SPAULDINGS BUY NEW MILL

Independence, Or., Dec. 12.—The Spaulding Lumber Company has bought the Independence sawmill from F. A. Dooty and the land on either side of the slough across the river, leased by the same company. The mill has been idle for the want of logs, and much lumber has been shipped in. The Spaulding company operates mills above and below this point, with one at Salem, and a large body of timber on the Lmektumite, and the mill at this place will be in line with its other interests.

CARRIES LARGE PROPERTY LIST

An interesting fact in connection with the forthcoming engagement of Henry W. Savage's production of the comic opera, "The Sho Gun," the Ade-Luders work, is that the "property list" calls for no less than 1350 separate and distinct pieces of "properties," such as fans, flowers, cushions, lanterns and other incidentals of a big production. This is the largest property list any comic opera in America ever had. At the Eugene theatre Saturday, December 16.

STUDENTS PROMISE MEMBERSHIP

Y. M. C. A. Committee Visited High School and Received Much Encouragement

The Y. M. C. A. committee visited the high school this forenoon to ascertain how the students feel about organizing an association in the city. Members of the committee addressed the assembly and afterward secured the names of 82 young men and boys who desire to become members when the organization is formed. Superintendent Arnold and Principal McKee also gave their names to add to the membership list. The committee found the high school students very enthusiastic over the matter and came back down town feeling much encouraged.

Note and Comment

Those who knew Horace McKinley best are not surprised at the boldness of his operations in leasing forged deeds to state lands, seal, signatures and all, are only surprised at the possible magnitude of his and Peter's friends. If there ever was a thoroughbred gambler, one of the magnitude whose stakes might be limited only by his possessions or credit, McKinley is that man. He could gamble twenty-dollar pieces as unconcernedly as pennies—and now he has staked all, his liberty, for several of stakes running up into the hundreds of thousands. But evading justice, there's the rub. There are few men in these days of extradition able to get entirely away when badly wanted. We do not believe McKinley will be an exception to the rule.

Good for Street Commissioner Turner. He will give us clean business streets and crosswalks all over town that can be got across without waiting in mud. He is going about it the right way—taking the mud off for some distance on both sides of the crosswalks so it will not be carried back by crossing vehicles.

A peculiar and sudden change of weather conditions that last evening, the thaw coming within half an hour so trees that before held moisture frost-bound became all adrip. It was the proverbial south wind that has brought not only comfort, but relief from indisposition and sickness, for which the mildly freezing weather was becoming responsible.

FOUND HER TEN-DOLLAR BILL

A Eugene woman the other day lost a $10 bill on the street and advertised for it in the Guard. A saloon keeper found the bill on the sidewalk in front of his place of business and when he saw the advertisement that evening he delivered the bill over to the Guard to give to its owner. The woman was jokingly asked to use her influence at the polls in favor of the saloons as a reward for the return of the money. She declared she wouldn't think of such a thing, but has a better opinion of saloon keepers than she had before.
