CAUGHT BY BANDITS.

THE INCONVENIENCE OF BEING MIS-TAKEN FOR A LORD.

With Two Pairs of Eyes and Possibly Two Lives at Stake and No Reason to Blame, the Captives Decided It Was Time For Business.

(Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.)

If an American wants to go abroad on a cash capital of $500, there is no law to prevent, even if he is a newspaper man who has saved and economized for six or seven years to get that much wealth together. When I started out with my friend Gilliam, who was an artist instead of a journalist, and had $50 less capital as well, we took steamer passage on a steamer and planned to do Europe on foot and avoid all extravagances. As to how we got along until we struck Greece and a certain event happened is of no great consequence. We tramped here and there, ate, slept and had a fairly good time.

From Athens we went on a tramp up the country, viewing temples and ruins by the way, and after putting in two days at Marathon we started out one morning for a hamlet called Histropus. We were first met by about a dozen dogs of all sizes, ages and colors, and each one a worse looking dog than the one who came after. After we had clubbed the pack off we were charged down upon by nine children of various sizes and ages, all of whom needed soap and water. They talked around us for small coin, and not getting any they fell back and gave four women a chance. We got rid of the latter to encounter three men, one of whom could speak a little English. They were dirty, ragged fellows, who did not hesitate to threaten us, and not a word could we get out of them about the ruins until we had come down with backsheers. Gilliam started out after a bit to do some sketching, while I found a place to take a nap, and the inhabitants of Histropus finally got out of breath begging for coins and trying to get us to buy a skeleton old goat for $2 and went back to their den infested huts.

At the end of two hours I was awakened by some one giving me a smart kick on the hip, and I roused up to see that we had been taken prisoners by four brigands. The fellows had come down off the mountains, about four miles away, having probably been notified by a messenger from the village. I have many times read of the picturesque Greek brigands, but the four who gobbled us up that day must have gone out of the picturesque business some weeks previous. They were a ragged, ugly lot, no better than the men of the village, and we were far more disgusted with their breath than afraid of their knives. The leader spoke English fairly well, and I have always felt grateful to him on that account. All leaders of Greek brigands should learn three or four languages before proceeding to business, as it is a great help toward an understanding about identity, money matters and so forth. It was the leader who had kicked me, which I have always taken as a compliment, and as I sat up he saluted me and said:

"My lord, you will please consider yourself a prisoner and come along without resistance."
"But don't make any mistake on me," I replied. "As near as I can make out from this short range you are brigands."
"I am Bobetto," he said as he laid his hand on his heart and bowed low.

"Excuse me that I never heard of you before. You are a brigand and in it for money, and this is your band?"
"My lord is correct."
"Now, about this lord business. Let us have an understanding. Who do you take me for?"

"An English lord, my lord. I have been expecting you for several days. The name I cannot pronounce, but I know you to be the gentleman. Have no fears for your safety, as it will be a case of ransom."
"This is kind of you. If you take me for an English lord, who do you make this other chap to be?"
"Your companion, sir. His name I heard, but cannot give it. He will also be held for ransom."

Then we started off to the west. The particular retreat of this band was half way up a mountain, and consisted of two brush huts and a fire in front of them. We were in no manner ill used. They could have robbed us of our few dollars and personal property, but they did not even search us for weapons. As soon as we had arrived at the huts, however, Bobetto brought out stationery and commanded me to write to the English minister at Athens and obtain the sum of $30,000. Both Gilliam and I burst out laughing at this demand, and after a little I said to the leader:

"Of what use to play the fool in this matter? As I told you before, we are Americans, and poor men at that. We can raise about $200 apiece, but not another cent, and if you take that we shall have to turn brigands and compete with you in business."
"You may be Americans, but you are my lord just the same," replied Bobetto.

"But there are no titles in America. If I should write to the American minister, he would take it as a joke. You haven't got a soft snap in this thing, old fellow. Had you got hold of Rockefeller, Gould or Vanderbilt you might have made a raise and bought a garage factory, but we are almost down to hardpan. Sorry for you, but you can't always hit it, even in the brigand business."

