OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVE.

There are no days like the good old days—
The days when we were youthful;
When humankind were pure of mind
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for social gold
Became man's ruling passion.
And before each dame and maid became
Slaves to the tyrant fashion.

There are no girls like the good old girls—
Against the world I stake 'em—
As to their amors and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em.
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
A pity all supporting;
They could bake and brew and had taught
School, too.
And they made the likeliest courtin'.

There are no boys like the good old boys
When we were boys together,
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather,
When the peewee sang to the summer dawn
Of the bee in the hillyow clover,
Or down by the mill the whippoorwill
Echoed his night song so.

There is no love like the good old love—
The love that mother gave us.
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us.
So we dream and dream of the good old times,
And our hearts grow tender, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away from yonder.

—Eugene Field.

WELLINGTON'S DECISION.

When the Moment to Strike Had Come, He Did Not Hesitate.

Badajos lies in Spain five miles from the Portuguese frontier. It was the key of a situation, Wellington's chance was to strike at Badajos before the French marshals could combine and crush him. His task was both in front of him and behind him. He lacked transport; he lacked food for the men; the soldiers were eating cassava root instead of bread; the bullocks were weak and emaciated. All this was the doing of the parliament at home.

But Wellington knew that the moment to strike had come, and he seems to have hesitated very little. Placing no faith in the tongues of the Portuguese, he made his plans with all possible secrecy. The guns for the siege were loaded on board the transport at Lisbon and consigned to a fictitious address. But in the river Sadhao they were placed upon smaller vessels, and finally they were again landed and drawn by bullocks to Elvas, a post in the possession of the allies. Having stationed two-thirds of his force under General Graham and General Hill to prevent a possible interference by Soult and Marmont, Wellington advanced, reaching Elvas on the 11th of March, 1812. He had made the most incredible exertions.

The stupidity of the Portuguese had vied with the stupidity of the government at home. Wellington had been carrying the preparation for the campaign upon his own shoulders. If he was to win Badajos, he was to win it with no help save that from gallant and trustworthy subordinates. He was ill withal. Even his strangely steel-like nature had bent beneath the trouble of preparation amid such indifference. But on March 16 Beresford, with three divisions, crossed the Guadiana on pontoons and flying bridges, drove the enemy's outposts and invested Badajos. Stephen Crane in New Lipincott's.

Never admit defeat or poverty, though you seem to be down and have not a cent. Stoutly assert your divine right to be a man, to hold your head up and look the world in the face. Never allow yourself to be a traitor to your own cause by undermining your self confidence.

THE CITY OF HONGKONG.

It is One of the Most Unhealthy Spots on the Globe.

In spite of all the precautions that have been taken, the perfect sanitation of the city, the fine natural drainage, the cleanliness of the streets, Hongkong is one of the most unhealthy spots on the globe. With its tropical heat the lofty peaks that half encircle it catch the clouds that the rapid travelling winds carry, and they are squeezed like a sponge, the floods of rain pouring down in streaming torrents.

The houses lack light, although they are built as well as they could be, with perforated ceilings, through which the air circulates, admitted from openings placed by the outer walls. The floors are brilliantly waxed, carpets, owing to the great dampness, being dispensed with. The great difficulty is to secure light and proper ventilation. The streets are very narrow, and the towering walls of buildings opposite obstruct the light in front, while at the rear the courts of tenements crowded with foliage cast a heavy shade from that direction. In the gardens, while plants flourish luxuriantly, there is no grass, but as it grows in damp, shady places in cooler climates. The heat and the great humidity are destructive to health, and it is doubtful if there is a single normal liver in the whole of Hongkong.

English women who come out with complexions of cream and roses grow thin and sallow. The Hongkong complexion is a startling grayish green, and the old resident has with this paler dark bluish circles under the eyes. The least exertion includes exhaustive perspiration, and people become gaunt and thin.—Boston Transcript.

The Hungry Half Hour.

The hungry half hour that so often comes before bedtime can be appetizingly catered to by the "cheese crackers." Take any of the popular afternoon crackers on the market, and their name is legion, and spread with a little butter and sprinkle lightly with grated Parmesan cheese. Place on a dish in the oven long enough to brown them slightly. They are good when thus prepared if kept for several days.

His Heart Not of That Kind.

"Mister," pleaded he, "won't you open your heart and give an old man a chew of tobacco?"

"No," snapped the well dressed man; "you must think I have a tobacco heart."—Chicago News.

Financial Difficulties.

"Pa, what is financial difficulty?"

"Well, it is having so much money you don't know what to do with it or having so little money that you can't do a thing."—Detroit Free Press.
