AN IMPROMPTU WHIRL.
 It scared the Chef Worse Than It Did His Assistant.
 Pat was assistant cook on one of the dining cars on the Great Western road running into St. Paul. He was obstinate and ill tempered. The chef was equally so, and as a result constant warfare waged between them. One hot day Pat was making ice cream and in spite of the chef's warnings insisted upon sitting in the doorway of the pantry while he turned the freezer. The train, going up grade, made a sudden lurch, and Pat and his can of ice cream fell out the door, as his superior officer had predicted. Frantic with fright, the chef in his white cap and apron tore through the train looking for the conductor.
 "Mon Dieu, M. Conducteur," he cried, wringing his hands when he found that person, "the ice cream freezer he fell off, and Pat got into it! Stop the train or we will have a dessert pour le diner. Trouble, trouble always with that Irishman!"
 The conductor pulled the bell and stopped the train, but it had already gone two miles past the spot where Pat had rolled out. They backed the train, fully expecting to find Pat's mangled body beside the track. Instead they saw him coming over the ties on a run, carrying on his back the ice cream freezer. He climbed on the train, looking foolish, but all he ever said of his miraculous escape was, "Be gosh, it jarred me some, it did that!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

One Divided by a Half.
 If you ask the man in the street the simple question, What is one divided by a half? he will either reply that the operation is an impossible one or that the answer is a half. When you point out that one divided by two is a half, he will see that there is something wrong somewhere, but will still be quite unable to give the right answer. When you tell him that the answer is two, he will either accept the assertion without understanding it, or will dispute it tooth and nail. If you attempt to convince him of his error, you will find it is not at all an easy task.
 His mistake arises through the confounding of two distinct ideas—namely, one divided into two and one divided by two. One divided into two is one divided into two parts, each part containing a half. One divided by two is the ratio of one to two or the number of times two is contained in one. To any one who has thought the matter out this seems clear enough, but to the man in the street it is sheer nonsense, and he will tell you so—Kansas City Independent.

A Bit of Correspondence.
 The following correspondence, ending in true Irish fashion, actually passed between two men in England some years ago:
 "Mr. Thompson presents his compliments to Mr. Simpson and begs to request that he will keep his dogs from trespassing on his grounds."
 "Mr. Simpson presents his compliments to Mr. Thompson and begs to suggest that in future he should not spell 'dogs' with two go's."
 "Mr. Thompson's respects to Mr. Simpson and will feel obliged if he will add the letter 'e' to the last word in the note just received, so as to represent Mr. Simpson and lady."
 "Mr. Simpson returns Mr. Thompson's note unopened, the impertinence it contains being only equaled by its vulgarity."

One of Travers' Jokes.
 When William B. Travers was in the directorate of the New York Central railroad, Jay Gould was running the Erie in opposition, and his management of that system betrayed a constant and intimate knowledge of what was going on in the Central's star chamber. Commodore Vanderbilt was naturally exasperated, and one day, after expressing how helpless he found himself to outwit his rival, he turned to Travers with the query:
 "Well, Billy, how can we stop Gould from getting knowledge of what we are doing?"
 "W-w-why," suggested the genial wit, "w-w-why d-d-dont you m-m-make him a d-d-director of N-N-New York C-C-Central?"

A Parisian Recommendation.
 A political critic of a former generation was engaging an apartment in one of the chief streets of Paris. The landlady, wishing, like all landladies, to make the best of her rooms, led him to one of the principal windows and as she swung back the venetian blinds remarked, "It is from this point, sir, that all of our revolutions pass."
 The good woman was no cynic, but spoke from her heart and just as an English landlady who hurls upon the splendid view of the sea from the two pair front—London Answers.

No Need to Worry.
 Professor Shore is very absentminded. His son rushed into his study one morning and exclaimed:
 "Just think, father! I've swallowed a pin! What shall I do?"
 "Ah, well," replied the big man, "don't worry about it. Here's another pin."—Chimes.

Never Flensing.
 Mrs. Mifflin—What do you think of this vivisection question? It must be awful to be cut up alive.
 Mrs. Graham—Yes, and it is awful to be cut dead, as I was by one of my dearest friends last evening.—Boston Transcript.

