The Economical Mule.

The mule is ready to begin work two or three years earlier than the horse. He can be put to pretty heavy pulling when he is three years old, and from that time until he is forty, if he has fair treatment and does not meet with an accident, he is not likely to lose any time. He is not subject to the many ailments to which the horse is a victim, at least not to any great degree. He lives about twice as long, and his actual period of usefulness is nearly three times as long, for the horse is really not fit for heavy service until he is five years old or after he is twenty, while a mule will often do good service for forty years, and they have been known to work fifty, according to one writer, without being turned out at any time during all that long period.

Like the ass, the mule will live next to nothing, and during all his forty years of hard service a mule will not require—and generally does not get—half the feed necessary to sustain a horse during his much shorter period of usefulness.

Where Allspice Grows.

The island of Jamaica produces about all the allspice that is used. It is known also as pimento, or Jamaica pepper. The tree on which the berries grow is ever green, and the flowers grow in dense clusters. These develop into small green aromatic berries, the size of black pepper. If allowed to ripen, they become pulpy and lose some of their pungency. For commercial purposes the berries are gathered when green, carefully dried in the sun and afterward packed in bags holding 100 to 125 pounds and shipped. Pimento trees grow in many parts of tropical America, but nowhere do they thrive as in Jamaica. The trees are never planted by man and receive no cultivation worthy of the name. The seeds are dropped by the birds, and the rains and the tropical sun do the rest. Surplus trees are cut down and become walking sticks and umbrella handles. This spice is more mild and innocent than most other spices.

He Won the Youngster.

The Rev. Dr. Mackenzie of San Francisco was once calling on a new parishioner who had a "limb" of a boy. She had invited the doctor to dine "Willie," she said to her hopeful, "pass Dr. Mackenzie a potato."

Willie seized the potato between thumb and finger, and before his mother could utter a horrified remonstrance he had tossed it across the table and squarely into the good man's lap.

"Judgment!" cried Willie.

"One strike!" quoted the quick wit of the clergyman.

"Willie, leave the table!" stormed his mother.

"Madam," said the minister, "do not judge him harshly. See how beautiful ly he put the sphere over the plate." And from that time there wasn't a more earnest worker in all the big Sunday school than that same Willie.

Cure For Hiccough.

Hiccough usually attacks persons of nervous temperament and young children who have overindulged the stomach. It may also be induced by eating foods which have been too highly seasoned.

The most useful remedy and perhaps the most inoffensive and the best consists in sucking a piece of sugar which has previously been steeped in vinegar or drinking a spoonful of good vinegar in which some sugar has been dissolved.

If this is not at once successful, a second spoonful is certain to be so.

A Hungry Musician.

During the siege of Ladysmith an officer who was organizing a concert to keep up his men's cheerfulness heard of a sergeant in the Gordons who was said to be a performer. He found the said sergeant and asked him to contribute his services.

The sergeant was sorry, but said he "couldn't."

"Why," said the officer, "you do play something, don't you?"

"I did, sir."

"Well, what's your instrument?"

"The bones, sir—but I've ate 'em!"

Modern Instance.

"And now," he said, "we will see what our old friend the apostle Paul has to say. Step up here, Paul, and give us your testimony."

No, the speaker wasn't a diaphanous prosecuting attorney in the celebrated trial before Felix.

It was the Rev. Mr. Seventy, the popular pastor of the Blank Avenue church, who was preaching a doctrinal sermon.—Chicago Tribune.

The Shock Too Severe.

"Did the coroner's jury ascertain what caused Bowersox's sudden death?"

"Yes, it appears that he received a plumber's bill in his morning's mail."

"But surely that did not kill him?"

"That wasn't it, but about noon the plumber himself called and said there was an overcharge in the bill that he wished to correct."—Detroit Free Press.

Eccentric.

Mrs. Hunt—I suppose Jane Porter is the most truthful person in town. Why, I verily believe she would tell the truth even about her age.

Mrs. Pike—That wouldn't be truthful; it would simply be eccentricity.—Boston Transcript.

Neither Fear Nor Favor.

A total refusal is sometimes hard to compass; yet a "no" may contain a spicier savor than many an assent. There is a story of Archbishop Whiteley, who was walking in a London city park one day with a curate and Charles Lever, the novelist.

The archbishop was greatly interested in mushrooms, and he picked one and ate a piece of it, at the same time handing a bit to the curate.

"What do you think of that, Mr. A.?" he asked.

The curate did not especially like it, and moreover he was not sure whether it could be safely eaten. Nevertheless, this was his superior in office, a man who must not be offended.

"I think, my lord," said he, obsequiously, "it had a little pepper and salt it would be delicious."

"Here, Lever," said the archbishop, "you taste it and see what you think of it."

"Many thanks, your grace," said Lever, calmly, "but I am not a clergyman. It is true that I have a brother in holy orders, but he is not in your grace's diocese."

The archbishop laughed, better pleased with this cleverness of evasion than by a dull acquiescence, and ate the mushroom himself.

A Theory About Man's Beard.

There is a theory favored by the disciples of Darwin that the beard is merely the survival of a primitive decoration. Man, according to this view, was originally as hairy as the opossum itself, but as he rolled down the ages he wore the hair off in patches by sleeping on his sides and sitting against a tree. Of course the hair of the dog is not worn off in this way, but a great theory is not to be set aside by an objection so trifling. By and by our ancestors "awoke to the consciousness that they were patchy and spotty," and resolving to "give down" all hair that was not ornamental they with remarkable unanimity seem to have fired on the eyebrows, the mustache and, unfortunately, as the self scrapers mostly think—the beard as being all that was worth preserving of the primitive covering.—English Magazine.

An Anecdote of Renan.

Renan while traveling alighted at Naples. One morning a servant of the hotel came to him and said that as she had heard the preacher at the cathedral make use of his name many times she would be thankful if he would choose for her a number in the lottery about to be drawn. "If you are a saint," said she, "the number is sure to be a good one; if you are a devil, it will be still better." Renan smiled and chose a number, but he never knew if the servant was lucky.

Saved From Awful Fate.

"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shilde, of Chambersburg, Pa. "I was so low after six months of severe sickness caused by hay fever and asthma that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for cough, colds and bronchial affections. Guaranteed bottle 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at W. L. DeLano's.
