CENTENARY METHODIST CHURCH.

How Its Last Four Pastors Met Unusual Death—Other Troubles.

PORTLAND, Aug. 6.—Superstitious folk can discover material for sending shivers along their backs in a series of events that are certainly strange. The Centenary Methodist church, of Portland, has lost no less than four pastors, each having a violent death. Simply coincidence, perhaps. Then, there is a falling away in the congregation and members have been involved in litigation.

Pastor Dennison died of heart failure. Dr. Bushong was about to leave the Centenary church for Alaska when he was attacked by paralysis of the heart. Rev Crawford R. Thoburn died suddenly of spotted fever. His father is bishop of India and the minister had just returned from the land of the Hin-doo when he became ill and died suddenly from a fever he probably contracted in the far East. Last month, Rev George W. Gue, pastor of the church, dropped dead of heart disease while going to greet some friends on an incoming train. The very suddenness of these deaths places them in the category of violent. Rev Thomas Boyd, another pastor, is said to have resigned sometime ago because he was heart sick and weary of the dissensions among his flock. These dissensions took the form of law suits over property left by the late James Abrams.

The mention of the Abrams estate brings forward another chapter in the series of strange events. Mr Abrams died wealthy and it was through his worldly goods that the Centenary church had its beginning. Abrams was an ardent Methodist and is said to have hated the Catholic church in a manner not charitable. Through his wealth a magnificent college building was erected at University Park, the intention being to make it a Methodist institution. A fine Methodist hospital was built at Mount Tabor. Here enters the irony of fate. Both the college and the hospital proved financial failures, and last June each was acquired by Catholic organizations.

It was only a few weeks ago that the clerk of the Centenary church sued the church for performing duties which he claimed were carried out in his legal capacity—for he is a lawyer.

A White Salmon man received $640 for the strawberries he raised on two acres of land. This is only one of many instances that might be mentioned of the possibilities of industrious and foresighted effort in the unparalleled Pacific Northwest.

THE BILLBOARD MONSTROSITY.

American cities are rapidly becoming a collection of huge fences smeared with all sorts of pictorial monstrosities. The way to stop the billboard nuisance is by perfect legitimate taxation.

The Southern Pacific Company has not closed the bars on the ferry boats between San Francisco and Oakland as was ordered to be done by General Manager Kruttschnitt, August 1st. A telegram was received from President Hays, who is now in the East, extending the time set for their abolishment thirty days, to September 1st. This may mean the indefinite postponement, for the San Francisco wholesale liquor men have been bringing strong pressure to bear on the railroad officials to prevent the abolishment of the bars. The threat to transfer the freight business of the liquor dealers, amounting, it is said, to nearly a million dollars a year, from the Southern Pacific to the Santa Fe in case the bars were abolished, may have had an important bearing on President Hays' decision. His order was communicated to H. Flannery, who owns the liquor selling privileges on the boats of the broad gauge, when Flannery had already commenced to make preparations to close up his business in accordance with the previous order, which was to have gone into effect August 1st.

The short-cake season's gone alas! But now we have the peach, The water melon's also here; But far above our reach.

A CORRESPONDENT

Tells About the Ironclad Hotel Rules in an Alaskan Town.

A letter written on a novel letter head has been received by Mrs. E. W. Baughman from her son, Captain Harry Baughman, who is master of one of the Yukon steamers, says the Lewiston Tribune. The letterhead contained the following interesting data concerning an Alaskan hotel, the letter having been written from White Horse:

"Our Dough Hotel—1333 Eleventh avenue. Best house north of Mexico—First class in every particular. Every known fluid, water excepted, for sale at the bar. Private entrance for ladies by ladder in the rear. Rates: One ounce per day. Special rates to ministers and niggers charged double.

"House Rules—Guests will be provided with breakfast and dinner, but must rustle their own lunch.

"Spiked boots must be removed at night.

"Dogs not allowed in the bunks.

"Candles and hot water charged extra.

"Towels changed weekly.

"Crab, chuckluck, studhorse poker and Black Jack games run by the management.

"Dogs bought and sold.

"Insect powder for sale at the bar."

NO SHADOW

Of outward misfortune can darken the smile of the loyal wife and loving mother. But when disease comes the smile slowly fades, and in its place comes the drawn face and tight closed lips which tell of the constant struggle with pain.

When the delicate womanly organism is diseased the whole body suffers; the form grows thin, and the complexion sallow. The first step to sound health is to cure the diseases which undermine the womanly strength.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, drives disagreeable druggies, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. The wonderful cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of "Favorite Prescription" place it at the head of all purgative medicines specially prepared for the use of women.

"I was troubled with female weakness for eight years, and suffered more than I can tell," writes Mrs. G. M. Moore, of Orem, Deseret Co., Montana. "My disposition was affected to such an extent that I was a nervous wreck. I had two operations performed by one of the most skilled surgeons of the West, but did not get relief. There, against my doctor's strict orders, I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery, and also followed the advice given in the Common Sense Medical Advice.
