CENTER OF POPULATION.

New York World.

Not the least remarkable result of the census of 1900 is that it arrests the westward march of what is known as "the center of population." This point which has been moving steadily westward at each successive census, was established by the census of 1900 as being in the southern part of Indiana, at a point a little west of south of Greensburg, the county seat of Decatur county and twenty miles east of Columbus. Geographically it is in latitude 39 degrees, 11 minutes and 56 seconds, and longitude 85 degrees, 32 minutes and 53 seconds.

But in the past ten years the population of the states lying wholly east of this meridian has increased to almost exactly the same extent as in the states west of it, the increase in each case being in round numbers 6,000,000 out of a total of 13,225,000. The remaining 1,225,000 increase is furnished by the states of Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama. And it will require a distribution of population by census districts to determine whether there has been any westward advance in the center of population. But at any rate the advance will be trifling, and the east holds its own with the west in contributing to our national greatness.

In the United States senate that will meet on March 4, 1901, with Mr. Roosevelt as its presiding officer, the Republicans will have a majority of 22 over the Democrats and all others. In the next national house of representatives there will be 200 Republican members, a clear majority of 43 over all. This means that for two years at least, beginning with the assembly of the first regular session of the Fifty seventh congress in December 1901, the Republican party will have full control of the executive and legislative branches of the general government, and with ample working majorities in both houses of congress.

Umatilla county reduces her assessment on lands this year twenty per cent. It makes no difference on county taxes except to throw an undue burden on personal property, which usually escapes its share as well, but on state taxes other counties must make up for Umatilla's reduction. It is a game all can play at, and Lane county need not take the worst of the tax paying question.

An Arkansas man took first prize at the Paris exposition for eleven varieties of the best winter apples. Oregon could not have been represented.

San Bernardino, California, had something of a sawmill fire on the 12th. Ten million feet of lumber was consumed, and 250 men thrown out of employment.

A New Jersey presbytery has expressed a preference for a shorter creed in the confession of faith. It does not seem to have occurred to them that the Book on which the creed is founded should be all sufficient.

A Chicago dispatch says: "While the Republican national committee has given up its headquarters and practically gone out of business for four years, the Democratic committee has engaged rooms in the Security building, and intends to do political work as usual."

While two or more expeditions are getting ready to try again to reach the north pole, Notes and Queries has been figuring on what past expeditions have cost. It finds that during the present century 400 human lives have been sacrificed, $125,000,000 spent, and 200 ships lost in the fruitless effort to reach the pole.

San Francisco Chronicle: The University football teams are in bad luck. Berkeley loses a man through paralysis from an injury to the spine received in practice, and Stanford loses another through a broken limb obtained in the same way. The outlook for the intercollegiate match on Thanksgiving day is that it will be roughly contested when men are being thus maimed in training.
