AN INDEPENDENT PAPER.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13

A Mr. Anderson, on the Portland circuit court panel, while being examined as to his qualifications to serve as a juror in an assault and battery case, astonished the court by admitting that he was the defendant in the case.

A most unnatural crime that at Detroit, Michigan, the other day, when a man killed his five-year-old child, at the same time shooting his father-in-law and mother-in-law. His wife saved herself by being away from home. The old story—domestic troubles.

Occasionally physical conditions save a man from a heinous charge. John Koempel, of North Yakima, accused by his sister-in-law of assault, has been discharged on evidence of physicians that a physical examination showed that the woman swore falsely.

A prominent Mormon is quoted as saying that a recent church manifesto "enables the church to exclude men who ought not to have more than one wife and gives to worthy men an opportunity to take plural wives." Very good, especially for those in position to compel recognition as "worthy men." It is singular, apart from the law, that intelligent communities will permit the abomination.

The attention of those people who think Mohammedanism represents about all the religious fanaticism and cruelty is called to the news from the Caucasus that the Christian Armenians had burned 27 Mussulman villages and massacred the inhabitants. Religion of any kind is just about as good as the people who profess it.

"An American mother of two boys" writing to the Portland Journal asks why "should she bring children into this world to send them out to compete with our people of wealth on one hand and a lot of Chinamen, Japs and anarchists on the other." She don't have to, still there are people so old-fashioned as to believe that she should not murder her unborn, at the price, too, in many instances, of her own health and happiness.
