Creswell News.

Guard Special Service.

CRESWELL, Nov. 12.—Sportsmen are bagging a considerable number of ducks.

Luna Smith has rented the Aden Miller place, three miles out of town, and is onto the same.

John Martin, of Creswell, and Dora Vetch, of Cottage Grove, were married last Sunday at the residence of Theodore Martin. Rev Beck, of Cottage Grove, tied the nuptial knot. The couple will reside on Mr Martin's farm just below Creswell.

We understand that a Mr Evans intends soon to erect a nice house on the vacant lot in front of P C Noland's residence. Glad to hear of it and hope there may be others.

A number of our boys went to a charivari last Monday evening, and to say they had a warm reception is putting it mild. However, they persisted that the laugh is on the other fellow.

Ernest Sears, of Saguana, visited friends and relatives at Creswell over Sunday. It is generally believed that Creswell society is very agreeable to him.

Mrs Henry Miller, who has been spending the summer in Illinois returned a few days since. She is glad to be back in Oregon again.

Two brothers of Mrs Benj. Martin from Iowa are visiting her. They expect to remain in this state a month or more.

Miss Genevieve Howe went to the Bear creek neighborhood last Sunday to begin a term of school.

Bob Hawley is building an addition to his house. He has Ray Smith employed as boss carpenter.

Kay Stockwell, who has been spending some time in Eastern Oregon has returned to Creswell.

Sylvester Vetch, a respected citizen of Cottage Grove, attended the marriage of his daughter, Lora, to Mr Martin at this place last Sunday.

Mr Van Prooyen is circulating a petition, intended to annex his place south of here to the Creswell school district.

The Circle is preparing a drama which they expect to give to the public in the near future. Whenever the date shall be arranged definitely we will announce it in these items.

Cloverdale Items.

Guard Special Service.

CLOVERDALE, Nov 11.—Claude Parks and sister visited friends in this vicinity last Sunday.

M C Doyle is much improved from the stroke of paralysis he had some weeks ago.

Warren McFarland, of Cottage Grove, visited friends Sunday at this place.

Very little disturbance was done here Halloween night, with one exception. The young men of this neighborhood had better beware next time.

Nash Buoy and wife and Mr Kelly of Lewiston, visited at the home of M C Doyle last Sunday.

R Ha Huff, of Jasper, is quite a frequent caller of late at Jno Winzenrider's.

Miss Louise Mathews is visited friends in Springfield this week.

A few of the young people of this place attended the ball at Creswell last Friday evening.

Mr Scrivener has beef for sale at wholesale prices.

Rev Hans I filed his regular appointment here Sunday. We would like to see a larger attendance next time which is the fourth Sunday evening of this month.

They Are Coming.

The Alabama Warblers, 18 in number, under canvas on the vacant lot just north of White's grocery on Willamette street, Nov 19th, one night only. Headed by the great McKanase, the world's greatest cornetist, bandleader, comedian and violinist; Miss Lizzie Perry, champion lady cakewalker of the world, having taken the prize at Saguana, Mich, and great mimic and four-voiced singer; Miss Paul McKanase, the sweetest ballad singer living, most versatile girl before the public; famous Georgia Quartette and 15 other first-class and up-to-date performers.

Do not miss the free concert at the tent grounds at 5 o'clock. Their singing excels, dancers great, comedians funny.

THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY.

Formation and Appearance of This Old Freak of Nature.

The Giant's causeway is situated at the northern extremity of County Antrim, a short distance from Port Rush, Ireland. It consists of countless hosts of basaltic pillars, varying in shape from a pentagon to an octagon, the average length of each column or pillar being about eighty feet, the whole stacked so closely together that a knife blade could hardly be inserted between them. But the formation of these pillars is not the least wonderful part about them, for, although they may be counted by thousands and tens of thousands, each column is fashioned with a symmetry that suggests a mason's handiwork. Their composition is a perfect fusion of one-half flinty earth, one-quarter lime and clay, one-quarter almost pure iron, each pillar being divided into regular lengths or joints which come together as a perfect, natural ball and socket union.

Although to be found in small detachments (imbedded in the cliffs, sands, etc.) for some distance along the shore, the principal aggregations forming the causeway proper consist of three projections or tongues known as little, middle and grand causeways. These singular columns are of different lengths and present an astonishing appearance as they stand, an army of at least 40,000 strong marshaled on the shores of Erin as if ever ready to do battle with the rising tide.

The Word "Joss."

"It's a mistake to suppose that 'joss' is a Chinese word," says a retired ship's carpenter. "I've traveled a good bit in the orient in my time, and among the odds and ends of interesting information I picked up was a knockout of the genuineness of 'joss' as a Chinese word. Chinamen only know 'joss' when they come in contact with Europeans. A Chinese priest that I became chummy with in Hankow told me that there was no such word in Chinese. He explained that the word was a corruption of the Spanish word 'dios' and had come into use through the missionaries. Many early missionaries, he said, were Spanish priests, and their pronunciation of 'dios' was speedily corrupted into 'joss' by native tongues and applied to the Chinese deities. It's only on the Chinese seaboard that the word is understood by Chinamen. In the interior, the priest told me, the Celestials had no knowledge of it."—Philadelphia Record.

Street Etiquette.

