His Wife's Money

The Atchison Globe's funny man has this about the oft-repeated story of the "wife's money":

"Once upon a time a man married a woman who had inherited $500 from a grandfather. This was all she ever received, but the man never got credit for his efforts the rest of his life. He built a new store. 'Did it with his wife's money,' the neighbors said. The home was made over and enlarged. 'His wife's money did it,' was the only comment. The little measly $500 she inherited was given the credit for everything he did during life and when he died his widow put up a monument with his life insurance. 'Her money paid for it' was said again. But this is what her money really went for: During her engagement she bought herself a $350 piano and a $150 diamond ring, and in a few weeks lost the ring and there was always some regret that she didn't lose the piano too."

Rich relatives in Germany remember George Cramer, a Butler county, Iowa, man, in an odd sort of way. On the news of the advent of each baby in his home reaching the old folks they mail him a thousand dollar check. Finding the business so profitable he has devoted more than the ordinary attention to it, with the result that he has got twelve checks, $12,000.

The Japanese are getting into the manufacturing idea, with the result that the rice fields are not cultivated so closely, the yield last year falling off a fourth. That means an increased demand for Pacific coast wheat, their only available supply. They have the money to pay with, too, and that means they will not skip themselves. The taste for wheat flour once met, it likely insures a steady market for a considerable portion of our surplus.

Furious Fighting

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman, of Harper Wash. "I had a bitter battle with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won and cured my disease by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold under guarantee to do the same for you by W. L. DeLano, druggist, at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

See our five Standard Paragon sewing machines at only $10.50 and $11.50, fully warranted in all respects. You can try them before you buy them, and I think you will agree with me that they are wonderfully good machines. 33 East Ninth street.