"But you must write," persisted the wooden headed rascal. "You must write to the American minister that if he does not send us $10,000 by our messenger your ears will be sent him in a package!"
I read the letter to Bobetto after it was written, and he was perfectly satisfied that it would fetch the cash in ready. It was sent off by a messenger, who would be gone at least ten days, and then we went into "retirement." It is the rule with all brigands who have a prisoner on hand to let him and take no chances. I thought it well to prepare this gang for a disappointment, and when the messenger had departed I told them that he would only have the journey for nothing.

"It cannot be for nothing," grimly replied Bobetto as he brought out a knife and felt of its edges. "If no money comes, then your ears go to Athens! If they fail to bring it, then we will send on your heads!"

Sentinels were posted on the hills around to prevent a surprise, and had nothing to do but loaf about. Bobetto thought he knew the game of poker, and it was for us to undecieve him. In three days Gilliam and I had won every cent he had. We offered to put up $200 against our ears, but the brigand assented with great dignity that it wasn't regular. About once a day I thought it my duty to inform Bobetto that we were moneyless Americans and that there was nothing in it for him, and he always replied to me with a lift of the eyebrows and a shrug of the shoulders and the words:

"Time will tell, my lord; time will tell. It has happened that I have had to send ears and head to Athens before."

For the first five days of our captivity we were closely guarded, and there could be no thought of escape. Then, as we appeared to make ourselves at home, the vigilance of the brigands was relaxed. While only four had been concerned in our capture, there were really six in the band. One of them had a broken leg, and the other was acting as a nurse. Two sentinels were always stationed at points half a mile away, and occasionally a brigand fell asleep during the day. I think it was on the eighth day and at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon when the brigand was sent for provisions.

As two were acting as sentinels and a third was lying helpless, this left only two men to deal with. One of these was Bobetto, and he sat with his back to a rock dozing with the heat of the day. Gilliam was lying on his back, while I was looking carefully at a Greek newspaper. All of a sudden the artist sat up and whispered to me:

"Let's end this right here and now! You tackle the leader, and I'll go for the other fellow!"
The "other fellow" was at the fire heating the brands together. We rose up in unison and made the attack. I gave old Bobetto a kick on the jaw which knocked him over and caused a painful howl, and Gilliam hit his man such a blow on the neck as to render him unconscious for half an hour. There were two guns in camp, and we seized them and made for the highway, only a mile distant. Before departing I gave the leader a tap on the head to quiet his yells, and so far as I know we were not followed a rod.

We reached the highway just in time to get a lift in a passing cart and in a couple of hours were in Marathon. As to the letter, it was looked upon as a joke and the messenger sent off empty handed. We might have lost our ears on his return, but were not there to have them sliced off. Bobetto died two years later, as I read in the papers, and it is said that he was badly disfigured by a broken jaw—the one "my lord" gave him with an American calfskin shoe.

Walt Whitman's Pride.
Whitman's grandmother was a Quaker, and the bard had been all his life used, Quaker fashion, to sitting in the house with his sombrero on if it suited him to do so. One day, with a friend, he entered the gloomy and half empty precincts of Trinity church, New York, and took a back seat in the obscurity and for a moment forgot to remove his hat or was probably just about to do so when an officious verger stepped up and requested him to take it off.

Wait, a man of immense pride, not seeing fit to do so instantaneously or being very slow in his mental processes, was taking the matter into consideration for a second when the verger knocked the offending hat off his head. Walt picked up the huge felt and, doubling it together, smote the fellow vigorously twice or thrice with it on the head and slowly left the church, the red faced sexton following and threatening him with the law.—Boston Transcript.

Crosses and Thieves.
Several years after the close of the civil war a reception was held in Lynchburg, Va., to commemorate some national event, says V. Halsey in Lippincott's Magazine. Many men were there assembled who had fought in the war. Among them was a major of a Massachusetts regiment, who, meeting General Jubal Early of the Confederate army, cordially greeted him.

