He Was a Financier.
Two members of the Chicago Stock Exchange went to a restaurant for luncheon, and after a hasty glance at the bill of fare each announced what he wanted.
"I'm for a fried bass," said one.
"Bass?" said the other. "Waitress, two fried bass, please."
In a few minutes the two bass on a platter and two plates were placed on the table. One bass was larger than the other, and the financier before whom the platter had been placed calmly passed the smaller bass to his companion.
"Now I call that a downright mean trick," said the man who received the smaller bass.
"What is a mean trick?"
"Why, to give me the smaller bass and keep the big one for yourself."
"What would you have done if you had been serving the fish?"
"I should certainly have given you the larger one."
"Well, in that case I should have had the larger one, I've got it now. What more do you want?"
The argument did not seem convincing, but at the moment the other man was unable to find a satisfactory answer to it.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Sacred Chinese Coin.
One of the coins of the Chinese Emperor Kanghi is very much sought after by the Chinese, who use it in making rings for the finger. It is slightly different from the other cash issued under the same emperor in the form of one of the characters that indicate the reign period. The Chinese call it "Lo-han cash," the word Lo-han being a Sanskrit word, Arhan, "venerable," the name applied to the eighteen attendants of Buddha, who are frequently seen ranged along the two sides of the principal halls in Buddhist temples.
The tradition is that while the emperor was intimately associated with European missionaries he became imbued with a feeling of contempt for Buddhism and illustrated this phase of his faith by having a set of eighteen brass Lo-han images melted down and cast into cash. This brass is said to contain a considerable portion of gold; hence the demand for the cash.
She Had to Diet.
Doctors sometimes give their directions for taking drugs or other treatment in language beyond the comprehension of the patient. Occasionally, but more often amusing, mistakes occur thereby. Judge tells one of the amusing kind, although it might have been uncomfortable at last.
A small colored girl went to a drug-store and said to the clerk, "Ma mamma wants some of de handsome color ye got."
"The handsome?" repeated the clerk. "Well, I don't know. What does she want it for?"
"She done got de misery in her stomach, and de doctor say she must dye it, and she say if she hab got der dye it she want it a handsome color."

The Force of Example.
When we read the life stories of men and women, we ourselves participate to some extent in their own experiences. Invariably we place ourselves in the situations in which they found themselves, and the problems which confronted them seek their solution in our own brains. Their difficulties, their triumphs, become personal lessons by which we may get a wider experience of life than comes to us in our ordinary avocations, so that when the time comes when we are called upon for some momentous decision or to pursue some special line of conduct we have a precedent to guide us to the right course.—Scottish-American.

How a Spaniard Smokes.
The Spaniards are the most expert smokers in the world. A Spaniard, according to an observer who has traveled through Spain and South America, takes a heavy pull at his cigarette, inhales it, takes up a wine skin or wine bottle, pours a half pint down his throat, holding the vessel a foot from his mouth and not spilling a drop, and then with a sigh of satisfaction closes his eyes and exhales the smoke from his nose and mouth in clouds. He will inhale the smoke, converse for a few minutes in a natural manner and then blow out the smoke.
Doing as He Was Told.
"What on earth," said a gentleman to his son, "are you doing up there, Johnny, sitting on the horse's back, when you ought to be at school?"
"Teacher said I was to write a composition on a horse," said the boy, "and I'm trying to, but it's awful difficult, 'cos he will keep moving so. I s'pose that's why teacher gave it to us to do, ain't it?"

One Wife's Cautious Claim.
"Is your wife one of those women who look at their husbands and say, 'I made a man of him?'" asked the impatient friend.
"No," answered Mr. Meekton. "Henrietta is very unassuming. She merely says she has done her best."—Washington Star.
Too Much For Papa.
"Papa, do you know how to reach a conclusion?"
"Certainly, Do you?"
"Easy. Just take a train."
"What are you talking about?"
"A train of thought."
"Go to bed!"—New York Herald.

Not Enough "Move Up There."

Virulent Cancer Cured.
Starting proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by Dr. J. W. Roberts of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bile, kidney and morbid poisons at the same time this saves experts the months' healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sore throat. Bitters 50c, Salve 25c at W. L. DeLano's.

Saved From Awful Fate.
"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa. "I was so low after six months of severe sickness caused by hay fever and asthma that few thoughts could get well, but I learned the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for coughs, colds and bronchitis affections. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at W. L. DeLano's.

The Education of the Parrot.
To teach a parrot to talk it is never necessary to place the poor bird in a darkened room or to starve him. Common sense would suggest that he should be made as happy as possible in his surroundings. Give him good food—hemp, maize, oats, millet. A slice of fruit is always beneficial, a bit of apple of pear, of banana or of carrot will do very well. Also see that your pet has pure drinking water, a large cage, some soft wood to gnaw, with plenty of coarse grit on the floor of the cage, for he needs the small stones to aid his digestion. A parrot in these comfortable circumstances may then be left alone in a room while his teacher concerns himself in another. The teacher, who should be heard, but not seen, should repeat, with infinite patience, over and over again the word or words he wishes his pet to learn. The female parrots do not talk—the female of the song birds it should be remembered, is not a singer—so that efforts of education in that line are quite thrown away.—Our Animal Friends.

