A School of Journalism.

They may teach journalism, but they cannot make a journalist, says the Portland Telegram.

Apropos of the Pulitzer newspaper co llege, this represents the summary of the verdict reached by Chicago newspaper men—than which there are none brighter nor brainer in the country—when, some years ago, that astute Rockefeller advertiser, Dr. Harper, brought up the question of teaching newspaper work in Chicago University.

Savants in the business long ago concluded that the only way to learn journalism was to learn it in a newspaper office, where actual conditions, not theories, are met. The proposition of the publisher of the New York World to endow a $2,000,000 school will arouse only languid interest among the members of the craft, for it will be extraordinary, indeed, if in forming the faculty journalists of the acceptable stripe are employed to direct the elementary training of the students.

It may be admitted that the standard of qualifications for newspaper workers might be elevated through an institution such as this. College-bred journalists are not notable successes on any of the leading dailies, and some of the most important positions in the professions are held by men who claim no alma mater.

There is nothing like the school of experience, the touch of Things as They Are—and men and the world at large—for instructing a writer in observation and the ability to write cleverly and easily comes from within not outwardly in.

Whitelaw Reid, named as one of the trustees of Pulitzer's school, prints in a current issue of his Tribune, a lecture he has delivered upon more than one occasion to young men who want to mount to fame through journalism. This is what he says:

I have little faith in "schools of journalism" or in "courses of journalism," or, if you must have the truth, in lectures on journalism, either. The only place to learn the newspaper business is in a newspaper office, and you have to be caught tolerably young to learn it at all!

His Just Deserts.

The Grants Pass Courier says: "The Medford Enquirer announces that the issue of August 14, is its last. After 11 years of newspaper work the editor anounces that he is not one cent better off than when he began and thinks it is time to enter some more remunerative occupation."

No wonder! The editor of the Enquirer is the man who so villianously attacked the President in his sheet during Mr. Roosevelt's sojourn in Oregon last spring. The Guard spoke very plainly upon this matter, whereupon the editor of the Enquirer falsified the Guard.

Our journalistic contemporary in this city republished the article, thus endorsing the Enquirer man's action, when it well knew he was a liar.

Mr. Mann is in the newspaper grave yard. His screed on the President was uncalled for and it is noteworthy that the good people of Medford refused him the support a decent paper commands.

The Woodburn Independent says:

"The Independent is the only paper in Oregon that does not work in the interests of hop dealers. It is with the growers in every instance. Some of the other sheets have streaks of honesty and are then on the side of the growers, but only temporarily; they veer around to the dealers. None who have observed their course doubts the truth of this assertion."

Well, according to the Independent, the newspaper men with the exception of the Independent, are rascals. Now, the Guard is more interested in hops than the Independent is, and we are on the growers, side of the fence.

It is true, that many of the Oregon papers work in the interests of the hop buyer, but there are many who do not. The Independent takes too much credit for itself. There are others.

Origin of Old Sayings.

The Honeymoon—For thirty days after a wedding the ancient Teutons had a custom of drinking a mead made of honey.

The Bridegroom.—In primitive times the newly wedded man had to wait upon his bride and the guests on his wedding day. He was their groom.

Sirloin of Beef.—King Charles I, being greatly pleased with a roast loin of beef set before him, declared it "good enough to be knighted." It has ever since been called Sir Loin.

A Spinster.—Women were prohibited from marrying in olden times until they had spun a full set of bed furnishings on the spinning wheel; hence till married, they were spinsters.

Cabal.—This word was coined in Charles II.'s reign, and applied to his cabinet council. It was made out of the initials of their names, which were: Clifford, Arlington, Buckingham, Ashley and Lauderdale.

Irving Items.

(Guard Special Service.)

Irving, Aug. 18.—Professor I. E. Caldwell, of Philomath, has been in Irving a few days looking after the interests of Philomath College.

Threshing is in full blast in this vicinity, the yield is good and the quality above the average.

Mrs. Daisy Minkler, of Portland, has been visiting in Irving for a few days. We are pleased to note that her health is much improved.

J. B. Salsman who has been on a furlough from the Soldiers' Home for the past few week, returned last Friday. His state of health has been greatly improved since he went there, a little over a year ago. His wife accompanied him to Roseburg where she will reside.

Washburne & Sons are putting the Hallett warehouse in order and will soon be ready to receive the new crop of wheat.

J. W. Zumwalt was made happy last Sunday by a visit from his father and mother from Nebo, Illinois, whom he had not seen for several years. Mr. Z. is a brother of Isaac Zumwalt of Eugene.

A water melon car arrived in Irving Monday evening, and our merchants stocked up on this delcicacy.

W. M. Sutton, is in charge of the Hallett warehouse and is already receiving new wheat, over six hundred bushels coming in on Monday.

Mrs. B. F. Bond is visiting on Mohawk for a few days.

Miss Maggie Dooley went on the excursion to Newport last Sunday. She reports having had a fine time.

NIGHT WAS HER TERROR.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but when all other medicines failed, three $1 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, La grippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at W. L. DeLano's drug store.

CITY PROPERTY FOR SALE.

I own and have for sale about 300 lots in seven different additions to Eugene. Am laying off a new addition. Lots sold on reasonable time for $50 and upwards.

These lots are going fast, so anyone wanting to purchase would do well to call early.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We desire to announce to the public that we have formed a partnership for the purpose of engaging in the real estate business. Our purpose is, not only to benefit ourselves, but to assist in building up Eugene and Lane county. We propose to conduct our business in a strictly upright and honorable manner, and having had years of experience in the business will conduct all departments, including the buying and selling of city and farm property, loaning money, renting, insurance and collections. We will act as administrator, executor, guardian and trustee, prepare wills, obtain pensions, make collections and do a general real estate and legal business. Notary public in office. If you desire fair treatment and wish to sell your property, call and see us.
