MONDAY - MAY 5

ACTRESSES MUST "DRESS."

A prominent actress gives a very reasonable explanation as to why the sisters of her profession pay so much attention to dress for the stage. She says:

An actress is forced by the necessities of her art to pay more particular attention to the idiosyncrasies of dress than other people. An actress, even more than an actor, is compelled to do this, because, in the majority of the parts she is called upon to portray, she is not permitted any facial "make-up." The actor has recourse to false beards, mustaches, wigs and putty noses to delineate the thousand and one varieties of the male face, but unless an actress is assigned to a character part, pure and simple, she has no way to indicate character, nationality or condition in life, excepting by her clothes. Therefore, if an actress desires to succeed in her profession she must become a close observer of the dress of the female types she meets, and, if she is such, she soon learns to read character with almost unerring facility.

ONE SCHOOLMASTER'S PUNISHMENTS.

The schoolteacher who "must" whip will take no little interest in the record which was consecrationally preserved by one Hauterle, a Bavarian schoolmaster who lived to a good old age and never forgot the use of the rod.

During Hauterle's service he applied 914,527 strokes of the cane, 124,000 whacks with the rod, 20,989 blows with the ruler, 10,235 boxes on the ear, 7905 tugs at the latter organ and a sum total of 1,115,800 boxes on the head with his knuckles. He threatened the rod to 1707 children who did not receive it and made 777 kneel upon round, hard beans, and 631 upon a sharp-edged piece of wood. Moreover, 5001 were made to ride the "wooden horse." The last named was a beam of timber set with sharp points upon which each victim was made to sit astride, sometimes with weights attached to his feet.

The vast commercial importance of New York City can only be appreciated through a study of the weekly bank-clearance statements. For instance last week the new world metropolis' bank clearings aggregated $1,767,532,000 out of total clearances for the United States of $2,572,025,000, nearly half. And while with few exceptions clearances showed gains all over the country, compared with the corresponding week last year, a decrease of twenty-one per cent in New York wiped it all out and gave a net decrease of fifteen per cent.

All this talk about putting an end to the state printing "graffi" enjoyed by the state printer is positively disagreeable to Joel Whitney, the Republican candidate. Mr. Godfrey, the Democratic candidate, for some reason takes little interest in the talk about it being the duty of the legislature to enact legislation that will secure the printing required by the state the same as for private parties—for about what it is worth.

A California paper tells how a miner has solved the problem of saving greasy gold. It is very simple, but only practical for rich dirt. He shovels the dirt into a tank, throws in a few ashes and runs in water enough to cover the dirt. He then puts a fire under the tank and brings the water to the boiling point, drains off the water and pans out the dirt. In about three weeks he has taken out $2,000.

INDICATIONS.

SHE—Do you think they'll marry?
HE—Circumstances point in that direction. Her people object, and he's as poor as a church mouse.

A GOOD GUESS.

DE BROKE—I suppose, old chap, you haven't got such a thing as a dollar to spare till next week?
D OLLANS—Quite true; but how did you guess it?

THOUGHT KIND OF THE CAUSE.

TESS—I detest apples, don't you?
JESS—Oh, no! Every time I put on a nice new gown I'm thankful that there was an apple for Eve to eat.

If you have not registered with the county clerk at the courthouse do so right away. Registration closes May 15, then if unregistered you will be put to the trouble of hunting up six citizens to vouch for your citizenship before you will be allowed to vote on election day. It is less trouble to register now than to get the necessary certification on election day.

FILIPINO NAMES.

Many Have Their Origin Explained by Fanciful Legends.

Many Filipino names have had their origin explained by fanciful legends and traditions. Every name has a meaning.
Jaro is called by uneducated Visayans Salog, which means cup. The legend which purports to give the derivation of this name dates back to the time when the monkeys and parrots ruled the islands. Once there was a great drought, and there was no place where water was to be found in all the mountains. So scouts were sent out to look for water, and they traveled many miles until they came to a spot where the river flowed all the year and where food was always plenty. They took a cup of water to prove their find and went back to their companions, who journeyed to the water and called the place Salog, or cup. When the babes adopted by the monkeys after the slaughter at Iloilo grew up and possessed the land, they retained the name.

Lyned in Visayan means "sit down." The town of Lyned, thirty miles from Iloilo, is said to have received its name because the first settlers were climbing the mountain when they became tired and said, "Let us sit down." They sat down where the town now stands and found the place so agreeable that they remained and built the town.

Hard Luck For an Actress.

Perhaps one of the most trying contortments that occurred on the American stage, writes Julia Marlowe, overtook a writer artist of mine when she was giving the first performance of a serious and elaborate play in an important American city. In the great emotional scene the sister of the character played by my friend falls at her feet in a passion of tears and entreaties. The heroine stoops to raise the stricken creature and in tones that unite pleading and command cries, "Get up, Anne; get up!"

On the evening in question one of that breed of imp children, a gallery boy, amid the deathlike silence which followed the great outburst, clucked twice, after the manner of one starting a horse. It would have been a phenomenally self-restrained audience that could have resisted such a lapse from the sublime to the ridiculous. The scene went to pieces, the curtain was rung down, and the actress sought her dressing room in a gale of hysterics.—Saturday Evening Post.

Why Boiled Water Freezes Easily.

Water which is hot of course cannot freeze until it has parted with its heat; but water that has been boiled will, other things being equal, freeze sooner than water which has not been boiled. A slight disturbance of water disposes it to freeze more rapidly, and this is the cause which accelerates the freezing of boiled water. The water that has been boiled has lost the air naturally contained in it, which on exposure to the atmosphere it begins again to attract and absorb. During this process of absorption a motion is necessarily produced among its particles, slight certainly and imperceptible, yet probably sufficient to accelerate its congelation. In unboiled water this disturbance does not exist; indeed, water when kept perfectly still can be reduced several degrees below the freezing point without its becoming ice.

A Chance to Dry.

Lord Dufferin always said that the happiest years of his long official life were those spent in Calcutta. He revelled in the sunshine. A friend one day expostulated with him for his reckless exposure of himself to the weather. "Well, you see," said the viceroy, "they have always sent me to cold places. They sent me as viceroy to Canada, where one must live two-thirds of the year in buffalo furs. They sent me to St. Petersburg, where one has to hibernate like a bear. So when they ordered me to India I rubbed my hands and said to myself, 'Now I can hang myself up to dry.'"

Butchers and Blue.

The blue smooch of the butcher, says an English paper, has often aroused curiosity. The color was originally adopted by the guild of butchers in the middle ages at a time when each trade had its distinguishing color; but, while other guilds dropped their colors, butchers stuck to blue because blood stains are less noticeable upon that color than upon any other. At a very early period blue was the universal wear of serving men. It was then the cheapest of dyes. Sir Walter Scott in his well known poem "Marmion" talks of "an old, blue coated serving man."

Domestic Trials.

Mr. Nugget—Oh, what's the matter with you? You're forever finding fault.
Mrs. Nugget (sweetly)—Well, that equals things. You're forever losing one.

Mr. Nugget—Losing one?
Mrs. Nugget—Yes, your temper. Surely that's a fault.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Is This So?

"Why do men flock after widows?"
"Because," explained the sweet young thing, "without a touch of bitterness, 'the average man lacks confidence in his own judgment, and in the case of a widow he feels that he is merely backing the judgment of another man.'—Chicago Post.

Don't be offensive in your politeness. When you ask a man to take your seat, don't add that you are younger and more able to stand.—Aitchison Globe.

It's what people don't know about a popular man that makes him popular.