In meeting a lady in a public thoroughfare in America a gentleman always waits for her lot of recognition before lifting his hat or addressing her. In Europe, however, the contrary is the established rule, it being the gentleman's place to bow first, when, if the lady does not so recognize him, she ignores his salutations, thus giving the act direct. It is not good form in any place for a lady to stop a gentleman in the street for the purpose of chatting with him, though she may with perfect propriety pause to speak if he take the initiative. Prolonged talks in the street are not, however, considered good form, even between persons of the same sex, the better plan being to walk on slowly until the conversation is concluded.—Detroit Free Press.

Why Coughing is Weakening.

The amount of energy expended in coughing is very considerable. Indeed one of the patient statisticians for which Germany is renowned has calculated that a patient who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours expends energy equivalent to 250 units of heat, which may be translated as equivalent to the nourishment contained in three eggs or two glasses of milk. In normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet per second, whereas in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of 300 feet.

Considerate.

Paterfamilias—See here! What does this mean? The parlor clock is stopped. Mr. Nictefellow was here last night, was he not, wasn't he?
Daughter—Yes, pa, and I told him what you said about the cost of coal and gas in the parlor every night, and we began to wonder how we could economize for you, and finally Mr. Nictefellow decided that we could at least stop the clock and save wear and tear on the works, you know.

Wholesale.

A Frenchman was teaching in a large school where he had a reputation for making some queer mistakes. One day he was taking a class which was rather disorderly. What with the heat and troublesome boys he was very snappish. Having punished several boys and sent one to the bottom of the class, he at last shouted out in a passion, "Ze whole class go to ze bottom!"

Relatively Speaking.

"He must be put out of the way," said the feudal king. "But, your majesty," protested the lord high executioner, "he is your first cousin."

"I know; but I prefer to have him my cousin once removed."—Philadelphia Record.

Good Advice.

"Help! Help!" came the cry of distress through the midnight stillness. The policeman in the neighboring doorway stirred uneasily. "Advertising in the want column," he muttered and resumed his nap.—Philadelphia Press.

A celebrated physician declares that the increase in height and weight of Britons and Americans during the last half century is chiefly due to the increased consumption of sugar.

How Coal Was First Named.

Curiously, the word coal was in use long before as well as long after the commencement of the coal trade, with a meaning quite different from that which it now has. The term originally belonged to wood fuel and was applied in particular to wood which had been charred, or what is now called charcoal.

When the trade in mineral coal began, this was usually distinguished by the singular name of sea coal. It would seem that from having been gathered in early times on the seashore, more especially of Northumberland, along with seaweed and other wreckage cast up by the waves, this peculiar substance was supposed to be of marine origin. From this circumstance and its resemblance to wood coal in color and burning properties it obtained the name of sea coal, by which it was so long and so widely known. Then in the course of time, as the new fuel gained upon and superseded the old, the simple name of coal became universally transferred to it.

Making It Plain.

A writer in the Lancet, says the Chicago Record-Herald, generously sets himself the task of giving out valuable information as to the amount of food one should eat. He proceeds to make the matter plain to the masses by saying:

"If you desire to know how much you ought to eat per diem, you must first determine whether you are temporarily anabolic or katabolic. Then, taking into account your age, sex, size, the amount of exercise you get and the temperature of the atmosphere, you should calculate the amount of food necessary to maintain the minimum weight of the body consistent with the best health of which you are capable."

Hereafter there should be no excuse whatever for overeating or undereating.

The Discovery of Florida.

Juan Ponce de Leon, sailing from Porto Rico in search of new land, discovered Florida on March 27, 1512. He landed near St. Augustine, planted the cross and took possession in the name of the Spanish monarch. In 1763 a treaty ceding east and west Florida to Great Britain, in exchange for Havana and the western part of Cuba, was ratified. In 1781 part of Florida was ceded to Spain, and in 1783 Great Britain ceded east and west Florida to Spain. On Feb. 22, 1819, east and west Florida were ceded to the United States by treaty and purchase, Spain receiving $5,000,000.

The Way He Gloated.

Two buses were traveling down Regent street in close proximity when the conductor of the foremost one took off his badge and dangled it in the air, to the obvious annoyance of the rival driver.

"What did you do that for?" asked a passenger.

"Why," said the conductor, pointing a derisive thumb at the infuriated driver, "his father was 'ung.'—London Tit-Bits.

Origin of Spoons.

Two natural objects seem to have furnished the model for the spoon to primitive man—the river or sea shell and the leaf of plants. In southern China shell spoons are still used that are closely reproduced in the familiar porcelain spoon of that country, while metal spoons are found in India on which are reproduced even the veins of the leaves from which they were copied.

Helping the Heathen.

Anst (severely)—How dare you take the money from your missionary box?
Willie—Didn't you say I was a regular little heathen?
"You are far worse."
"Well, I was saving the money for the heathen, and first come first served."

A Terrible Threat.

Customer—That hot service costs 50 marks. That is more than I can pay.
His Wife (whispering)—If I should have a fainting spell among all this china, it would cost you far more.—Fleegende Blätter.

Encyclopaedia for Sale.

THE GUARD offers a ten-volume Americanized Encyclopaedia Britannica for sale. There are 6002 pages of the work, 96 colored maps of states and countries and numerous illustrations. It is durably bound in sheep and has been well used.

In the condensation of the Britannica special pains were taken, as the name indicates, to give special preference to subjects of American interest, at the same time pruning long and prolix articles of all superfluity, though not materially curtailing the presentation of desirable facts.

This encyclopaedia has been in constant use for several years. It is offered for sale for the sufficient reason that the office has been supplied with a complete Britannica with a five-volume 'American supplement.'
