MONDAY — JULY 9

A GREAT SCENE

Proving that the People at Kansas City Meant Business.

Mr. Tillman stepped to the front at the democratic convention at Kansas City and was greeted with a cheer. He read the platform in a full, round voice, easily heard throughout the hall.

As he proceeded each plank was greeted with applause. The senator accompanied his reading with emphatic gestures, striding up and down the platform, turning this way and that, as is his manner in the senate. There was a howl of approval as he clenched his fist and fiercely arraigned the course of the administration in Cuba. But it remained for his reading of the declaration that "imperialism is the paramount issue of this campaign" to evoke a storm of enthusiasm. The delegates sprang to their feet, standing on chairs, waving hats, handkerchiefs, umbrellas and flags, while the galleries took up the chorus and carried it along for many minutes. Senator Hill could be seen marshaling the hosts to cheer. He held a fan high above his head and added his voice to the vociferous shouting. A second time Senator Tillman read this declaration, and now even a greater demonstration carried the convention off its feet. Suddenly hundreds, then thousands, of miniature American flags were passed among the delegates, and the whole floor of the vast structure became a sea of flags. In an instant later the flags swept over the galleries like a mass of flames. Bundles of them were tossed upon the seats and distributed. The scene was magnificently inspiring, and the great audience waxed to fever heat. On each flag was the device, "The constitution and the flag are inseparable, now and forever. The flag of the republic forever; of an empire never."

While the demonstration was at its height the band sent another thrill through the audience by playing "Dixie" and a medley of patriotic airs. State standards were again torn down from their sockets, banners were raised, and a triumphal procession of delegates marched about the hall. Now the strains of the band turned on "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," at which the entire audience as with a single voice, joined the mighty and swelling chorus. Amid the billowing of the flags could be seen a tall standard bearing the inscription: "Forceful annexation would be criminal aggression. William McKinley."

A CLIMAX SPRUNG.
It was at this juncture that the climax was sprung upon the great assembly. A huge flag had been strung across the roof between two trusses, and as the signal was given the cords were cut and slowly it unrolled its white and crimson folds, as it fell gracefully and hung over the platform slightly to the rear and south of the speaker's desk. The banner was an enormous affair, being fully 50 feet long and about one-half as wide, upon the broad stripes were printed the following sentences in large letters of blue:

"Constitutional governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

"The constitution and the flag, one and inseparable, now and forever."

"The flag of a republic forever; of an empire never."

"A republic can have no colonies."

To the vast majority of those in the hall the flag was an unexpected accident, and its appearance was the signal for a frantic roar, which caused everything that had gone before it to sink into insignificance. For a full two minutes the cords of the flag caught and would not permit it to fall to its full length. It was caught up just enough to prevent the convention from reading the inscriptions upon the banner, and until they were released and the banner swung free the enthusiasm increased every second. When finally every word was visible, there was a climax of cheers that was deafening.

Senator Tillman stood surveying the storm and awaiting an opportunity to proceed. The chairman pounded his gavel and appealed for order. But the march of the delegates bearing their standards and banners ran out uninterruptedly for 12 minutes. As Senator Tillman was about to resume, he remarked that the thread of his discourse had been broken, and that down south they were in the habit of saying: "Hell, hell has broken loose in Missouri."

There were cries of "Good, good," when the trust plank was read. When the senator reached the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform, with the declaration of free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, pandemonium again broke loose. But the demonstration was nothing in comparison to what had just occurred when imperialism was announced as "the paramount issue." Many of the delegates stood on their chairs and waved flags, and cheered, but a very considerable number—more than half—held their seats. Senator Hill was among those who maintained quiet, while Mr. Croker waved a flag until it broke, and George Fred Williams led the Massachusetts contingent in salutes of cheers. One of the New York delegates raised a standard bearing the inscription, "Don't think there are no 16-to-1ers in New York." The demonstration lasted 4½ minutes.

There was intense scorn in the senator's voice as he read the platform arraignment of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, evoking mingled laughter and applause.

The Boer plank brought out another cheer, and the senator received a round of applause as he closed. His voice throughout was admirable, and he made himself heard throughout the vast hall. His reading, too, was forceful and effective. When the applause subsided, Chairman Jones, of the platform committee, said he had been instructed to move that the platform should be adopted by the convention by acclamation. The motion was put and amid a roar of cheers and applause the platform was adopted without a word of dissent. The announcement of Chairman Richardson, of the adoption of the platform, was followed by a stunning shout, which made the building ring from one end to the other.

"A Bright Little Boy"

Would be sure of a welcome in almost any home. But what a welcome he would have in a home where the hope of children had been extinguished. What a welcome this particular "bright little boy" did have in such a home, may be judged by the closing paragraph of his mother's letter, given below.

There is no room for the whole letter, which recounts a story of fifteen years of suffering and a perfect cure by the use of "three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription." It is a story of "Golden Medical Discovery," and some of the "Fetters."

In many instances children are the result of conditions which are curable. It has often happened that when "Favorite Prescription" has cured a woman of female weakness and the nervous condition attending it, her return to health is signified by the birth of her first child. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I cannot tell you Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. T. A. Hogan, of Norris, Wagona Co., N. C. "It will do all that is claimed for it—prevent miscarriage and render childbirth easy. It has given me a bright little boy, and not have had him had it not been for your wonderful medicine. I cannot say too much in praise of it. I think it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God for my life, and Dr. Pierce for my health."

"Pleasant Pellets" clear the complexion.

All the Hog lands in Benton and Lincoln counties said to amount to 400,000 acres have been sold to a new company called the Astoria Co. The property is pretty well covered up with unpaid taxes.

Paris Fair

The American exhibit at the Paris Exposition will be an open volume, whose lessons of skillfully directed endeavor and unflinching energy may be read by all. Our Government Building is completed, and no effort has been spared to make it worthy to represent our nation. It was by the same American perseverance that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the famous dyspepsia cure, was first produced. Since that time—fifty years ago—it has never failed to cure constipation, indigestion, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles, and it will make rich red blood. It is an excellent tonic, and is a regulator for the bowels that cannot be equalled. All druggists sell it. Do not be talked into taking something "just as good." There is nothing equal to it.

An Epidemic of Whooping Cough

Last winter during an epidemic of whooping cough my children contracted the disease, having severe coughing spells. We had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy very successfully for cough and naturally turned to it at that time and found it relieved the cough and effected a complete cure.—John E. Clifford, Proprietor, Norwood House, Norwood, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by W. L. DeLano.
