TUESDAY -- JANUARY 8

ON ALL SIDES.

Life, the humorous illustrated paper, commences the new year with these politic resolutions:

"Discerning and confessing the grave faults which have made its career for nearly twenty years so mortifying to itself and so distressing to observers, it proposes in the future to say nothing, and to depict nothing, with which anyone can find any fault, and if by oversight it should say anything which fails in any quarter to give complete satisfaction, it promises on receipt of notice to take it right back and make amends. It will not again censure any person who has any friends, or praise anyone who has any enemies. In every fight it will in future take the part of the up permost dog, unless, indeed, the under dog looks very determined, in which case it will mount the fence and wait.

"It will not gibe at the British, except just enough to show its large and important Irish constituency that its heart beats as regularly for them as their numbers warrant. The Boers being now nearly thrashed it will speak of them invariably with the contempt they deserve, as being small and backward potatoes and too few in a bill. It will denounce the Filipinos as rascally rebels whose idea of self-government is leave to plunder. It will watch very carefully the situation in Cuba, lying very low for the present and striving prayerfully to jump the way the cat does.

"The liquor question, too, it will treat with great delicacy, applauding the noble rage of the Prohibitionists, but deploring that the force of habit and sinful inclination is all too likely in the future, as in the past, to frustrate the complete realization of their hopes. In religion it will try to steer a prudent course somewhere between the Devil and the deep sea.

"One lives but to learn. Not easily nor quickly, but with anguish, and as the result of long experience Life has become aware that on any question which has two sides both sides are unsafe, and he who would avoid obloquy must keep his ear to the ground, have his storm cellar handy, and practice agility in skipping into it."

The Oregonian deploras "that the political forces at the South seem willing to be saturated with sectionalism." Another illustration of the pot calling the kettle black. The Oregonian has never missed an opportunity to say unkind things about the people of the South.

Growing colder. Sunshine and snow today.

Commissioners' court meets tomorrow.

John T. Cardwell, of Cottage Grove, is in the city.

H. C. Mahon came up from Junction this afternoon.

There are 1,522 patients in the State Insane asylum.

Miss Ida Strand returned to Albany this afternoon.

Ad. Kams went to Harrisburg on this afternoon's train.

H. W. Scott has accepted the position on the text book commission.

One solitary sleigh from the country was noticed on the streets today.

The silver caucus in Idaho has nominated Fred Dubois for U. S. senator. A most excellent selection.

The funeral of Little Lela Strand occurred this morning from the family residence to the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Miss Gertrude O'Brien, of Albany, is visiting in Eugene at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Titus.

Huntington Herald, Jan. 6: Miss Katherine Patterson, who spent the holiday vacation with her parents in Eugene, returned Tuesday afternoon and has resumed her duties as principal of our public schools.

Walter Gray, the harness maker, has returned from a four months' stay at Portland.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

The Oregonian holds up the City of Washington as an illustration that popular suffrage is not necessary to secure good city government.

Washington is governed by presidential appointees under congressional control and direction.

The Oregonian forgets that one of the greatest national scandals was the corruption and jobbery in the control of Washington municipal affairs under "Boss" Shepard.

He made a beautiful city of the national capital, but millions were stolen while the work was being accomplished.

We are not willing to concede that popular government is a failure. It may go wrong sometimes, but in the end the people may be trusted to attend to their own affairs city, state, or national.

Portland had one death from smallpox during December. The disease is sporadic over the Pacific northwest coast. It appears in isolated and widely separated places under conditions that seem to preclude the hypothesis of direct infection.

A Hillsboro woman has lived in three centuries, the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth. She has reached the wonderful age of one hundred and twelve, having been born in 1789.

The man that goes about repeating any "beautiful snow" maund-rings is liable to get hurt. The article is not appreciated in this Webfoot climate.

The tail end of that California storm has struck us. It has the appearance of being a light visitation.

Red Cross.

There will be a meeting of the Red Cross tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. A. Straits. Preparations will be made for the sewing bee.

From BOHEMIA.—Wm. Monroe and Carl Coates came down from the Bohemia mines yesterday to file with County Clerk Lee proof of labor performed on their claims, the "Ouray" and the "Denver," the "Pt. Wayne" and the "Boston."

Mr. Coates told a GUARD man today that the snow is 6 feet deep at the mines and was still falling when they left. Messrs. Monroe and Coates returned to Cottage Grove this afternoon.

SOCIAL.

THE FORESTERS.

Court Poplar, Foresters of America, held installation ceremonies at I. O. O. F. hall last night followed by a banquet, which proved to be an enjoyable affair.

Several visitors from Court Bohemia of Cottage Grove were present and added much to the pleasure of the evening.

The installing officer was Deputy Grand Chief Ranger B. K. Lawson of Cottage Grove.

Capt. W. S. Moon was elected delegate to the grand court which meets at Salem in May, and C. C. Kauffman and F. A. Rankin, alternates.

The following new officers were installed: C. C. Kauffman, O. R.; Chas. Mayhew, Sub C. R.; C. C. Hammond, Fin. Sec.; C. S. Cheshire, Rec. Sec.; J. C. Gray, Treas.; W. W. Branstetter, Senior W.; Frank Rose, Junior W.; I. D. Larimer, Senior B.; Ed. Baker, Junior B.

TO BE MARRIED.

Tomorrow evening, Jan. 9, in St. David's church, Portland, Dr. E. De Witt Connell, a former Eugene student, but now a leading oculist of Portland, will be united in marriage to Miss Caroline Rhoda Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel M. Long of this city.

After making a brief wedding tour they will make their home at The Curtis.

After leaving the State University Dr. Connell spent four years in the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, taking a post-graduate course in Europe. As a specialist on the eye, ear, nose and throat Dr. Connell's skill and success is pronounced second to none. He has a host of friends in this city who wish him happiness and prosperity.

MARRIED.

The marriage of Capt. G. A. Sachs and Miss Rose Lettier, both of Eugene, occurred today at Cottage Grove.

The couple returned this afternoon and will occupy rooms over B. D. Paine & Co's store. These people are well and favorably known and their many friends congratulate them.

Capt. Sachs is in the employ of B. D. Paine & Co and his mechanical abilities and inventive qualities are well known and appreciated. The bride has lived here for some time and is popular among her acquaintances.

SOCIETY DANCING CLUB.

The third party this season of the Societas Dancing Club will be held at the Armory Friday evening, Jan. 11.

This popular organization is noted for its pleasant dancing parties, and a good attendance is expected.

Why?

Why send to Chicago for your oratory portraits when you can get them for less money, get better work done and get them sooner from the Portland Art Company? A Kraus manager, is now in Eugene, and he will call on you with samples of the work.
