Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube becomes inflamed, hearing is lost. When this tube becomes inflamed, hearing is lost. When this tube becomes inflamed, hearing is lost.

ONLY A LAUGH.

Only a laugh, but the joy of the hours in it. Drooping so lightly from out of the gloom. Down from the easement that has the red flowers in it. Flooding with sunshine my poor little room.

Only a laugh, but I know well whose choice it is; Oh, I can guess whose lips that can chaff. Whose is the smiling mouth, whose bubbling voice it is. Putting such perfume in only a laugh!

Only a laugh! My lone life is so shadowy. Tinged with the darkness that solitude grows. Most of the brightness missed, most of its glad away. Most of its tenderness chilled by the snows.

Only a laugh, but so much of the gay in it! Oh, were there love 'twould be sweeter by half! I could forget that my hair has its gray in it. Were it for me more than—only a laugh!

WHERE PRICES ARE STEADY.

The Mountain Dealer Objected to a Fall For Religious Reasons.

"That reminds me indirectly," said the other drummer, "of a yarn I heard lately over in South Carolina told at the expense of a peculiarly glib old chap who keeps a little crossroads store up in the mountains. Everybody wears boots in that part of the country, and, as the story goes, the old fellow had been buying his stock for many years of a manufacturer in a big city not 1,000 miles away. He paid $6 a pair for his boots when he first went into business, and the maker had continued charging him the same figure year after year regardless of the fact that the market price had been steadily going down. The old storekeeper, secluded from the world in his mountain home, never dreamed that he was being fleeced and took pride in paying his bills with clocklike punctuality.

"At last, when that grade of boots was quoted at $2.50, the manufacturer's conscience smote him, and he decided to make amends. So he wrote the country merchant, saying that there had been a considerable decrease in the price of leather, and he was glad to state that he would be able to let him have the last lot of boots he ordered at $4 a pair. This, he added, was a special low rate, made on account of personal esteem and the fact that he had been a regular customer for such a long period. A few days afterward the conscientious manufacturer was amazed to receive a letter running something like this:

"Dear Sir—It's mighty kind of you all to offer to let me have them boots at $4, but I wish you would please keep the price the same as what it was before. I have been selling them boots for $10 a pair for 15 years, and, being a deacon in the church, I don't think it would be right to take no stronger profit. So no more at present from yours truly,

—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

REPEATING A GOOD STORY.

She Was Not a Drinker and Missed Its Point.

"My wife has just heard that old story about the man on the train and the corkscrew," said my neighbor. "The story goes this way: A man rises in a car and says, 'Is there a man from Bangor, Me., in the car?' 'No other man gets up with an inquiring look on his face. 'I'm from Bangor,' says he. 'Well,' says the first fellow, 'let me take your corkscrew.'"

"My wife thought the story was pretty good. The other night I was out in the sitting room reading, and she was in the parlor talking with the woman from over the way. I had to stop reading and listen to this:

"Oh, say," says my wife, "I heard an awfully funny story the other day. Now, let me think a minute. Can't be that I've forgotten it. Let's see. Oh, yes. This is it. The other day on the train a man got up in the car all at once and shouted just as loud as he could, 'Is there a man from Bangor, Me., in this car?' Every one jumped and looked at the man. One person down near the door stood up and said, 'I'm from Bangor, sir.' The other man then said, 'Will you be kind enough to let me take your screwdriver?' There! Isn't that funny?"

"He, he, he," snickered the other woman a little easy. "Yes, that's a real cute story; just as funny as it can be. But what did he mean? I guess I don't understand what it is about."

"I could almost hear the wife thinking. Then she says: 'Well, my goodness, that doesn't sound so funny now. I wonder what the trouble is with it? Guess I didn't tell it right. But no matter. Oh, you were going to tell me about that new ribbon cake that—' and then I continued with my literary studies."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

How Would You Have Said It?

There is much in the way a thing is said. "Your cheeks are like roses," said Aunt Flora when Lois came in from a January walk, glowing from the cold and exercise. Lois smiled and looked lovingly at Aunt Flora. Aunt Margaret entered the room a minute later and glancing at Lois as she stood by the fire said: "My! Your face is as red as a beet!"

The red grew deeper on Lois' face, while unconsciously she turned prettily away from Aunt Margaret, who prides herself on being "plain spoken." Aunt Flora's way is best. She can say the right word at the right time, too, even the word of admonition and reproof, but she says it in such a manner that one can think only of the Scriptural "apples of gold in pictures of silver."—Ada C. Sweet in Woman's Home Companion.

Brief and Pithy.

An American law journal has quoted the charge to a jury delivered by a certain Judge Donovan as the shortest on record. The Judge said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, if you believe the plaintiff, find a verdict for plaintiff and fix the amount. If you believe the defendant, find a verdict for defendant. Follow the officer."

But an English periodical caps this brief charge by quoting a shorter one delivered by Commissioner Kerr. He said to a jury:

"That man says prisoner robbed him. The prisoner says he didn't. You settle it."

Appropriate.

