little knife blade of air blowing in through a crack in a window upon some part of the body will chill that part, and the blood vessels of that region will become contracted, affecting somewhere in the interior of the body an area in reflex relation with this portion of the surface of the body.

"For instance, the blood vessels of the skin of the top of the shoulders and the chest are associated with the blood vessels of the lungs, so that whatever happens to the blood vessels of the skin of the shoulders and chest happens also to the blood vessels of the lungs. If there is a contraction of the blood vessels of the back of the neck, there will be a contraction of the blood vessels of the nose and throat, and if there is a contraction of the blood vessels of the top of the shoulders and the shoulder blades there will also be a contraction of the blood vessels of the lungs. When the influence of the cold is continued, this contraction is followed by congestion.

"When one puts his hands into cold water for a few minutes, they are first pale and then red. This is reaction. The longer the application and the more intense the degree of cold the greater will be the contraction and the congestion. So if the back of the neck is exposed for a long time to the influence of cold one is likely to have a cold in the nose and throat. If the shoulder blades and the tops of the shoulders are exposed, one is likely to take cold in the lungs and suffer from congestion of the lungs. If the cold is long continued, it may cause not only a congestion, but an inflammation of the nose or the lungs.

"So if the bottoms of the feet become wet or chilled a weakness of the bladder may result if there has ever been a trouble there or a weakness of the stomach if there has been a catarrh of that organ."—Good Health.

BABY'S PRETTY CURLS.

Pulled Them Off In a Car and Embarrassed Her Mamma.

A well dressed woman with a beautiful baby in her arms attracted the attention of all the passengers on a Germantown car. Every one was fascinated by the baby's pretty and smiling face and particularly by two golden curls which hung down her cheeks.

After awhile the child became nervous and began to tug at one of the curls which protruded from her hood. The woman, presumably her mother, quickly stopped her, but a few moments later she looked out of the window. No sooner was her face turned than the child seized her bonnet with both hands and pulled it off. It offerer little resistance, but to the astonishment of every one on the car the curls came with it, and the supposed golden haired baby showed that in reality its head was without the semblance of a hair.

The child swung the bonnet to and fro and laughingly held it up for the inspection of the other passengers. It was almost a minute before the woman turned around. When she saw what the baby had done, her face flushed, and without a word she picked up the child and walked sedately out of the car. When last seen, she was trudging down Spring Garden street with the baby tucked under her arm like a sack of oats, but still holding tightly to the bonnet and cooing, "See my pooty hair?"—Philadelphia Times.

Behind the Scenes.

"A good many people," said a veteran stage manager the other day, "have an idea that beyond the scenes of a stage there is great fun and hilarity and that actors have a jolly sort of time between their appearances before the audience. The fact is a military camp during times of inspection is no more sedate than is the rear of any well regulated stage when the public in front of the footlights is being entertained. The shifting of scenes and the proper execution of an intricate play require all the thought that can be given them. All the men and women have all they can do to properly perform their parts. If a manager is an easy going man, caring little for discipline, he soon gets to the end of his career. You may be sure there is no business that is carried on in a more businesslike way than is the playhouse, and when the fun is on in the front those behind the scenes are carefully watching to see that no hitch occurs and that every one is ready to do his part at the proper time and does it properly when the time comes."—Washington Star.

How to Dry Rubber Boots.

It was a problem how to dry out hip rubber boots. In the sitting room there was an open grate fire which was covered every night with fine coal and a few shovelfuls of ashes, so that the room never became quite cold. We found that if we heated a piece of old flannel as hot as possible and stuffed it down into the foot of a boot and stood the boot in front of the fireplace it was as dry as a bone next morning. The handiest thing to keep the boot leg open is a spring steel corset rib about 18 inches long by three-quarter inch in width.—Forest and Stream.

Refrigerated Eggs.

Eggs become unwholesome when kept in refrigerators. A fungus forms in them which is easily found by the microscope, although it is not noticeable to the taste. The fungus constitutes a danger when we consider how many eggs are consumed by all classes of society, and people of delicate constitutions ought to be particularly careful that they eat fresh and not kept eggs.

PLAYED OUT.

Dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, feverishness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of impure blood. No matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Elixir has never failed to cure Scrofulous or Syphilitic poisons, or any other blood diseases. It is certainly a wonderful remedy and we sell every bottle on positivea guarantee. For sale by W L DeLano.

MAY BE HESSIAN FLY.

That Scourge Reported Down the Valley—A Lane County Field Answers Description.

Presley Comegys brings us some samples of fall wheat from his farm above Springfield that looks very sorry indeed. The wheat promised exceedingly well during the springtime, but now the stalks and leaves are dried up and brown while the heads of wheat are very few and those seem to have little wheat in them. The heads are short and have only two rows of wheat instead of the usual four. Mr. Comegys is of the opinion that his fifty acres of fall wheat will not produce five bushels to the acre, and will not be worth cutting. He reports other fields of wheat in the "Forks," the best wheat section in Lane county, in the same condition. Spring wheat is not far enough along to determine how it will turn out, yet there is so little spring wheat sown nowadays that it would make little difference with the crop however it may be affected.

REPORTS OF HESSIAN FLY.

Can the injury be the result of the dreaded Hessian fly? A Hillsboro, Washington county, dispatch of June 9 says:

"Farmers in this vicinity are becoming alarmed over the possibility of a wheat evil which has hitherto never bothered Washington county growers. For some weeks the fall sown grain has appeared to be afflicted with rust, but closer examination has revealed that the Hessian fly, the terror of Mississippi valley graingrowers, has attacked this part of the Willamette valley. About two weeks ago Henry Hesse, a prominent North Plains farmer found the first larvae of the wheat destroyer. He brought them to this city, and all authorities pronounced them the eggs of the Hessian fly. The report now reaches this city that larvae has been found in a district extending over 15 miles west of the Multnomah line, and while the insect is now affecting the winter grain, farmers fear its attack on the spring-sown grain."

The Hessian fly is a minute midget, somewhat smaller than the common gnat, which it somewhat resembles. It is confined to the United States though allied species are found in Europe. The female fly lays twenty to thirty eggs in a crease of the leaf of the young wheat plant, and the larvae when hatched work their way between the leaf and the stalk till they come to a joint, a little below the surface, where they remain head down, sucking the sap, and turn to pupae in a covering. There are two broods every year, one reaching the fly state in May, the other in August or early in September. The usual result of the attack is that small stunted needs only are formed, the few grains of which shrivel and scarcely ripen, the straw also being of inferior quality. The insect is about one seventh of an inch long and in stage group themselves in regular rings round the stem attacked.

Forest Supervisors and Rangers.

Captain S B Ormsby, superintendent of the Cascade forest rangers, Saturday received from the Commissioner of the General Land Office a telegram directing his to assign the three supervisors to duty, dating from June 11. He has made the assignments as follows: W H H Dufur, northern division, Enos Dixon, central division, which includes that portion of the reserve in Lane county, and Nat Langell, southern division.

Each division is divided into districts. Superintendant Ormsby will assign the rangers to divisions and the supervisors will assign them to districts. The rangers have not yet been appointed, but probably will be on June 15.

I consider it not only a pelasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recomending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. Lynch, Dorr, W Va. This remedy is sold by W L DeLano.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said at first it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get around to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 50-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends. F. A. Babcock, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by W. L. DeLano.
