The June Recreation, an interesting Eastern sporting magazine, contains a picture of six Portland men with 325 ducks which they had killed in one day down on the islands of the Columbia river, run by the Deer Island sporting club, accompanied by an article headed "Oregon Butchery." One of the men in the picture is Watt Monteth, formerly of Albany.

The French prune crop, which is usually 25,000,000 pounds, will be less than one-fifth of that amount this year. It is expected that 2,000 carloads of prunes will be shipped from the Pacific Coast to Europe to be dried there under the French process and sold as French prunes. The information comes from S L Kilne, of Corvallis, who is in San Francisco.

A CHANGE IN GROCERY BUSINESS

Eastern Men Associate Themselves With J. L. Page and Form the Iowa Grocery Company.

W L Dunlap and Chas Ostrander, recently from Atlantic, Iowa, have associated themselves in business with J L Page, the well known grocer, and the new firm will be known as the Iowa Grocery Co.

The new company will continue to conduct the business at the same old stand on Willamette street and Mr Page will take an active part in conducting the affairs of the store for a couple of months or until the new men become well acquainted and then he will retire and take a long-needed rest, although retaining an interest in the store.

Mr Page has been in the grocery business here for 22 years, has been fair and square with his customers, has been progressive and energetic, and is now entitled to a rest. He wishes to thank his customers for their liberal patronage and hopes they will continue the same under the new regime.

Measurs Dunlap and Ostrander come highly recommended as good business men and first-class citizens, and have moved their families here to reside permanently, two carloads of their furniture having just arrived.

After the completion of the contemplated improvements in the store building, which have before been mentioned by the GUARD and which will be made next month, the new company will add to its present stock and will conduct an up-to-date store in every respect. The GUARD wishes the new company unbounded success.

OPENING OF THE REST COTTAGE

Formally Dedicated to Public Use Last Night By the Patriotic League.

The formal opening of the "Rest Cottage" built by the Women's Patriotic League was at ended last evening, despite the cool weather, by a large concourse of people who evinced great interest in the accomplishment of what has long been in the hearts of the ladies as an end-flood plan. Now that plan has materialized and Eugene knows what it is. It is to be hoped that the building will furnish many a visitor with comfortable means of rest while in the city.

The ladies of the league received from 8 to 10 pm in the reception hall. All the windows were lighted by rows of candles, and lemonade was served to the guests. The Fourth Regiment Band very kindly played their weekly concert last evening in honor of the event. The ladies are to be congratulated for the auspicious opening.

Mr and Mrs Thos Barbre, of Lost Valley, are expected in Eugene any time to take charge. They will occupy the upstairs and have quite comfortable quarters there.

Minstrels Tonight.

The opening event of the season will be that of the Sweeney-Alvide Minstrels at the opera house tonight. The press of our neighboring cities highly endorse Manager Geo H Sweeney's excellent attraction. Coming as they do is a sufficient guarantee that a perfect minstrel production will be given. The first part I first-class; the olio—strong with comedians and singers. Not including the olio notable are Roscoe & Sims, musical klogs; Giulio Rosetti, operatic tenor with illustrated songs; the Valdare, the wonderful acrobats and other novelties. Reserved seats now on sale at the Corner Drug store.

Retired From Business.

Joel McCormack, who has conducted the U O meat market on East Ninth street for the past few years, today retired from business. The property will be flout to parties shortly to arrive in Eugene who will continue the market at the same old place.

Mr McCormack, it is hoped, will stay among us, as he is a worthy and capable business man.

BUFFALO BILL
HERE TOMORROW

His Wild West and Rough Riders of the World Appear at Eugene.

As a perfect and accurate panorama of war as practiced in America, Cuba, Russia, South America, Mexico, South Africa and the deserts of Arabia, the Wild West stand peerless and alone. From it we learned just how mounted soldiers and warriors maneuver and fight. We see the systems of the plains, the tropical jungle, the sterile steppes, the veldt and the ever-shifting sands. It is a picture and a poem, a realization of the art and methods of actual hostilities. The realism, the genuineness pertaining to each and every feature explains the enthusiasm with which Col Cody and his horsemen have everywhere been greeted.

Only a man who has passed his entire life in the saddle as has Buffalo Bill could conceive and perfect the successful gathering together of so many representative horsemen, while the business talents and generous expenditure of Mr Nate Salisbury have supported Col Cody in a way few men could accomplish. The various cavalries are fresh from barracks and field—you see real rough riders and not a rehearsed company. Such is the Wild West, a living, genuine and thrilling exhibition of horsemanship of the world. It will be in Eugene tomorrow, giving two exhibitions, one in the afternoon and one at night.

Money in Them.

It is said that an argument will get the worst of it if it runs into E J Braler. Yesterday an Eastern tenderloin was raising the country because watermelons were 25 cents and more apiece. "Isn't that fine?" said E J. "We don't starve poor farmers here by making them raise melons two for a nickel—they make heaps of money off of melons alone—want to buy a farm? I have some beauties at a bargain." The man only glared at him.

Wanted.

All parties wishing to take student boarders, roomers or students to work for their board will please send their names and addresses together with a statement of prices, number desired, etc, to the University office.