Pointing to his own decorations, the major said, "Ah, general, you see we have all the crosses now." "In sudden times they hang crosses on crosses. Now they hang crosses on thieves."—The Missionary's Race.

The Missionary's Race.
Cannibal King—Bring on the big griddle and let's roast this fellow.
Captured Missionary—O king, but give me a dose of quinine before I die! You see, I am a victim of the habit. I consume three ounces of quinine every 24 hours.

Cannibal King—I pass this fellow up. I can still taste that quinine fiend we roasted two months ago. Ugh!—Ohio State Journal.

After the Honeymoon.
She—You married me for spite.
He—Well, if any one heard you talking to me nowadays he'd say I hadn't married in vain.—Syracuse Herald.

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered intensely for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in ten days. For ulcers, wounds, burns, boils, pain or piles it is the best salve in the world. Guaranteed. Only 25c. Sold by W. L. DeLano, druggist.

Experience is the best teacher. Use Acker's English Remedy in any case of coughs, colds or croup. Should it fail to give immediate relief money refunded. 25 cts and 50 cts. For sale by W. L. DeLano.

Don't Bundle Your Throat
You can cough yourself into bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption. Bandaging and bundling your throat will do no good. You must give your throat and lungs rest, and allow them to heal. A 25 cent bottle of the Pectoral is enough to cure an ordinary cold. In harder cases a larger bottle is more economical.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
It's the best remedy in the world for hoarseness, bronchitis, croup, asthma, sore lungs, and consumption.

"One of my daughters had a very bad case of asthma. We tried all kinds of remedies, but without relief. Three and one-half bottles of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured her. We think it is a most wonderful remedy."
EMMA J. ESTIMYER,
Jan. 2, 1899.
Three sizes: 25c., 50c. and $1. All druggists.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my house hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price. G. H. WILSON, Livermore, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by W. L. DeLano.

For the Seashore.

Newport and Yaquina Bay continues to offer for the summer vacation greater variety of attractions than can be found at any other North Pacific resort. Excellent beaches and safe bathing, enticing rides and rambles good boating and fishing, clams, crabs and oysters for the gathering, and unequalled profusion of pebbles, shells and sea urchins. Add to this cheerful and obliging hosts, who are providing at very reasonable rates homelike quarters, and most liberal fare, they won't let one get hungry at Newport.

See Southern Pacific agent for tickets and time tables, or correspond with C. H. Markham, General Passenger Agent, Portland, Oregon.

Farm For Sale.

Dairy Purchased.

Floyd Vaughan has purchased Barrett's dairy and will continue the business. Mr. Vaughan has one of the finest herds of Jersey cows in this county and will guarantee the best and purest of milk. He not only asks for the continuance of old customers but solicits new ones.

PLA SO OUT.

Dull headache, pains in various parts of the body, sinking at the pit of the stomach, loss of appetite, nervousness, pimples or sores, are all positive evidence of impure blood. No matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Elixir has never failed to cure Scrofulous or Syphilitic poisons, or any other blood diseases. It is certainly a wonderful remedy and we sell every bottle on positive guarantee. For sale by W. L. DeLano.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Bismarck's New Life Pills. They develop very power of brain and body. Only 25c. at W. L. DeLano's drug store.

No Cure No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Groves' Tasteless Chilli Tonic for Chills, Malaria and Biliousness. It is as pleasant to take as Lemon Syrup. 50 cents.

Get a new lawn mower and a new piece of hose and with a little pleasure you can have a lawn that you will be proud of. Guaranteed hose at F. L. Chambers.

I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. Lynch, Denver, W. Va. This remedy is sold by W. L. DeLano.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Digests what you eat.
Artificially digests the food and aids nature in strengthening and reconstructing the exhausted digestive organs. It is the latest discovered digestant and tonic.
