Junction Notes

Mrs. W. S. McFadden and children, of Corvallis, arrived here this week and will spend the remainder of the summer on their ranch below town.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Spencer, who have spent the past four or five months in San Francisco, stopped off here Saturday morning to visit relatives. Mrs. Spencer was formerly Miss Maud Speer.

Mrs. S. L. Moorhead, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. W. O. Davis and daughter, Miss Freda, and son, Donald, left Tuesday morning for Newport to spend a few days "where the tide ebbs and flows twice in every 24 hours."

An effort was made to secure a coach to attach to the morning southbound freight circus day in order to give the people of this section an opportunity to attend, but on account of the great amount of travel every coach is in use and the application was therefore denied.—Times

PREPARATIONS FOR FISHING SEASON

Being Made on the Siuslaw Notes and Personals

Dr. Geo W. Leslie has sold his practice at Moscow, Idaho, and is now at Davenport.

Gertie Schreuder returned home Wednesday evening after an absence of several weeks at Eugene

Mr. Zimmerman, of Eugene, has been on the Siuslaw for several days looking after life insurance business.

W H. Weatherson returned Tuesday evening from Minnesota. He spent a week at the Portland fair on his way back.

Mrs. Cassidy received the sad news by 'phone Sunday, saying that her brother-in-law, John Joyce, of Portland, was dead. She and her son William left for Portland that afternoon.

An interesting and instructive entertainment, consisting of moving pictures, up-to-date colored scenes and graphaphone music was given at the Odd Fellows' hall Monday evening by W. W. Moore, of Eugene.

Fred Bean and Jess Nicolle are putting a large tank on the hill back of the schoolhouse at Mapleton to supply water for their dwellings. It will have an elevation of 100 feet, and will be a great improvement over their water supply for their homes.

Preparations for the fishing season are going on at the Herd cannery Mr. Gibson, who has the cannery rented, arrived here a few days ago and is putting things in order for the fall's business. He expects to go to Astoria the last of this month after a crew of Chinamen, and intends to start the cannery as soon as he returns.—The West.

DEATH OF MRS. J. H LAMSON

Passed Away Late This Afternoon From Senile Debility

Mrs. J. H. Lamson died at her home, 440 Olive street, this afternoon about 3:45 o'clock, from senile debility. She was aged 64 years. Her husband, it will be remembered, died only a few months ago.

Funeral announcement and a sketch of the life of the deceased will be given tomorrow.

HAPPY WEDDING SATURDAY NIGHT

Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carson Mathews, 345 West Fourth street, occurred the marriage of Roy Deal to Miss Estella Jeans, Rev. H. N. Mount, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

The wedding was quiet, but a happy one. Only a few of the relatives and intimate friends of the young people were present.

The groom is a well-known tonsorial artist with his place of business on West Eighth street, near the postoffice. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jeans, of Mapleton, and has been connected with the Hotel Smeede for some time past.

The happy couple are now in Portland on a honeymoon tour.

County Clerk

Note and Comment

Kaspar Vandran, whose wife drank from a bottle of ginger ale in Portland a few days ago and died instantly from poisoning, is well-known to many Eugene people. For many years he conducted the bar in the Depot Hotel at Albany and was a nephew of the proprietor, A. Gross. His wife was formerly a Miss Monteith, also well known in Eugene. The mystery as to who placed the poison in the ginger ale is puzzling the detectives. It is known that the life of the couple had not always been an affectionate one, and many lay the guilt at the door of the husband and the deceased's sister. Others claim that the poison was placed in the bottle for Vandran. Vandran, it will be remembered, was shot about two months ago by another saloon man over the fact that Vandran was protecting the man's wife. The Portland police are determined that some one, guilty or not, must suffer for the crime.

That is a very complacent city council at Portland, passing the ordinance over Mayor Lane's veto to give saloons the privilege of maintaining closed "boxes," rooms in fact, to the extreme size of 12x13 feet, for example, of floor space. And this is not all. They are given permission to furnish these "boxes" built in their saloons with fixtures, beds and couches, while the doors may be provided locks and bolts. In other and plain words, Portland gives the saloon the right to add the brothel to its already harmful business, and, infinitely worse, the opportunity to wreck the lives of innocent girls and women who apart from plying with the convenient liquor, drugged on occasion if necessary to the purpose, would maintain their integrity.

Coburg Items

Coburg, Aug. 17.—M. C. Bond and family returned Thursday evening from a ten days' visit to Portland and the fair.

Mrs. H. D. Barnett and children returned Monday evening from Woodburn, where they he spent several days with relatives.
