RED AND BLUE PARAGUAYANS

It is not often that political prejudice finds vent in the color of clothing worn. Such is the case though in Paraguay, South America. An American consul, who has just returned, has this about the use of colors by Paraguayans:

There are two leading political parties in Paraguay, the Colorados and the Azules. The color of the Colorados is red and of the Azules blue. The party in power now is the Colorados, or what might be properly called the Liberals. The intense partisanship of every man, woman and child is simply astonishing. A member of the "red" party would not more allow his wife or children to wear clothing in which the predominating color was blue than he would vote the "blue" ticket himself. The "blues" are the same way, and as a result the party's color has had distinct action in the colors of the clothing of the people.

LABOR ORGANIZATION PAID.

President John Mitchell, of the United States Mine-workers of America, gives some figures in justification of the organization of which he is the official head. President Mitchell says:

The agreement reached between the men and the operators in 1900 amounted to an increase of $25,000,000 annually, for 200,000 men, secured by an expenditure of $300,000, which is a bigger dividend than the Standard Oil Company or the Morgan Banking Company ever paid. At the April convention, at an expenditure of $5000, concessions were granted amounting to an increase of $7,000,000 annually.

The Chinaman will not live up to his agreement. As an instance the foreign ministers required an edict forbidding the importation of arms and munitions of war into China as a part of the punishment sought to be administered to China. The wily Chinamen issued the edict, but with the appearance that it was a voluntary act, thereby saving its credit with the populace. The foreigners failed in their intention of compelling the Chinese government to discredit itself with its own people.

"The Influence of Methodism on the Promotion of International Peace" is given as the subject for the opening debate in the Methodist Ecumenical Conference, now meeting in London. From the facility with which nations go to war these times, with the greatly improved methods of killing men, it does not appear that Methodism, or any other ism has much "influence" towards promoting peace.

The Sultan has ordered several hundred artillery guns from German makers. The Turk is a fighter by nature, but he has not had a fair chance for years through the failure of his government to provide modern armament. One good man with the improved rifle is equal to a dozen with old guns. The new rifle kills long before the old one comes in range.

Japan is ordering American locomotives. A Japanese railroad superintendent gives as the reason for preferring the American to the English built machines that they are a third cheaper and can be got on shorter order. It takes the English manufacturer about ten months to fill an order, while the American will deliver in eight months.

It is hard to keep intelligent track of South American wars. They just seem to want to fight—and do fight on any provocation. Just now Venezuela, Ecuador and Colombia are having a monkey and a parrot time of it, the two former pitted against Colombia.

The death of a Mrs. Brigham Young brings out the fact that only four of his widows survive. There is no accurate count of the number of wives the old Mormon had at the time of his death, but there were several scores of them, many of whom, were nominal wives.

The City of Mexico spends more than $28,000 a month for light, using 501 arc lights of 2000 candlepower, in addition to a considerable number of smaller incandescent lights for some of the narrow streets and smaller squares.

Astoria has extended a telephone franchise thirty-five years. The city gets $500 down, $250 a year for fifteen years and $400 yearly thereafter.

Plow manufacturers take their turn in squeezing the farmer. They met at Chicago yesterday and decided to advance prices ten per cent.

His Wife's Weak Heart.

It is a singular thing that in the popular view of disease the interdependence of the several organs of the body is lost sight of. The heart, for example, is diseased and it is treated as if it were entirely separated from, and independent of, every other organ. The fallacy of this opinion is shown by the cures of heart "trouble," liver "trouble," kidney "trouble" and other so-called "troubles," effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Primarily the "Discovery" is a medicine for the cure of diseases of the stomach and blood. But it cures diseases of organs seemingly remote from the stomach, because these diseases have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

"I doctored with three different doctors for weak heart, but they did me no good," writes Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Eugene, Ore. "I had heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and I bought a bottle. I took it and the first half seemed to help me. I took six bottles before I stopped. I am perfectly well and am over sixty years old."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.
