GREAT SALT LAKE SINKING.

The decline in the surface of Great Salt Lake is causing apprehension among the people of Utah. That interesting body of water has been steadily sinking for a number of years, but the causes of its decline are not well understood. It is thought by some that the lake is subject to cycles of change which correspond to like cycles of years of heavy and light rainfall and that it is now undergoing one of its low water periods from which it will soon revive. The movements in the waters have also been thought to be related to the development of agricultural and grazing interests, which divert large quantities of water from the streams which feed the lake, for use upon the land.

During past years the cutting of the timber on the neighboring mountains has been unusually heavy practically destroying the forest protection of the head waters of a number of streams whose waters flow into the lake. The cutting of these forests is supposed to have injured the flow of the streams, and thus to have affected the lake level. The value of property near the lake and certain lines of business are unfavorably affected by the steadily declining water level.

B. S. Pague, who formerly made weather in the Weather Bureau office at Portland, is now located at Charleston, South Carolina. In a letter to Governor Geer Mr. Pague writes entertainingly of the city about which shot and shell flew so promiscuously for many months during the war of the Rebellion. Mr. Pague has no sympathy with would-be Northern philanthropists in their misdirected efforts to "elevate" the negro. He writes:

This city has 22,000 whites and 33,000 colored. The colored live on the white. The negro problem can best be solved by the Southern people—let them alone. They need the negro, the negro needs them.

Herbert A. Giles, professor of Chinese literature at Cambridge University, England, has stirred up a hornet's nest in this occasion of his first lecture in this country—also the first given before the Department of Chinese, newly added at Columbia College—by asserting that foreign women are incapable of mastering the Chinese language. Not content with such a derogatory estimate of the fair sex the professor rubbed salt into the wound by further stating that woman was the Chinese symbol for treachery.

The tack is a small thing yet it costs money to make it, and big money too, at least when fierce competition must be met. A Chicago company will put in a five-hundred thousand dollar plant for tack manufacture. The present tack industry of the country is consolidated in the big steel trust.

Albany people are catching many catfish in Dead River, about five miles up the Willamette from that town. A person who is familiar with the appearance of the catfish will not deny that the Albany people are catching the "cat" in an appropriately named place.

An Indiana merchant secured unimpeachable money as to the dishonesty of a trusted clerk. He focused a camera on the money-till and got his picture in the act of relieving it of several dollars.

THE EDITOR RUBBED A SORE AND GOT A FIGHT.

DRUMMER—What started the fight?
LANDLORD PETTYVILLE TAVERN—Oh! Charles Henry Didd got married day before yesterday, and in today's paper the editor of the Weekly Plaindealer followed the announcement of the event with a little pleasanter about hoping that all their troubles would be little ones. This is the third time Charles Henry has been married, and he's got seven children to show for it, and the bride has had one husband before and still has five children. And as the editor was afraid the groom wouldn't see the point of the joke he stopped him in front of the post office, the most public place in town, and started to explain it to him in a loud voice, whereupon Charles Henry hit him on the nose. I presume it was the most natural thing in the world that they should have a fight. That's the way it started, anyhow.

Don't Marry.

Almost everybody remembers the celebrated advice of the London Fraser. To those about to marry. "Don't." There is in that advice the expression of the feeling of many a mother who says, "I hope my daughter will never marry and suffer as I have."

In ninety-eight cases in every hundred there's no need for this suffering. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause misery. It dries enfeebling humors, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It invigorates the womanly organism, tranquilizes the nerves and gives the mother strength to give her children.

Do not allow an unscrupulous dealer to sell you something in place of "Favorite Prescription," claimed to be just as good. There is nothing just as good for women as "Favorite Prescription."

"I am so pleased with your instructions. I hardly knew what thanks to give you for your kind favors," writes Mrs. M. B. Bryant of L. S. Thomas Co., Ga. "You can publish my little statement to the world. I feel all suffering women will know and be healed. I suffered much with great pains in my back and the lower part of my stomach and retention of the heart, that at times I could hardly lie down, and could hardly get up in the morning, but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure sick headache.

Creswell News.

Mr. John Robinson, who has been suffering with heart trouble has greatly improved in health and is again able to be on the streets shaking hands with friends.

A good many of the Creswell citizens have been to Eugene paying their taxes.

Thomas Pringle, who has been at home during the winter months, is going to leave for Eastern Oregon this afternoon to spend the spring and summer months.

Mr. J. S. Smith, after a long illness, is again able to be out and visiting his friends.

Hazel Hazleton has the mumps.

Mrs. W. Davis, known around here as Aunt Winnie Davis, is quite ill.

Mr. Gilbert McCord who has been building an addition to his house, has his work nearly completed.

Mr. J. N. Lindsay was reported as having the mumps yesterday, but we guess it is all a false report.

Miss Clara Clark is staying with Mrs. M. E. Johnson during the stormy weather.

Mr. J. S. Montgomery made Eugene a short visit, going down on Monday and returning Tuesday.

Miss Dana Hazleton and Miss Hattie Hawley are going to Cottage Grove Friday to visit relatives and friends. They will return Sunday.

Children for Adoption.

The Oregon Children's Home Society has several children for placement in family homes; among them are girls, babies and a boy and girl, ten years of age. Our children are placed out on three months trial. Since the year '05, four hundred and fifty children have been received and placed in good homes on the upper coast. On our local boards are the following: names: Gov. T. T. Geer, Salem; Judge A. G. Bartholomew, Heppner; Judge J. E. Magers, McMinnville; Prof. J. Straub, Eugene; F. M. Saxton, Ego, Baker City; Dr. F. Altman, Corvallis; Mrs. E. Gov. Moody, Salem; Mrs. C. A. Gearhart, Astoria; Mrs. Judge Lowell, Pendleton.

Applicants for children may send to Supt. I. F. Tobey, 608 Marquam Building, Portland. A number of children have been placed in excellent families by this society in Lane county. Mr. Tobey is now in Eugene.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure backache, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phoebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my household work." It overcomes constipation, improves appetite, gives perfect health. On y 50c at W. L. DeLano's drug store.

To Close Out.

The Shasta Route.

In going over the famous "Shasta Route" of the Southern Pacific Co. the traveler ever finds something new to excite his admiration and interest. Starting at Portland, one travels the whole length of the Willamette valley, the gem of the Northwest. Mr. Hood, Mt. Jefferson, and the Three Sisters and other snow-capped peaks are kept in sight for hours. The beautiful valleys of the Umpqua and Rogue rivers, with their orchards of peaches, apples and other fruits are a delight in themselves. The crossing of the great mountain barrier between Oregon and California reveals the grandest mountain scenery in the United States. The wonderful turnings, twistings and doublings of the railroad bring into view a grand array of towering mountains and profound gorges into which we gaze from dizzy heights, forest clad mountain slopes stretching up to the line of perpetual snow, and the foaming mountain streams dashing fiercely down deep canyons, now and then stopping for a short rest in some quiet pool. After a day's enjoyment of old Mt. Shasta, the finest peak on the continent, we drop rapidly down the canyon of the Sacramento to the broad plains of the Sacramento valley in California, and thence through vineyards and orchards to San Francisco.