City Property for Sale
HENDRICKS' ADDITION TO EUGENE.—To those desiring to purchase city lots, I have laid out an addition on the south side of the city and north of College Hill Park. I have 120 lots in this addition, and am selling them very low so as to enable every one to have a home of their own. The price of these lots is from $50 up.
ELIAS STEWART ADDITION TO EUGENE.—I have some very desirable lots in this addition, in the very heart of the city and within a few blocks of Willamette street.
WHITEAKER'S ADDITION TO EUGENE.—I have a few lots in this addition within two blocks of the First National Bank.
COLLEGE HILL PARK.—I have 100 lots in this addition. The price now is $50 each. We will advance the price soon. We expect College Hill Park to become the most desirable residence property in or near the city.
HENDRICKS' ADDITION TO COLLEGE HILL PARK.—We have 70 lots for sale cheap in this addition; also 40 or 50 acres of very choice fruit land. I have on this place 1300 young prune trees, about 400 Bartlett pear trees, and 200 black walnut trees, also apples, plums and small fruits. This place has a good farm house, barn and out-houses, and is a most beautiful suburban piece of property. It is known as the Locust Hill farm, and there is no place in the state more beautifully and pleasantly situated.
 I am not in real estate business as a business—we sell our own lands only. I employ no agents. Any one desiring to purchase any of this property will find me at the First National Bank. I will be pleased to show property and give prices. I might exchange some of this property for good timber land. Come and see me.

Mrs. Laura S. Webb,
 Vice-President of Women's Democratic Clubs of Northern Ohio.

THERE ARE MANY sickly women between the ages of 45 and 55, but there are very few invalids over 65 and 60 years of age. The change of life coming to a woman near her forty-fourth year, either makes her an invalid or gives her a new lease on life. Those who meet this change in ill health seldom live ten years afterward, while a woman who lays aside the active duties of womanhood in health seldom fails to live on in happiness, years after she has passed 60. This is truly a critical time.
 Mrs. Laura S. Webb, of Toledo, Ohio, recognizes the change of life as a dangerous period and she also has faith in Wine of Cardui. She writes:
 "As I had always been troubled more or less at the menstrual period, I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. While visiting with a friend I noticed that she was taking poor Wine of Cardui, and she was so enthusiastic about it that I decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax. I do not dread it now, as I am sure that your Wine of Cardui will be of great benefit at this time."
 Wine of Cardui is the remedy to re-inforce a woman against the shock that comes with the change of life. It re-establishes healthy functions after years of suffering. In doing this it has saved thousands of sufferers just in time. Do not wait until suffering is upon you. Thorough preparations should be made in advance. Begin the Wine of Cardui treatment today.
 A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

APHORISMS.
 Observe your enemies, for they first find out your faults.—Antisthenes.
 Envy always implies conscious inferiority wherever it resides.—Pliny.
 The less heart a man puts into a task the more labor it requires.—Amitel.
 Evasion is unworthy of us and is always the intimate of equivocation.—Balzac.
 The same people who can deny others everything are famous for refusing themselves nothing.—Lelgh Hunt.
 If there is any person to whom you feel dislike, that is the person of whom you ought never to speak.—R. Cecil.
 The chief pang of most trials is not so much the actual suffering itself as our own spirit of resistance to it.—Jenn Grou.
 There is no beautifier of complexion or form or behavior like the wish to scatter joy, and not pain, around us.—Emerson.
 Success is sweet, the sweeter if long delayed and attained through manifold struggles and defeats.—A. Bronson Alcott.
 True popularity takes deep root and spreads itself wide, but the false falls away like blossoms, for nothing that is false can be lasting.—Cicero.
Blunders of Painters.
 A picture representing the four elements was essayed by an Italian artist, and he selected fish to indicate the sea, moles the earth and a salamander fire. The chameleon was intended as the air, but the painter, having no model of this animal and knowing nothing about its shape, contented himself by introducing a camel. He probably thought in his ignorance that from a similarity of sounds they were one and the same animal.
 Another painter in a picture of the crucifixion represented a father confessor holding out a crucifix to the repentant thief who was promised a place in paradise by the Saviour.
A Honeymoon Financier.
 Judge Edwards of Lee county, who has married over a hundred couples since he has been ordinary, performed the ceremony recently for a runaway couple seated in a buggy in the public road.
 The ceremony over, the bridegroom fumbled in his pocket and fished up 38 cents.
 "Judge," he said, "this here's all the money I got in the roon' worl'. Ef you're a mind to take it, you kin, but I'll say straightforwards that I'd done so it aside for the honeymoon expenses!"—Atlanta Constitution.
Disappointed.
 "So you advise me not to sue?" said the client.
 "I do," said the lawyer.
 "Well," returned the disappointed client, "it seems strange that when a man pays for advice he can't get the kind he wants."—Chicago Post.
Heroic.
 Gladys—Why did she ever marry him?
 Ethel—Oh, he said he couldn't live without her!
 Gladys—Well, she ought to get a medal for life saving.—Puck.
 If you have a dime, don't make yourself believe it is a dollar. That is what you do when you stop work to tell what a good man you are.—Athenaeo Globe.
