AN INDEPENDENT PAPER.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 2

Note and Comment

The Princeton Review says it "must decline to discuss religion or local politics." There is good reason for an only paper keeping out of politics, but for religion—well, probably the editor has an eye to the future, does not want to take chances of offending his majesty who may have him in charge for correction. A long head, that.

Henry H. Rogers, president of the Standard Oil Company, himself one of the several multi-millionaires "rich beyond the dreams of avarice" through Standard Oil, has a keen sense of humor. On the gridiron of cross-examination in New York regarding Standard Oil peculations—it is the proper name—the other day, the commissioner taking the testimony ordered Mr. Rowe, an interfering Standard Oil attorney, to leave the room, he refusing. Mr. Rogers quietly remarked, "I would like to be in Mr. Rowe's place." He was willing to quit.

"Lumber jacks," loggers, have the reputation of indulging their appetites for alcoholic stimulants to the farthest limit, and being somewhat "rude" when off work with the proceeds in their pockets. In an instance in a saloon at Clarkia, Idaho, the other day one logger beat another and finally lit an ear off. The mutilated man finally rallied, kicked his assailant helpless, then sat and peppered the ear and forced the bitter to eat it.

The life insurance company investigation has brought out the fact that the President Life and Trust Company, one of the smaller concerns, gave $25,000 to the campaign for "sound money." By the way President Roosevelt fails to take advantage of the golden opportunity to make another record by criticizing the heads of the several insurance companies who in making political contributions virtually stole the money belonging to the policy holders. President Roosevelt was one of the principal beneficiaries of the theft, which may account for his graveyard silence in the premises.

H. H. Rogers, millionaire president of Standard Oil, is a pretty good liar himself, and it was neatly proved on him yesterday. He had been asking for a private hearing on account of alleged nervousness, and to test him some shrewd head on the government side had a flashlight come without warning. Nearly every one else was startled, but he sat still and smiled.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN CARPET STRETCHER AND STRETCH YOUR OWN CARPETS WITH EASE—Every housewife will be glad of this simple, effective and costless device, by which her carpets can be put down and stretched more easily and with less hardships and back-breaking than she ever experienced in stretching carpets before. It costs practically nothing, when you learn how to make it. Any man, woman or boy who can handle a saw and hammer can make one in ten minutes as well as anybody. You have the material within easy reach, and it will not cost you in twenty anything at all. You will never use any other device when you know how to make this. Send two dimes or twenty cents in stamps to Rev. E. A. Child, Sodaville, Oregon, for full directions, postpaid. Liberal terms to agents.