"I've found a bulldog," said a snuff to his friend Leaps. "And I want a motto to put over his kennel. Can you think of something?"

"Why not use a dentist's notice—'Teeth inserted here?'" suggested Leaps.

Teachers' Institute.

The teachers' annual county institute will commence Monday, July 30, 1900, and continue five days, viz: July 30, 31, August 1, 2 and 3. All teachers holding either state or county certificates are required by law to attend the institute. There will be three instructors in attendance and every possible effort will be made to make the institute profitable and interesting.

County Superintendent.

COPPER TOE NOW EXTINGUISHED.

How the Boot Protector Was Invented by a Maine Farmer.

Children kick out the toes of their boots now just as much as they ever did, but the copper toe has gone out of date too long ago to talk about. It was time, though, in its day. How the copper did wink and glitter in the firelight! Away up in the Maine woods a farmer who could not bear the thought of giving the shoe-maker all he earned took an old copper washbowl and cut it into strips, which he fastened on the toes of the boots of Elbridge and Elmer, Ellsworth and Eddie.

"There now!" said he. "Less see you get through them in a hurry. Laws! I never see boys so hard on shoe leather!" It was a bright idea, and the more he thought about it the more it was borne in on him that it was a bright idea. He got a patent on it. Elbridge and Elmer, Ellsworth and Eddie were kind of ashamed to be seen in the copper toes at first, but when the other boys all crowded around them at the district school and said: "Gosh! Wooshit my pa would fix my boots that way!" they felt more comfortable and rather happy. From that it went on till, for the sake of peace and quietness in the house, it for no other reason, fathers had to buy copper toes for their boys. The Maine farmer got rich and had pie three times a day and moved to town and had a barrel-top sofa in the front room and a marble-topped center table with wax flowers in a glass case on it and everything that heart could wish.

But foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child, and it is part of his nature to be hard on shoes. You may beat the laws of the universe for a little while when they are not looking, but not for long. The day came when the child woke up and realized that it was being robbed of its rights guaranteed under the constitution. Something like this, eh, "We, the children of the United States, in convention assembled, do hold these truths to be self-evident? Not at all, not at all. They said: 'Heel! Copper-toed! Copper-toed! And the con came down.—Harvey Sutherland in Alsinea's.

R. C. Edwards, J. Matteson, G. W. Humphrey visited Eugene this week.

M. E. Edwards went to Harrisburg last week to work in the saw mill.

Misses Able and Ninny Humphrey are attending the institute this week.

There were three toys arrested the last week for throwing brick through windows of W. Wilms house. They were tried in the justice court of Albion Matteson. The case was discharged on account of not enough evidence.

The U. B. quarterly conference will commence the 11 of August, at Trent, Elder Stuard will preside.

Rev. Dixon will occupy the pulpit here Sunday.

Crops are poor in this section this year. It is thought wheat will not go more than 10 bushels per acre.

There is quite a boom in timber land in this section.

R. C. Edwards will cut 4,000,000 feet of logs for the Harrisburg Lumber Co in this section next year.

A Corvallis Chinaman who has just received a letter from his wife says: "In China muckee thable, Chinaman no like. Too muckee fight, all sem Melaun man." Among other things the war has raised the price of rice from one cent to five cents a pound in China. Before the war it cost one cent a pound to get a pig through the custom house, now five cents. He puts the situation this way: "Christian man make heap trouble. Ketchum Ching girl, make Chiffian too. Bozee no like. Cut em Christian head off Chinaman no like Boxer all sem Injin."

"Mrs. Woodruff" Moving North.

Ashland Tidings.

Another female dead "beat" is "working" (the towns along the line of the S. P. Co's railroad, as well as the passengers, and when possible the conductors, on the trains. She was over the same ground one year ago and was thoroughly exposed at that time, yet so successful was she at her game that she now tries it again. The name she now travels under is "Mrs. Woodruff," and she arrived in Ashland Friday morning on the north bound S. P. train, having gotten on board at Gazelle, and beat the conductor out of her fare. "Mrs. Woodruff" pretends to work the night trains and seems to be well acquainted with the laws and the company's rules regarding the ejection of women from trains, which give her quite an advantage at her game. The proprietor of the Hotel Oregon, recognizing her as an unwelcome guest of a year ago, and a hotel and general dead beat, unceremoniously ordered her to quit, which she did with alacrity. "Mrs. Woodruff" left Ashland Saturday and the towns north of here will probably be visited by her.

One year ago "Mrs. Woodruff" came to Ashland from the north, where she had succeeded in beating most of the hotels along the line, and then called herself "Mrs. Cameron." She is well advanced in life, being about 50 years of age, stout of figure with gray hair and blue eyes and is attired modestly. One of her successful dodges is to work charitably inclined people on the fraternal racket, claiming her near relatives as belonging to the Masonic, Odd Fellows and other fraternal organizations.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, N. H., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work."

This medicine really for female disease quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by W. L. DeLano, druggist.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my house hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price. G. H. Wilson, Liverngham, Burgess Station, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by W. L. DeLano.

For the Seashore.
