"Soon after I began to take Wine of Cardui I could see that I was beginning to get back my strength."
That is the comment Mrs. Seymour makes.
If you are sick you can take Wine of Cardui and secure health and strength. If other medicines and other treatment have failed, that will make no difference. Few women have taken Wine of Cardui at first.
By far the greater number of Wine of Cardui cures are women who could not sew. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE of CARDUI
No. 48 Straight St., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. used to endorse Wine of Cardui as I found it so beneficial to my health after my baby was born. I could not seem to get well and able to do my work, and as I had been in bed for six rather serious, but soon after I began to use Wine of Cardui I was beginning to get back my strength. In another week I was up most of the day and in a month I was able to be up and work. I think it is cure for a woman and give it highest praise.

PIANO HEAD-QUARTERS
For Big Wholesale and

Eilers
Have Leased From F. A. Rankin a New Brick Building Which Will Be Erected at Once

"The recent disgraceful piano squabbles, it seems, are not going to prove without benefit to the city of Eugene and vicinity after all," said L. Therkelson, who arrived here from Portland yesterday. "Of course, it is well known that Mr. Rankin has for years represented the interests of Eilers Piano House in this section, and nearly every high-class piano, among the numerous Concert Grand, Parlor Grand, Baby Grand and fancy high-class uprights, each of them worth from $500 to $1400, has been sold by him to the most influential citizens hereabouts. Now no one would expect to hear of the good qualities of instruments sold by Mr. Rankin from people who are trying to compete with him, for they have places of their own to sell. But it would not seem necessary to indulge in a lot of personalities in the public press, and resort to downright violence in order to sell pianos. The conditions here now are a good deal as they existed in Portland in 1899. At that time Eilers Piano House stated plainly in the public press that no amount of under-banded reference or insinuations published and directed at our pianos, our prices and our methods by dealers who might be sorely pinched by them would induce us to drag the piano business down to the level of a vulgar newspaper controversy, or wallow in the mire with individuals who seek that kind of notoriety. This policy has been, and will be strictly adhered to by Eilers Piano House, and despite the carping and occasional jealous outbursts of some among numerous green-eyed and jealous competitors, Eilers Piano House has continually forged ahead in a triumphant onward march of twentieth century piano selling. It lends the procession today because it belongs at the head Eilers Piano House methods make costs lowest on worthy goods. We have no time or inclination to worry over questionable articles. We have no inferior make believes to fold off.
We sell pianos just as other commodities are sold, on modern principles.
"Quick sales, small profits," money back if your purchase here does not prove satisfactory, or as represented.
These principles have been and are bound to be successful. Eilers Piano House is the general Western agent for the famous Chickering, "the oldest in America, best in the world," the Weber piano, "America's daintiest and most artistic instrument," and the far-famed Kimball, "of all modern and successful pianos the most successful and America's greatest," also the Pianola and the wonderful Pianola Piano, together with some 30 other reliable high-class makes.
"Leases were signed and executed last Saturday for a new building to be immediately erected and to be occupied by Eilers Piano House, which will put the city of Eugene on the same basis, as far as supply of pianos goes, that are enjoyed by San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and numerous other points. Eilers Piano House will maintain here a regular wholesale and retail distributing point, and every advantage that this concern possesses in the cities named above, and at other points, will be enjoyed by the local house."
Mr. Therkelson is a native Oregonian, being the son of L. E. Therkel-son, the well-known pioneer and capitalist of Portland, Oregon. He is a thoroughly experienced young man in the piano business, having years ago been connected with the Eilers Piano House of Portland; later on he was transferred to Spokane, and then desiring to gain a still further knowledge of men and affairs, he travelled extensively, of later years being connected with several prominent Southern and Central California concerns.

Booth-Kelly Co. Gets Decision in Coburg Damage
Case
Judge J. W. Hamilton, of the circuit court, has handed down a decision in the case of Jonathan J. Thomas, of Coburg, vs. the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company, wherein the plaintiff seeks damages from the defendant because the latter has maintained a dam across a mill race at Coburg, causing the water to overflow on the plaintiff's land. The judge finds in the case as follows:
"First, that whatever damages, if any, plaintiff may have sustained by reason of back water from defendant's dam are not irreparable.
"Second, that the plaintiff is not entitled to equitable relief herein and that his complaint should be dismissed and defendant recover costs in the case."
This case has been in the courts for some time past and has created considerable interest. Weatherford & Wyatt, of Albany, are the plaintiff's attorneys, and A. C. Woodcock, of Eugene, and O. H. Tanner, of Portland, for the defendant.

DAM ACROSS
THE MCKENZIE
Built at Coburg so That Logs Could Reach the Saw Mill

The Booth-Kelly Lumber Company has constructed a dam across the Mc-Kenzie river at Coburg, just below the point where the mill race empties into the river. This was done in order to raise the water in the river so that the logs could reach the mill.
The water had become so low that it was impossible to get the big logs over the shallow places. The dam has raised the water a foot or more.