Cleero.
Cardinal Newman was a master in the art of writing English. In one of his published letters he expressed the following opinion:
"As to patterns for imitation, the only master of style I ever had is Cleero. I think I owe a great deal to him and, so far as I know, to no one else."
Bishop Wordsworth of St. Andrews, another masterly writer of English, says in his autobiography:
"So far as I have derived benefit from any one in the matter of composition it has been from Cleero. I do not underrate the advantage of a combined study of authors such as Addison, Swift, Bolingbroke, Johnson, Burke, Home, Gibbon, Macaulay and I may add, Horace Walpole, but I must repeat that I believe I got more good, not only in writing Latin, but for writing English, from reading Cleero and learning him by heart than from any other source."

Long Flight of the Humming Bird.
That it may have the entire field to itself and escape the keen competition of hosts of tropical insects for the nectar and minute insects in the deep tubed brilliant flowers that please him best that jeweled ant, the ruby throated humming bird, sole representative of his family east of the Mississippi, travels from Central America or beyond to Labrador and back again every summer of his incessantly active little life. Think what the journey from Yucatan even to New England must mean for a creature so tiny that its outstretched wings measure barely two inches across! It is the smallest bird we have. Wherein lodges the force that propels it through the sky at a speed and a height which take it instantly beyond the range of human vision.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Lack of Clothing in Uganda.
A lack of clothing was and probably still is the most salient characteristic of the Wa-Kavirondo. "I am afraid you will find them very naked," said a missionary to me on the borders of their country, and so we did; nothing could have been nakeder. From their walled villages they issued in swarms and crowded round the tents to gaze upon us, monard, madame and bebe, without a rag to their names nor a head necklace or a hippopotamus tooth stick behind the ear could be accounted clothing. An airy, buoyant folk, verily, and to missionary eyes a sad contrast to the semicivilized Waganda, with their greasy draperies of bark cloth.—Cornhill.

Madagascar's Two Climates.
The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarious, and the natives are darker than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and the natives smaller and lighter in color than on the coast. But in the interior they are more intelligent, and they rule the island.

McSwiney's Gun.
Near Horn Head, County Donegal, Ireland, there is a hole in the rocks called McSwiney's gun. It is on the seacoast and is said to have connection with a cavern. When the north wind blows and the sea is at half flood, the wind and the waves enter the cavern and send up jets of water from the "gun" to a height of more than 100 feet. The jets of water are accompanied by explosions which may be heard for miles.

The Rapid Moving Fly.
The rapidity with which insects travel is astonishing. The common house fly makes 600 strokes per second when in the act of ordinary flight, that number of strokes averaging an advance movement of twenty-five feet. Our best naturalists say that this can be increased sevenfold.

He Was Sorry.
"A man just called, doctor, an ugly fellow, who asked if you were in and said he wanted to give you a horse-whipping."
"Well, and what did you tell him?"
"I said I was extremely sorry, but you were not at home!"—Der Dorfbauer.

City Property for Sale
HENDRICKS' ADDITION TO EUGENE.—To those desiring to purchase city lots, I have laid out an addition on the south side of the city and north of College Hill Park. I have 120 lots in this addition, and am selling them very low so as to enable every one to have a home of their own. The price of these lots is from $50 up.
ELIAN STEWART ADDITION TO EUGENE.—I have some very desirable lots in this addition, in the very heart of the city and within a few blocks of Willamette street.
WHITRACK'S ADDITION TO EUGENE.—I have a few lots in this addition within two blocks of the First National Bank.
COLLIER HILL PARK.—I have 100 lots in this addition. The price now is $50 each. We will advance the price soon. We expect College Hill Park to become the most desirable residence property in or near the city.
HENDRICKS' ADDITION TO COLLEGE HILL PARK.—We have 70 lots for sale cheap in this addition; also 40 or 50 acres of very choice fruit land. I have on this place 1800 young prune trees, about 400 Bartlett pear trees, and 200 black walnut trees, also apples, plums and small fruits. This place has a good farm house, barn and out-houses, and is a most beautiful suburban piece of property. It is known as the Locust Hill farm and there is no place in the state more beautifully and pleasantly situated.
I am not in real estate business as a business—we sell our own lands only. I employ no agents. Any one desiring to purchase any of this property will find me at the First National Bank. I will be pleased to show property and give prices. I might exchange some of this property for good timber land. Come and see me.

ADDITIONAL BARGAINS.
THE GORDON RANCH.
A farm of 227 acres eleven miles west of Eugene. This property has a house and barn and about 20 acres in cultivation with a small orchard in bearing, and two good springs of living water. It is timbered with a new second growth of fir and oak timber and is adapted to farming and stock raising. It is a snap at $5 per acre.
WILSON PLACE.
I own the Wilson farm of 144 acres two miles west of Eugene. It has a log house and barn and is covered with timber. We offer this place at $400 for the tract. A bargain.
GRANGER RANCH.
I am offering this ranch of 160 acres for $500. This place has a house and barn and about 10 acres in cultivation. It is 18 miles southwest of Eugene and will make a fine home for someone wishing to go into the stock business.
ACREAGE TRACTS.
I have three ten-acre tracts within one mile of the court house. These places are partly planted in young growing fruit trees and are very desirable for one who wants to live in the country and yet enjoy the benefits of city life. Just outside the city limits. Price on these lands, $100 an acre.
Eugene, May 16. T. G. HENDRICKS
