THURSDAY — AUGUST 13

The Negro Belongs South.

Northern people as a rule have a great deal of sympathy for the negro—down South. They have no use for him in their own communities. Witness this from the Oregonian, and it may be remarked that paper is generally consistent on the race question, barring of course political campaigns when it has said some unnecessarily harsh things.

Didn't Want His Banker to Gamble.

An Ohio bank cashier skipped out yesterday leaving but $458 in the bank vault, when there should have been $75,000. He had been gambling. What were the directors and other responsible officers of the bank doing all the time?

One of Portland's holdup men has gone out of business for a time.

He got a penitentiary sentence of seven years yesterday. The Journal says forty miles of cement sidewalk have been laid in Portland since the first of the year. Nothing else is allowed. They average seven feet wide.

It might be well for Eugene authorities to take some special precaution in the matter of patrol in the business part of town during the dry season.

Firebugs seem to be working their way south from the Sound cities and Portland, where they have been epidemic for several months. Albany had three attempted incendiary fires in the business part of the city Tuesday night. A little prevention is worth a whole lot of cure.

Miss Anna Duncafe has broken the world's record for a woman by throwing a baseball 235 feet.

The previous record was held by a Vassar girl, 181 feet. The inability of woman to throw a missile any considerable distance or to control its course in throwing is claimed by anatomists to be due to the peculiar formation of her shoulder blade not allowing the arm to swing freely on a line with the body, thus failing to give leverage in casting an object from the hand.

It did not bring the "gospel ship" Evangel any particular good luck by dispensing with the usual bottle of wine broken over the bow at launching and instead having a little girl dressed in white scatter religious tracts over the bow. That was in 1882. On the first trip to Alaska she broke down and humped back to the Sound for repairs; when the owner sold her. After that came a collision with another steamer, a boiler explosion killing three men, sank at her dock, raised and machinery taken out and now lies dismantled on the beach.

If Only One Could.

If hills begin to worry you, Don't let 'em. The only thing to do is this: Forget 'em. Your memory just Needs a rest. Forget is best. If girls aspire to fill your mind, Don't let 'em. The sweet and charming little things! Forget 'em. We've said it once, We say it yet, There's nothing like A good forget.

The kidneys are not sensitive and the disease is sometimes fast and already chronic with the very first symptoms. It has hung on right in ten months it is surely chronic. Is either case why tamper with it? Why not take as first the only thing known that cures kidney disease in the chronic as well as the primary stage. The full case cited below, by permission, is especially valuable for its instructive value in showing how to cure kidney disease. The whole body was swollen with dropsy and a fatal result was about to be reached. The Fulton Compound was given and the recovery was complete and permanent. The Fulton Compound was also doubly advised.

On May 1st, 1922, the son of R. C. Peil the manager of the Pacific Coast Portland Cement Co. and second and Fulton streets, San Francisco, was advised by the family physician to have three kidney pills and a cathartic. Another physician was called in and another diagnosis. The whole body was swollen with dropsy and a fatal result was about to be reached. The Fulton Compound was given and the recovery was complete and permanent. The Fulton Compound was also doubly advised.
